SCORED ONE ON THE MAJOR

Case of the "Soft" Answer That Was Hardly Likely to Turn Away Wrath.

The old major of cavalry was the owner of a pair of bow legs and a hot temper. He was, moreover, an enthusiastic golfer.

But he was still only 50 yards from his first tee with his fifth stroke. The new member had been waiting to play, and at last his patience gave out.

"Fore!" he cried, and drove off. He had done better to have waited a little longer.

His ball scudded along the turf and rolled between the major's legs. "Here, you, sir, confound you," exclaimed the latter, hotly, "that is not golf, sir!"

"No, perhaps not," replied the new member, slowly and thoughtfully, "but it is rattling good croquet."

AFTER-DINNER ORATORY.

Good after-dinner speaking has become a lost art and poor after-dinner speaking a public nuisance. Perhaps its successor will be paid vaudeville; perhaps a new race of orators will grow up. Meanwhile, let the orator who survives remember that when a man has enjoyed a good repast, while he has no objection to being instructed and improved, he wants primarily to be amused, and even that very briefly. Perhaps he should wish to hear an essay or ancient anecdotes, but he doesn't, and he who has naught but these to offer had better during the coming season decline invitations to speak on such occasions, in the interest of suffering humanity.—Minneapolis Public Ledger.

ANOTHER ADVERTISING SCHEME.

The moon shone brightly on the old mill.

"Ah!" breathed the brave hero as he crossed the canvas bridge, "the lovely maiden sees me not. Her eyes are glued in another direction."

"Yes," spoke the dark villain, as he arose from behind the imitation rocks, "her eyes are glued with Stickem's celebrated horse glue. Free samples may be had in the lobby. Don't fail to ask for them when you pass out."

And lighting a fresh cigarette, the dark villain strode off to draw his commission from the glue company, his white teeth shining like piano keys as he strode.

SEA HARVEST RICH.

This year's large catch of all kinds of fish, both on the Grand banks and along the Nova Scotia coast, has tended to make the price of all fish products much lower than in former years, according to a report made by Consul General David F. Wilbur of Halifax. On account of the difficulty in getting men the number of vessels sailing from ports along the south shore of Nova Scotia has decreased in the last few years.

HAD A KICK COMING.

Dutchman—I vll haf dis defelon daken oud right away quick; it can't understand a word of Cherman.

A REMARKABLE VOICE.

"And what," asked her father, "do you think of my daughter's voice?"

"It is most remarkable," answered the professor.

"Ah, I am gratified to hear you say so."

"She is the only girl I ever knew who could screech in high C and squawk in B flat at the same time."

AN OAR-ACULAR LOVE.

"He proposed to his sweetheart in a boat."

"I see; a case of regular row-mance."

THE REAL BOSS.

A three-year-old boy theoretically rules China, and three-year-old boys actually rule many households in America.

HIS ONLY CONSIDERATION.

Friend—Go easy or you'll have a smash-up first thing you know.

Motorist—Don't get rattled, old chap. The firm that sold me this machine guaranteed to keep it in repair for a year.

A CRITIC.

She—Don't you think she takes great pains with her singing?

He—"Gives," I think would be more appropriate than "takes."—Pick Me Up.

Which do you think won?

Not long ago two men, athletes, went into a contest to see which could stand erect and hold his arms stretched out full length at either side of his body for the longer time. One man had fed on steaks and chops, sausage, ham, roast beef, etc.; the other ate heartily, but confined himself to such foods as Quaker Oats, rice, macaroni, etc. Which do you think held out longer?

The first man lasted twenty-two minutes. The Quaker Oats-macaroni-rice chap concluded to stop after he had been at it more than three hours.

There's more strength and economy in eating lots of Quaker Oats than most people imagine.

Every family should eat plentifully of Quaker Oats at least once every day; breakfast is the best time. It strengthens you for the day.

Regular size packages for city trade, large size family packages for those who are not convenient to the stores. Grocers sell both of these.

The Irish Orator

GABRIEL R. McGUIRE

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 25

Dr. Maguire's claims to distinction are legitimate. He is a man of talent, education and achievement. A dreamer who has made his own dreams come true. It was Stanley's "Darkest Africa" that inspired him to be the first man to go up the Congo after Stanley came down. He is a physical giant, a warm-blooded and enthusiastic Irishman, spontaneous in humor, fearless in speech and full of hope and love. You should not fail to hear his lecture: "With an Irishman Through the Jungles of Africa."
