

MARKET LETTER.

Letter From our Regular Correspondent at Kansas City.

Kansas City, March 15, 1910—Cattle prices moved up 10 to 20 cts last week, a steady gain from day to day, except on Tuesday, when the buyers had their only advantage of the week. Moderate receipts everywhere, and prospects of continued light runs, together with a good outlook for the beef, are the leading features of a situation that looks encouraging for sellers. Hogs and sheep have reached a price that causes consumers to take more kindly to beef. The supply today here is 10,000 cattle, and the market is strong to 10 higher. Strictly prime cattle are not included in the offerings today, else the top would be at $8.00 or better in the native division. Some quarantine yearlings, weighing 100 pounds, sold here today at $7.75, a new high record for cattle from below the quarantine line. Other shipments from the restricted territory in Oklahoma sold at $7.50 and $7.60, with quite a string at $6.25 to $7.00, and quarantine bulls at $5.55. The best natives here brought $7.70, bulk of steers $6.50 to $7.60, and very few steers under $6.25.

The big advance of 55 cents per cwt. on hogs last week failed to swell the supply, and it is conceded now that a price of twelve cents per pound could not do any more in that direction than is being done at this time. Run is 7,000 here today, market about steady, hogs weighing over 220 pounds at $10.35 to $10.60, weights under 200 pounds at $10.00 to $10.45, pigs $8.50 to $9.25. Prices will likely advance as long as the consumer keeps on paying the price asked of him. Record prices being paid for hogs have not contracted consumptive channels perceptibly so far. Country shippers are being advised to not overload cars for fear of hot spell of weather while enroute to market, and consequently heavy loss on dead hogs. At present prices one or two dead hogs in a load cuts quite a figure.

Live Stock Correspondent.

RAISED RATES HIT FARMER.

They Will Mean Money Loss to Him on Live Stock Shipments.

Heavy shippers of Omaha are determined to resist the attempt of the railroads to raise the rates on commodities between Omaha and Chicago. They do not propose to stand for an increase at this time without a fight.

The live stock rates have been adjusted so that Omaha has the same rate to the east as all other Missouri river cities, but this will not relieve the situation if the railroads persist in their efforts to increase the dressed meat rates. The claim is made the Missouri river markets will be destroyed if the increase is put into effect as announced by the railroads. It will force the western farmer to send their stock to eastern buyers, where they will be compelled to accept what the eastern buyers offer. With the rate on dressed meats raised, this market is still discriminated against, for the farmers will be compelled to ship on east. This forces them to accept a shrinkage which taps their pocket books. If the animals are shipped to Omaha, Kansas City or Sioux City, they are delivered in better condition than is possible after the additional 500-mile haul to Chicago.

When a shipment is made to Chicago the Nebraska farmer is forced to take these losses:

From $15 to $25 in extra freight charges to eastern markets on each car of live stock.

From $5 to $25 per car because of shrinkage and sometimes more because of the loss of live animals.

About $5 to $6 extra for feed.

Three days' time accompanying shipment to eastern markets.

Decrease in price sure to follow the destruction of competition of such a market as is afforded by Omaha.

Nebraska has been working for over twenty-five years to create a "near" market at South Omaha for the Nebraska live stock. No one will deny this market has been a great boon to the state. This is shown in the statement that 5,458-125 head of live stock were sold at South Omaha last year. Not a car of this would have been sold in So. Omaha if the farmer and stock grower could have received more for his live stock elsewhere.—Omaha Bee.

The Richardson County Sunday School association will hold its regular spring convention March 19 to 21 in Falls City, Neb. Two state workers and a number of other prominent Sunday school workers of Nebraska will be present. Each school is invited to send a delegation. Entertainment will be provided for all who will notify the secretary of their intention to come, in advance.

W. H. WYLER, Secretary.
