THE SALOON OR THE BOYS AND GIRLS WHICH?

There is wrapped up in our young people all the possibilities of the future. The achievements of the next generation lie latent within them. It is our privilege to make them what they will be, and in so doing to determine the course of history far beyond our own time.

TO FRIENDS OF OUR CAUSE.

The Tribune is the champion of the rights and the interests of the common people. The people need the Tribune that they may be intelligently informed concerning the great issues that are now before the public for solution. On the other hand, the Tribune needs the help and support of the people. We are engaged in a common warfare against a common foe. Our interests are mutual. There is no reason why we should not pull together for the largest and best things. In the fight that is now being waged we can not safely advance far ahead of our supporting columns. We are ambitious to make the Tribune the power for everything that is right and good in southeastern Nebraska. As our subscription list increases and the number of our advertising patrons we are enabled to add to and improve the Tribune, but not any faster without jeopardizing the stability of the paper. We want 1000 new subscribers by January 1st. We are going after them with the expectation of getting them. Quality comes high. We need money to run a high class paper. On the other hand, it matters little how excellent a paper may be, if it is not read it can accomplish very little.

We believe that we are right. For the right a man can afford to fight and suffer and even die. Every paper that goes into a new home is a messenger witnessing to the work we are trying to do. No person interested in the uplift and advancement of the race need be ashamed to have a part in this grand work. We appeal to all right minded men to give us their good will, and such a measure of support as the may feel justified in giving. The least that you can do is to pay up. Don't ask us to fight your battles and at the same time make our own ammunition. It is too risky. When possible do us the kindness to pay ahead. It is a trivial matter for you but makes all the difference in the world to us, since it provides the working capital. Then, there is the matter of speaking a good word for the cause to the other fellow, and winning his support. It is a little thing but when well done is sure to be effective.

The great reforms of History never were accomplished through good intentions, alone. The challenge is to men to do something. The enemy is alert and aggressive. Unless we front him effectively, we will have nothing but defeat for our pains. The future of the greater Nebraska is in the balance. The peace and happiness of our homes are at stake. It is not for us as men to sit supinely while the spoilers waste our land. You can at the least hold the ropes while some of us go down to the battle.

CENTRALIZATION OF COUNTRY SCHOOLS.

The public schools of Fairview, Kansas and outlying districts are planning to consolidate and have a centrally located and graded school of sufficient capacity to accommodate the children from all the districts that become parties to the consolidation. The children that are too far away to be able to walk to the central school conveniently, will be transported to and from school free of charge.

This plan has been in successful operation in the East for a number of years, and it offers the only tangible solution of the country school problem in many places. With the improvement of the public roads it will become entirely practicable in most communities. The greatest drawback to the plan now, is the condition of many of the public roads, which makes the item of transporting the children to and from school, too expensive to be practicable.

With the consolidation of a number of schools into one central school, it will be possible to have all the advantages of the city school system, with its graded courses and high school. It is found that the saving in teaching force and the saving in keeping up and caring for a number of separate buildings will compensate for the extra expense of more efficient teachers and for transporting the scholars.

Fairview has taken an advanced step in the matter of providing better educational facilities for their country boys and girls. The results of their experiment will be watched with interest. If it proves practicable and successful in Fairview, other places will not be slow in taking advantage of the plan. However, the success of the central school idea, is largely contingent upon better roads. With better roads it is sure to follow. Let us have the proper roads by all means.

FOR OR AGAINST.

It seems to me it is about time for the 20,000,000 professors of religion in America to take sides. It is going to be an out and out battle with drunkenness and sobriety, between heaven and hell, between God and the devil. Take sides before your sons are sacrificed and the new homes of your daughters goes down under the alcoholism of an imbruted husband.

Take sides while your voice, your pen, your prayer, your vote may have an influence in arresting the despoilation of this nation. If the millions of professed christians in this country would take sides now, it would not be long until the destiny of this nation would be decided in the right direction. On the question before the American people today, there is no neutral ground. You are either for or against all that is for the betterment of the race and nation.

THE ELIMINATION OF THE TIEHEN HILL.

The petition signed by a large number of farmers living south of Salem requesting that the board of commissioners change the road where it now runs directly over the steep hill near the Tiehen home so as to pass around the hill, has been allowed. The road at this particular place can, without difficulty, be greatly improved. If properly engineered, the grade can be almost entirely eliminated without increasing the extent of the road. A casual glance at the situation causes one to wonder what ever possessed the original surveyors to run the road over the hill when they might as easily have avoided the hill entirely.

The only person inconvenienced by the change will be Mr. Tiehen. But he will no doubt be willing to make a comparatively small sacrifice in the interests of the community at large.

PROF. J. L. GILLAN.

The closing number at our Chautauqua on Sunday night, was a very practical address for all classes, by Prof. Gillan, on "The Man Who Can."

He demonstrated that the person who can and does things worth while, must be well born, have pluck, knowledge and faith. The youth especially received great encouragement to place their aims above the trivial. The Chautauqua this year gave us many excellent things, and Mr. Gillan's effort easily ranks among the best.

Prof. Gillan is president of Ashland, Ohio College, and for several years has occupied a chair as one of the instructors at the Iowa State University.

WINTER PAVING.

Hiawatha, after more or less elaborate testing of different paving brick, has let the contract for their street paving to a Fort Scott firm. The contract calls for approximately 28,000 square yards of paving. There will be 7,000 yards of excavating to do. It will require 110 carloads of rock, 60 carloads of sand, 157 carloads of brick, 3,500 barrels of cement and 120 tons of pitch.

Evidently from the scope of the contract let, Hiawatha does not intend to play at the game of street paving, but has taken the matter up for good and earnest. When the present plans are fully completed our sister town across the line will have something to be proud of.

CLINTON N. HOWARD.

Reformers and progressive people generally, have been looking forward anxiously to the coming of their famous leader from Rochester, New York. Dr. Howard's address at the chautauqua last Thursday on "The Greatest Event in The Word," more than satisfied all their great anticipations. They had heard how many great and ever increasing audiences Mr. Howard had addressed in his home city, and were thus in a state of mind to make the best of a great lecture. Every thought presented was timely, and given in a manner to leave an inspiration with the audience that will last a life time.

THIS WILL HOLD 'EM.

Not long ago one of the magazines printed an article in which an argument was made in favor of alcohol as a beverage.

Now, as ever, it is the drinking people that lead the progress of humanity. The Jews drank and gave us monotheism. The Greeks drank and gave us art and literature. The Romans drank and gave us law. The Teutons drank and gave us liberty. Britain established commerce. What have the teetotal races done for the betterment of the world?

The New Voice analyzed the above paragraph and did it in the following simple manner: The Jews drank of course, but where are the Jews now? They are scattered over the earth with out any national home. Total abstinence are now taking up subscriptions everywhere to provide a place for the Jew where he won't be killed.

The Greeks drank, of course, but where are the Greeks now? The Greek civilization is a matter of history, and their descendants are now peddling peanuts to abstinents on the street corners of American cities.

The Romans drank, of course but where is the Roman empire today? It is a matter of ancient history, and the descendants of these drinking Romans are now brawling around American cities with monkey and hand organs living off pennies tossed to them by abstaining Americans.

The Teutons drank, of course, but what "liberty" did we get from the Teutons? The Teutons for years have been running away from the tyranny and oppression of the Teutonic government to find liberty under the Prohibition laws of America.

The Britons drank, of course. But it required 300,000 of these drinking British trained troops to subdue 25,000 abstaining Dutch farmers.

Greece and Rome both died drunk.

Wise men are writing articles on the decay of France, another drinking nation.

Russia has the delirium tremens and will die or reform, Japan, a temperance nation, with the oldest dynasty on earth, chased the vodka-soaked Russians all over Eastern Asia.

IN NEBRASKA.

Insurgency and the liquor question were so involved in the primaries in Nebraska that the relations of the returns to the national issue are less clearly defined than have been the results in some other states. But the nominations, so far as they have been authoritatively reported, show decided gains for the insurgents.

The progressive candidate for governor was nominated over the stand-pat aspirant. Two, and possibly three, additional insurgent congressmen have been named, and Norris, the only aggressive insurgent congressman in the House now, has been renominated without opposition.

The renomination of Senator Burkett, while not desirable, is less undesirable than if he had been a more steadfast regular. Burkett acquired the designation of "near insurgent" in Washington. He voted with the progressives sometimes, but against them at other times. He seemed to have no positive convictions. If his opponent had been a stronger man the result might have been different.

All in all, Nebraska records itself insuring along with every other western state that has thus far held its primaries.—Kansas City Star, Thursday.

We Wonder Why.

We often wonder why it is so many young men can be seen loafing upon our streets until a late hour of night. Many of them are from the best homes. The fathers of these young men, many of them at least, are numbered among our best citizens. If their cow or their horse, or their favorite dog was away from home after dark they would be out on a search, but their own children can roam the town all night with apparently no effort being made to find them. The boy seems to be turned loose at a tender age to wander at will into the paths of sin and vice and then we wonder where all our tramps and worthless specimens of humanity come from. It is a regrettable fact that too many of them come from seed germinated in good homes and then sown in a careless manner upon our streets and back alleys. Reader, is your boy wasting his time upon our streets? If so had you better not, at least, look after him as carefully at nightfall as you would your cow and horse. We did not intimate that this evil exists to a greater extent in this community than in our sister towns, but the evil seems universal and increases in magnitude as the years roll by.

Lack Development.

The world is full of half-developed lives; men and women who are competent in spots, as strong in some things as they are weak in others, brilliant as some of their ways and walking in darkness as to others; the man of affairs loses vision, the philosopher loses practical sense, the scientist becomes an animated, soulless scalpel, and all for the want of an aim that would preserve balance and harmony in the life.

MARKET LETTER.

Letter From our Regular Correspondent at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Aug. 15, 1910.—Moderate cattle receipts arrived last week, and there was not much change in the market. The feeders sold higher the first days of the week, account of the many buyers here, but demand fell off after Tuesday, and the advance was lost. Killing cattle held fully steady during the week, medium and light cattle showing some slight gains, and calves advanced 25 cents during the week. Dry weather cattle are running freely to Chicago, 15,000 rangers there last week, about twice the normal supply for this early in the season. Rains have stopped the movement from most sections except the northwest, owners holding back because of plenty of good feed, and running water in streams dry a short time ago, and it looks like Kansas City would have rather light supplies of cattle another week or two. Run today is 18,000 head including 2,000 calves, and the market averages steady. Beef steers are a shade lower in some cases, but cows and stockers and feeders and calves are stronger today. Light runs should strengthen the market, but there are two bear features present this week, namely, the extra heavy marketing of rangers at Chicago, and the absence of demand for kosher meat in the East, due to a series of Jewish holidays, extending over nine days, commencing next Saturday. Best heavy Kansas wintered natives and westerns $6.25 to $7.15 and straight grass steers $4.50 to $5.75, grass cows around $3.75 veals $6.00 to $7.50. Some of the Baer beef steers from Colorado will be here tomorrow.

The surprise in the hog market last week was a sudden jumping into favor of heavy hogs, which class advanced 30 to 40 cents last week. Medium and light weights also made gains, but not so much and the week closed with only a moderate spread in prices between the various grades. Total receipts at all the markets decreasing last week, and traders look for light runs for awhile. Heavy hogs worth $8.15 to $8.45, medium weights up to $8.70, top lights $8.75. The weakness today is not taken as indicating lower prices this week, but on the contrary strength is expected, as lard and heavy meats are considered good property by packers. The corn prospect and the hog market will be closely associated for some time ahead.

Food Values in Vegetables.

The maligned onion belongs to the lily family and contains priceless elements of health and nourishment, especially to nerves and blood. The turnip, also, has medicinal and food value, though it is not so nourishing, containing, like cabbage, over 90 per cent. of water. The yellow turnip is considered a mild nerve. The unpopular carrot is almost miraculous as a blood purifier, and French women consider it as important as any cosmetic. It has, also, undreamed of possibilities of preparation. Calling things by other names sometimes helps matters, or making fashionable by favor of the famous. In Ceylon they term okra "ladies' fingers;" the vegetable marrow of Europe is virtually the same as our summer squash, but is used in, to us, unheard of ways. Luther Burbank has improved the "pie plant," and his new crimson winter rhubarb is a wonderful thing. But in the ordinary type of these stalks there are riches of oxalic and malic acids, the value of which the physicians of the world have always recognized.—The Delineator.

Bathroom Hints.

A can of borax should be in every bathroom and the pipes should have a daily flushing with hot water in which borax has been dissolved. Do not use sand soap for cleaning a porcelain tub or washstand. It will mar the surface and make it look like ground glass. Then if the porcelain becomes stained you cannot make it white again. Use ammonia in the water, but if dirt or grease requires an extra cleanser dampen the scrub cloth with kerosene and later wash the tub with warm water. If the tub is enameled scour with a cloth made of a salt bag which has been thoroughly moistened with turpentine and polish with a clean cloth. For this purpose save bags in which the kitchen salt comes.

Rice Omelet.

Add to one cup of cold boiled rice four teaspoonfuls of milk, two eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, and a half saltspoonful of salt. Heat a tablespoonful of butter very hot in a frying pan, then pour in the mixture, cover and bake about ten minutes in a moderate oven until stiff. Double and turn out carefully on a hot platter.

LIGHTS ON THE SUEZ CANAL

Every Vessel Passing Through the Big Ditch Must Carry a Number of the Search Variety.

Every war vessel carries from one to twenty searchlights, and every vessel of any description whatever passing through the Suez canal has to carry one of special pattern. A searchlight consists essentially of an arc lamp of special form, a parabolic mirror and a base to hold the lot, the case being mounted so as to be capable of movement in two directions, viz., vertically and horizontally. The hood, as this case is called, is made of sheet steel about 3/32 inch thick. The turntable trunnions, etc., are cast in gunmetal, the arms which support the hood are of cast steel. The lamp box is formed as part of the hood. The mirror is carried on springs in the back cover, and at the front of the hood is a "front glass" mounted in a gunmetal ring, and the dispersion lens, when carried, is hinged on in front of this. Training is carried out by means of a worm and worm-wheel, or by a rack and pinion. Slewing is effected by means of a pinion which gears into a crown wheel on the underside of the turntable, or else it is done directly by hand. The Suez canal regulations require that the projector shall be capable of giving the light required under two different conditions—in the first case a broad, flat beam of light illuminating both banks and the canal uninterruptedly, this being used when no other ship is approaching; in the other case they require a beam having the same angle of divergence and consequently the same width as the first, but divided into two portions, with a dark interval between, thus giving light at both sides but not directly in front and so not interfering with navigation of the approaching vessel.

AN EDUCATED COOK NEEDED

Kitchen Experiments Are Often at the Expense of the Physical Well-Being of the Household.

Social standing depends partly upon the nature of the individual's calling with regard to the preparation necessary to the exercise of his function. The civil engineer is presumed to be a more agreeable companion for cultured persons than the stable boy, because of his education. The lawyer is required to know more than the scavenger. The surgeon is likely to be more widely read than the pugilist. The diplomat is, presumably, better informed than the chimney sweep. The cook, as at present constituted, belongs at the bottom rung of the social ladder, because her calling has no educational requirements. The individual may read Browning, Hogarth, Schopenhauer and Shakespeare, or interpret Wagner and Strauss. But the class is not required to know the difference between the meanings of "physiology" and "phlebotomy." The cook is not expected to know anything more about the ingredients that should enter into the composition of a corn dodger than she can learn in the course of often-repeated experiments and at the expense of the physical well being of the household. She neither knows nor cares what the effect of certain foods may be, and the employer shares her ignorance. It is said to be a fact that more persons die before their time from the results of eating than from drinking.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Nice Distinction.

He was hurrying for the train, somewhat impeded by a clumsy crate containing a large, live turkey. As he approached the gate the guard stopped him with a gesture. "You can't take that through here," he said. "That'll have to be checked or go by express." "But I can't stop," declared the passenger. "I've got to get this train." And he tried to push through again. The guard held him back. "That is baggage," he said, firmly, "and it must go in the baggage car." "Oh, no," replied the other, with a charming and confident smile, "it's luggage. Don't you see I'm lugging it?" and he had slipped by before the astonished guard had caught his breath.—Youth's Companion.

Millionths of a Second.

In experiments with high-power explosives used in guns, British scientists have employed chronoscopes which registered the velocity of the projectile at ten successive points before it left the bore.

It is possible with this apparatus to register time to the millionth of a second.

In the older experiments, where the velocity did not exceed 1,500 or 1,600 feet a second, the projectile recorded its time by knocking down a series of steel triggers projecting into the bore, but with velocities of 2,500 feet and more a second the trigger, instead of dropping frequently plowed a groove in the projectile and another device was necessary.

Dreadful.

An old Scotch peasant woman had learned that her minister had just been made a doctor of divinity, and so she went to him and asked him to cure her of rheumatism. "I'm not that kind of a doctor, Nanny," said he, and gave her a shilling. Further down the street the old woman was heard to complain that "it's an awfu' thing this makin' doctors o' bodies that ken nething at a' about bottuls or blisters, pooders or pells."
