MARKET LETTER.

Letter From our Regular Correspondent at Kansas City.

Kansas City, July 18, 1910. Forty three thousand cattle arrived here last week, including six thousand calves, and while this run was nearly twice as large as the supply of the previous week, everything sold more easily, and at some slight advance over the prices of the week before. The buoyant agent was the fact that buyers had large orders to fill, the slim buying of the previous week having allowed fresh meat channels to run dry to a certain extent. The crest of the supply from the quarantine country has been passed, as one third of the total cattle last week came from below the line, whereas, a few weeks ago, half the receipts were coming from quarantine territory. Kansas pastures are contributing more freely, and will likely furnish a larger share each week for a time. Advices from Colorado state that cattle are three weeks or a month ahead of their usual condition at this time, and that run from there will start in August in good shape. Drought cattle from the northwest have been running to Omaha and Chicago for some weeks, and one big outfit is getting ready to ship several thousand steers from Wyoming to Kansas pastures this week if the dry weather continues. The run here today is 12,000 cattle, not including 2000 calves, market steady. Chicago run is 2,000 today market lower, and buyers hung back here trying to get cattle cheaper, but eventually had to come through with steady prices, top $8.00, heavy Kansas grass steers $6.25 to $7.25, lighter steers $5.00 to $6.00, grass cows around $4.00, bulls $3.25 to $4.75, top veals $8.50, stockers $3.25 to $5.00, a few fleshy feeders up to $6.50.

Hog values declined 42 cents last week, and the feature of the week, outside of the big slump, was that light hogs got the biggest end of the decline, especially after the middle of the week. The run was 52,000 head, as compared with 24,000 same week last year, but that light run was on account of washouts on railroads all over Kansas. Run today is 6,000 head, market opened weak, but shippers were active and the close was 5 to 10 higher, heavies again coming in for their full share. The rally today is regarded as only temporary, as the destination of the market is to a lower level before the end of the month. European countries are said to be curtailing consumption of lard to an extent not realized by the trade, due to high prices, but more to the use of vegetable oils and other substitutes.

Democratic Convention.

The democrats today are holding their convention. At the time of going to press nothing has been done. Hitchcock of the World-Herald is telling the convention why we should not have county option. His reasons are not worthy of a man who holds the position in state politics as is held by the editor of the World-Herald.

It is too early to predict what will be done in the convention, but it is evident that the Richardson county democrats feel that only heroic measures will stop the movement which has been started by their "peerless leader."

Some two years ago the writer had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Bryan throwing boquet at each other, in a mutual admiration society meeting in Omaha. They, at that time talked loud and long about the reforms for which they stood, for the Jeffersonian idea, for civic righteousness, moral decency, etc. It was a regular love feast, and was enjoyed as such. But, oh, today, what a difference. Bryan, we believe, stands today for a movement which will benefit humanity and Mr. Hitchcock fears it will be so unpopular that the democrats will be defeated in the election this fall. He seems to think that all the democrats and the wet republicans will vote his way.

The boasted Jeffersonian idea was, we believe, high in its ideals, as yet we haven't heard of a case where a drunken man made an ideal husband and father.

A Bad Check.

A young man from the country went into the Self store yesterday afternoon and purchased a pair of shoes for $4.00 and gave a check on the First National bank for ten dollars signing the name of Henry J. Fritz.

Sam Barant, the clerk, cashed the check and gave the fellow $6.00 and the pair of shoes. Later on he discovered that the fellow was not Henry J. Fritz, but had been working in the Fritz neighborhood. Sam then got busy to find the man. He was found in the bus on his way to the depot and was taken in charge by Sam Marts, the chief of police. He had spent part of the money in the saloon for whiskey and cigars, but had enough left to take him out of the country. He was stretched out on the seat of the bus so the storekeeper would not see him as he passed the store, but the shoe box was in sight on the driver's seat and he was easily discovered. He will remain with Sheriff Fenton the remainder of the summer.—Journal.

The evening address "A glimpse into the ages" will be the first of a series of nightly lectures on the historical epochs. Those who heard Rev. Williams' Bible lectures some weeks ago will be glad of the opportunity to hear him again through the coming week.

ROASTS THE DEMOCRATS.

Fallstead Scores the Democrats For The Cold Reception Given Bryan.

The following is taken from the Falls City Journal, and was written by G. H. Fallstead of this city:

"Mr. Bryan came to speak to us last Monday evening. Two years ago when Mr. Bryan was a candidate for the presidency and many thought he had a chance for election, and as a consequence the distribution of some pie, these gentlemen, many of whom at that time were holding office, some of whom had previously held office, and some of whom are still holding office, flocked around Mr. Bryan like flies around a molasses barrel when he came to our town, until the old democrats who had fought the party's battle for a life time, could hardly get in hand shaking distance of him.

"But, Presto, Change! Bryan came here again, not as a prospective distributor of pie, but to discuss from a democratic view point, a simple little question, that he thinks ought to enter the democratic platform, and these same gentlemen, who have grown fat and frisky, in lucrative offices filched from the republicans, more by and through Bryan's influence than anything else, were conspicuous by their absence, for the county was considered morally republican by a small majority, and the state so by 30,000 or more, until Bryan came into our politics. Now those patriotic, hand-shaking, pie-bites are found where? Up in front? Not by any means, but were sneaking around the outskirts of the audience, just enough to get Communication.

Verdon, Neb., July 18, 1910.—Editor Falls City Tribune—Will you kindly permit me space to say a few words to my many democratic friends on the question which is now agitating all classes in this state, viz, "County Option." Strictly, I am not a democrat. For the first time in thirty-four years I wish I was, that I might be in position to help uphold this movement. In writing this I wish to say before I was eighteen years old I overheard a man say of me, "Ask him; he will tell you, he always has a reason."

I will say for myself if the other fellow has a better one I give up, and always try to judge by results. The fact is that it makes no difference to the distillery and brewery interests what politics a candidate may have, but only, which candidate they can make the best bargain, has forced me to take my present position, and the fact that I state is proven by the World-Herald statement, "That for the democrats to adopt county option would defeat the party." If the democrats adopt a better policy than their opponents surely they do not want to fool unwilling brewers and distillers into voting it, if they don't want to.

Regarding this sumptuary legislation of which we hear so much, what does the Herald and Falls City News mean by it? The suit now pending before the Supreme court, on appeal from the United States district court by the millers, regarding bleached flour, restricts our rights to use bleached flour and the law forbidding the butchers using formaldehyde to prevent the detecting of taint in meat, prevents the placing of that on the market, again, interfering with somebody's right to eat or drink what they please. In fact all the pure food legislation we have does this. Read between the lines, "Mr. Democrat, do you propose, if given, the opportunity to repeal them? Again, you say "the democratic party has always been in favor of granting to everybody the utmost freedom." So do I. Here we are on common ground. The republican party has always been in party of high tariff. Taft, Aldrich, and Cannon, want to read all republicans out of the party who do not agree with this, and I think they will succeed. Hitchcock, Dahlgren, and Reed would read all democrats out of the party who do not agree with them and I think they will succeed too. By all means stand pat. Satan always does.

The World-Herald says, "The democrats all agree on the initiative and referendum." Bah! There is no time like this time. The democrats had plenty of votes in the last legislature with what help the republicans would give to have carried it. Why didn't you pass it, if you were so much in favor of it. The World-Herald again says, "Eighty per cent of the democrats are opposed to county option." And right here permit me to say the twenty per cent are democrats, like myself who voted for you because you advocated advanced politics and if you are going back to the old exploded cry of sumptuary legislation and personal liberty we will try and find some one who is not going back—maybe C. O. Wheaton. Again the World-Herald says, "To not put for or against county option in their platform does not show cowardice." One much more capable than Hitchcock said 1900 years ago, "He that is not for me is against me."

Closing permit me to thank J. O. Shroyer of Humboldt for the article in the Lincoln News of July 12th on "The Home Village Problem."

Married in the Woods.

While camping near "Culp's" lake, Rev. Day had the novel experience of performing a marriage ceremony while in camp. The contracting parties were Charles E. Carver and Hamlin and Miss Phillips of Reserve. Unable to find Rev. Day in the city, they chased him down in the camp over in the Nemaha bottom, where without regard to the dictates of decorum, the young people were united in marriage, and made happy.

From The Court House.

Thos. Maxwell, a farmer living near Humboldt, must have a little sporting blood in his makeup as he has brought suit in the district court against Frank R. Butterfield and Fred Butterfield of Humboldt for $5,650, which he claims they are owing him as the result of buying and selling options on the board of trade at Kansas City, Mo. He believes that they made large profits for him which they refuse to account for. He is certain that he had an option on 15,000 bushels of corn, bought at 49c, and sold out at 64c, making $2,250. They have taken his money, and now he is asking a jury to get it back. Judge S. P. Davidson and Roscoe Anderson are his attorneys. Journal.

Not Going to Farm.

Dr. Greene wishes it to be generally understood that he did not purchase land in Dakota with the intention of turning farmer, but that he intends to continue in Falls City where he is at the service of his old patrons and such new ones as feel inclined to call upon him for his services.

Falls City Chautauqua, Aug. 6 to 14!

They were looking over the location of the new department will be in the camp over in the Nemaha bottom, where without regard to the dictates of decorum, the young people were united in marriage, and made happy.

Base Ball News.

At this part of the base ball season when the teams are lined up and the fans are on their feet with enthusiasm, when the winning or losing of a game changes the standing of the team, the rowdy element, sometimes seems to think that to be insulting is the thing. That is not true. We had some complaint made about the language used by some of our players early in the season, and are glad to say that no mention has been made of the matter since. Nothing is more disgusting to fans than to be forced to listen to such things as seem to have happened at Maryville, Mo., during the last series between that team and Nebraska City. They had forty-three paid admissions, all of them not being women. It is reported that Umpire Sage was not pleased with his treatment here and has shaken the dust not Falls City off his feet.

Our team is out of second place. We have strengthened our pitching staff, and will soon soon be back in our old position. We have had the reputation of being the most loyal town in the league in point of attendance, let's boost hard, and in every possible way encourage our boys to play ball every minute in the game.
