Eighteen-stall round-house sounds fine, does it not?

Nearly all railroads lead to Seattle these days. Those that don't, at least lead westward.

With the arrival of the bathing and boating season comes also the tragic chronicle of disasters in the water.

Don't be a knocker—pull with the crowd. Don't argue—this is no time for argument. This is a time for doing things for the upbuilding of Falls City.

With the Nemaha straightened out, with the completion of the big ditch, and with all the good things that the Missouri Pacific promises to bring to our city, the outlook for Falls City is bright, indeed.

It is not all sunshine for the farmer these days. There are dark and lowering clouds and much rain-fall, and there is still much grain to be cared for. But it is the way of Nature, to smile at times and then to frown.

Each summer the people of Falls City are becoming more adapted in the art of getting entertainment and comfort at home, rather than seeking discomfort and ennui elsewhere. It is good for Falls City socially and financially.

Recently a bank in Texas was reported as having been robbed of $8,000 in broadlight by a masked robber. Upon investigation it turns out that the robber wore no mask and was unarmed—it was the cashier. Same old story.

In the matter of treating with the Missouri Pacific railway company regarding terminal improvements to be made here, there is scarcely a dissenting voice among our people. This is as it should be. Harmony is very essential in the upbuilding of a city. When all of a town's citizens think alike and pull together, things usually happen that result in a benefit to all concerned.

SIDEWALK PHILOSOPHY.

It matters not if the best civil engineers and experts of the country pronounce the Nemaha ditch a feasible plan, the sidewalk philosopher pronounces it a useless expenditure of money and puts in his full time trying to prove his point, evidently forgetting that ditches and drains and canals are of ancient origin. These sidewalk philosophers do little harm after all; big projects are carried forward in spite of them—the world grows better in spite of them. They do not help build up, but their puny efforts count for little in tearing down. The sidewalk philosopher is simply a pest, the same as the bed bug and the flea.

TRIBUTE TO BURKETT.

Senator Cummins of Iowa paid a nice tribute to the work of Senator Burkett the other day on the floor of the senate, when he referred to Burkett's amendment to reduce the tariff on barb wire. He said:

"I know the senator from Nebraska (Mr. Burkett) has rendered to the farmers of this country a conspicuous service, and one which will be appreciated by them, in already securing the reduction from about $50 a ton to $15 a ton.

CONVENTION TIME COMING

The time for holding conventions is not far away. If the new law is to be obeyed the state conventions must be held on the last Tuesday in July, to formulate state platforms. County conventions may be held at any time before that date, and the time is short for a call.

The new law, which is printed in these columns, does not say how the delegates to the county conventions are to be selected this year. Probably they are to be selected by the familiar machine method, by committeemen who were selected last year by candidates. In this case they will be pretty far removed from the people. They may, however, have the political good sense to listen to the voice of the public as now being freely expressed, and put into the platforms definite declarations on the tariff and on temperance.

It is not too early for an immediate call by the county chairman. Delegates should be sent to the state convention pledged to do something. So far as the republicans are concerned, the folly of a machine convention like that of last year should be apparent without discussion.

The men who formulated the new state law showed that happy disregard for grammar and construction that has characterized every fusion legislature. It provides that "the various political parties shall hold a state convention," and goes on to the end as if it were to be a joint convention, and does not suggest what would happen if one or more of the parties should forget to join in—Nebraska State Capital.

Albert D. Sargent.

Ravages of Drug Habit Proved to President—Havoc Among Negroes

New York, July 10—That President Taft has gone carefully into the evidence of the pressing need for a tariff check on foreign cocaine, which is secretly supplied to victims of the deadly habit throughout this country, was announced in this city today. On this humanitarian phase of the tariff question the president has already urged the leaders in congress to consider the recommendation of the American Health League for a prohibition duty and internal revenue restrictions, it is declared by leaders in the cocaine crusade in which this organization is active.

Through this marked interest in the problems of the south and the welfare of the negro race, it is reported that President Taft was first interested in the cause of curbing the cocaine evil. The inroads which this drug habit has made into the centers of negro population, where the results of its sale for illicit use have proved as disastrous as those of alcohol, have been called to the attention of the chief executive of the nation. The sad havoc that the secret circulation of cocaine has wrought and merciful uses of the surgeon, the country has also been laid before the president.

In the White House as well as before members of congress the facts of the rapid spread of the illicit use of cocaine have been fully presented by representatives of this movement in which the American Health League is interested. While state laws act to confine the domestic product of the drug largely to the legitimate and merciful uses of the surgeon, doctor and dentist, it is shown, some dealers who pander to the cravings of the drug fiends are easily able to maintain secret source of supply by importation from abroad. Though cocaine enough to conduct a whole operation costs less than a cent, hundreds of dollars worth of the drug are known to be sold each year by many of its illicit purveyors.

W. A. "BILLY" SUNDAY

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 27

W. A. SUNDAY
EVANGELIST

There is no greater Chautauqua attraction in America today than "Billy" Sunday. Since the death of Sam Jones no evangelist in the country has been so able to appeal to popular fancy and to get such marvelous results. Sunday has been termed a dynamo of nervous energy; a trip-hammer of power; a consummate actor; an impassioned orator, with intellectual machinery set to a hair-trigger touch.

He is a man's man—athletic, tense,—the swiftest base-runner the National League ever knew. He is expected to attract the largest crowd of the Chautauqua.
