There never was a better time to cut weeds than now; right now.

One weather prophet predicts frost in six weeks. Here's hoping he is a liar.

The Tribune will keep "open house" through chautauqua week. A welcome awaits pa, ma, and the kids.

According to the Railroad Magazine, there are over a million railroad men in the United States who are total abstainers.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the call for a republican county convention to meet in this city July 24th, at the court house.

And now that wonderful country, Alaska, comes to the front with a supply of coal that knocks the theory of a future coal famine into smithereens. Alaska was not a bad investment, after all, though at the time the purchase was made, by some, it was considered a huge joke.

Falls City welcomes the visitors to the annual chautauqua. No pains or expense has been spared to secure attractions of world-wide reputation, and those who come from a distance, and those who tarry with us through the whole week of entertainment will be amply repaid for their efforts.

G. S. Christy, of Nemaha county, an authority upon fruit crop condition estimates the peach yield of this section of the state, at about one-tenth of a normal crop. Go slow with those peach preserves made from last year's peaches—open only when the presiding elder is with you, or the bishop; or upon the occasion of a mother-in-law's first visit.

Of course the high waters did some damage in Richardson county, but not one of the losers have time to grieve over it. Where it is possible the overflowed lands will yet be made to yield, and the final harvest will see a plenteous acreage and a satisfied farmer. It takes more than the turbulent Nebraska to affect that grand average that Richardson county is famous for.

Falls City has been chosen as a terminal point by the Missouri Pacific railway company, which fact seems to disturb some of the adjacent villages that from time to time have "had hopes," and the spirit of "sour grapes" shine forth from the columns of various disgruntled local journals. It must be understood that the M. P. is to build and 18-stall round house in Falls City—a brick affair, if you please—one that will bear no resemblance to the make-shifts that have answered temporary in other towns. The M. P., is coming to Falls City to stay, and are building for the future as well as the present. After all it was amere matter of location—Falls City is inn thhe right spot. The Tribune extends sympathy to the bereaved.

The Falls City merchants realizes the benefits that ocure from a generous use of printers' ink, and in one way or another is communicating with the heads of families all over Richardson county this week, and even holding out rare inducements to the heads of families of adjacent counties. For the bargain hunter these are indeed joyous days. And it is necessary to add that the merchant depends largely upon the columns of the Tribune to disseminate the glad tidings.

The senate has passed the tariff bill and the measure now goes to conference where the difference between the House bill and the Senate bill will be adjusted. Ten republican senators voted as they talked and thus maintained their reputation for consistency. These were Beveridge of Indiana, Bristow of Kansas, Burkett and Brown of Nebraska, Clapp and Nelson of Minnesota, Crawford of South Dakota, Cummins and Dooliver of Iowa, and LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The auto owners of Falls City have organized themselves into an association. This is a good move; one that will be of benefit to the public as well as to the owners of machines, as there are many points to be considered and adjusted hta will prove of benefit to all.

Don't confound the Falls City chautauqua with small gatherings that listen to college glee clubs and "silver cornet" bands, that are tolerated under the name of "chautauqua." Ours is a real chautauqua. Twenty different attractions. Count 'em.

THE THAW WOMAN.

A fool story was printed in a New York papers that Mrs. Evelyn Thaw lately appeared at the Waldorf-Astoria and that while sitting in the lobby, her pet snake escaped, causing a commotion. The story was telegraphed all over the country. If we were the editor of a big paper and a New York correspondent should telegraph such a story as that, we would discharge him. And how the papers do love to advertise the Waldorf-Astoria, as though all the jays are dying to stop there, and see the noted guests, and fee the noted waiters. So far as we are concerned, we'd rather eat a meal at home than at the Waldorf-Astoria. We country people do not think half as much of New York as New York people think we do. Out in the country, we are much more prosperous, sane and content than New York people think we are. Why should Evelyn Thaw be kept in the lime light? She was never prominent except as the mistress of tough men. She was on the stage, but not because of talent; she had nothing to recommend her except a pretty face and shapely legs. She was the cause of a brutal murder. Why should such a woman be exploited in the papers? Why not drop this Thaw woman, and exploit worthy girls?—E. W. Howe.
