THE WEEK'S SOCIAL EVENTS

AS 'T WAS TOLD TO OUR SOCIETY EDITOR

Various Kinds of Entertainment by Individuals, Lodges, Clubs, Churches, Etc.

Mrs. P. H. Heacock is entertaining the Thursday Bridge Club this afternoon.

Mrs. Will Schmelzel entertained the Kaffee Klatch on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance of the club members and all passed the time agreeably. Needlework occupied their time and music by several of the guests added to the pleasure of all. Refreshments were served at five o'clock.

Miss Mildred Bowers entertained the Five W's on Tuesday evening of this week. After passing considerable time at the Bowers home where playing games were enjoyed the young ladies were taken to the Candy Kitchen where refreshments were served. Later they were entertained at the Electric which completed the pleasures of a very happy evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Zubrick entertained a few friends at a Watchnight last Saturday night. Various games were provided for amusement. All formality was absent and the evening hours passed with a free sociability which made the occasion a very pleasant one. A splendid supper was served at 12 o'clock. The guests remained until the year was well ad homes. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Parish of Salem were present.

Misses Helen and Constance Lyford entertained a number of young lady friends last Thursday evening at a dinner complementary to their guests Misses Janet Barnes and Janet Mackie of Tecumseh. Covers were placed for fourteen. The table decorations were in the Christmas colors red and green, carnations, holly and smilax being used in profusion. An excellent dinner of five courses was served. The evening was passed with music and games and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The Misses Leyda entertained about thirty five friends last Friday evening. Som'er set was the entertainment provided for the evening and was enjoyed until about eleven o'clock when splendid refreshments were served. There was plenty of music by a number of the guests which added to the evening's pleasures. The young people lingered until a late hour, fully enjoying the pleasures provided for them. Misses Janet Barnes and Janet Mackie of Tecumseh were among the guests.

The Shakespear Club gave their annual New Year's dinner at the National last Monday evening.

The private parlors where the guests assembled were tastefully decorated in the club color violet.

The evening was passed in the hotel parlors where there was plenty of cordial good will and sociability to make the evening and its pleasures a memorable one for all present. This is considered one of the most successful of the clubs entertainments.

In the dining room the color scheme was very beautiful. Violets and ferns were used in profusion. Large bowls adorned the long table where covers for twenty-eight guests were placed and the dainty maiden-hair fern and smilax added to the effect. The place cards were done in violets. The faultless dinner was served in six courses and many toasts were offered between the courses. There was a continual flow of pleasant conversation where wit and repartee abounded.

Miss Ramona Wilcox entertained the Five W's last Thursday afternoon. There was an unusually large attendance, among them some of the original charter members who are at home on holiday visits. It was a very jolly party indeed and the afternoon was a most delightful one. Excellent refreshments were served in two courses. Among the visitors from out of town were, Mrs. Peckenpaugh, Ottawa, Kas., Mrs. J. V. Hill, Sioux City Ia., Mrs. Caruthers, Syracuse, Mrs. Max Werner, Nebraska City, and Miss Inez Wachtel.

Miss Mildred Holland gave a very delightful bridge party last Saturday afternoon complimentary to her sister Mrs. Harry D. Putnam of Lincoln. Guests for seven tables assembled and passed a most enjoyable afternoon. The rooms on the first floor were very attractive with their decorations of cut flowers and potted plants. The score cards were done in water color and were beautiful. At six o'clock an excellent dinner was served at the small tables. Miss Holland entertained her guests delightfully and the hour was late before they departed for their homes. Mrs. Hanson of Omaha was present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Greenwald gave a dinner to a number of ladies and gentlemen Wednesday evening complimentary to their house guest Miss Bridges of Sterling. At half after six dinner was announced and the guests, twelve in number, were seated at a beautifully appointed table which held a beautiful floral centerpiece and was resplendent with silver cut glass and dainty china. The dinner of five courses was faultless.

During the evening music was contributed by Mrs. Tom Davis and Miss Graham. Considerable time was passed playing Som'er set, the contests being very spirited. The occasion was a very pleasant one, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwald showing themselves royal entertainers.

One of the most novel parties of the week was the New Year's Eve progressive party given by the B. G. Club for about twenty of their friends. At eight o'clock the young ladies and their invited guests assembled at the Dittmar home where they entertained by Miss Celia Dittmar and Miss Maud Davis. Here the first course of the progressive dinner was served and consisted of soup and pineapple sherbet. After some little time had passed pleasantly here the entire party went to the home of Miss Louise Ruhl. She was assisted in entertaining by Miss Helen Kanaly. The second and very elaborate course of the dinner was served here, the young ladies having the assistance of Mrs. Rule and Miss Nellie. The hour passed merrily and a jollier crowd would have been hard to find. Miss Rill Houston assisted Misses Edna De Wald and Lela Powell served the salad course with black coffee at the Houston residence and during their stay the young people were delighted. Mrs. Neitzel and Miss Florence assisted by Miss Maybelle Poteet served cake and coco. It was nearing the close of the old year and the party proceeded to dance the Old year out and the New year in. The entire evening was a decidedly pleasant one, at each home the young people were given a royal welcome. They prolonged their stay at the National home until the wee small hours of the night warned them that 1911 was growing rapidly. Then goodnights and greetings for the New year were exchanged and they took leave of each other conscious of having closed one very happy year and opened another under very pleasant conditions.

MRS. ANDERSON MILLER, DEAD.

Another old settler answers the final call.

The many friends of Mrs. Anderson Miller, were surprised and grieved Tuesday to hear of her death which occurred quite suddenly at her home, about 4 o'clock that morning as the result of heart trouble.

Mrs. Miller has been a sufferer from rheumatism for years and necessarily has lived quietly for the past two years. In all the years of her residence in this city she has taken an active part in the life of the town. She was one of our most public spirited women and was always interested in what seemed the best for the community in which she lived. She was always a believer in Woman's Suffrage tho' not a suffragette as they are accepted today. As long as her health permitted she was a sincere and active worker in the W. C. T. U. and in any movement that tended to further prohibition.

She took great pleasure in church work and in the social life of the town, and her home was the scene of many pleasures that will remain as bright spots in the memory of her friends. She was friendly and companionable to old and young and both were royally entertained at the Miller home Wednesday at 2 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Neide of St. Thomas Episcopal Church and Rev. F. Cooper Bailey of the First Presbyterian Church.

Many friends were present to pay their final tribute of love and respect to this estimable lady.

We are joined by the entire community in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Among those who came from out of town to attend the funeral were, Rev. Thomas Miller of Omaha, brother of Mr. Miller, Robert Gantt, Omaha, Mrs. Frank Norris, Wymore, Mrs. Dr. Thomas Verdon and Mrs. Smallwood, Savannah, Mo.

Buckley

The funeral of Hu Buckley was held from the home, Thursday morning and was conducted by Rev. Day. The interment was made in Steele cemetery. To his family is extended sincere sympathy.

MARKET LETTER.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 2, 1911. Cattle supplies last week were less than requirements and the markets took on a good edge, together with an advance of about a quarter all around. There was good action on everything, and the moderate run of 8000 head here today is smaller than home.

Hers has been an active and useful life. She enjoyed travel and when well advanced in years would take long journeys to different parts of the country usually taking with her some one to whom she felt that such a trip would be a benefit and a pleasure.

She will be generally mourned and sadly missed by a host of loyal friends who recognized and loved her for her many splendid qualities.

Lucretia Theodosia Crane was born November 10, 1825 at Aurora, N. Y. of New England parentage, her father Daniel Crane being a New Englander of the old school. In an early day they moved to Indiana where on March 17 1853 she was married to Anderson Miller. The same year they moved to Missouri and in March 1859 they came to what was then the village of Falls City and this has continued to be their home, residing all these years upon the old homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller were the parents of six children, two died in infancy. Charles was drowned in the '70 at the age of 12. Mrs. Emma Gantt died many years ago. Mrs. W. H. Keeling and Miss Fannie Miller remain with the husband and father to mourn the death of a devoted and loving wife and mother.

She was exceptionally near and dear to her grandchildren who will miss her greatly.

The burial services were held at was expected, in view of the encouragement offered last week. Yesterday was stormy all over the west, a condition against heavy loading in the country, and the run today is probably less than it might have been had the weather remained good. All the markets have light runs, and the market here is strong to 15 higher. The cold snap puts ginger into the demand, and unless there is a bigger run later in the week than it looks like today, further gains in price may be recorded. The feeling in the country is better than any time before in the last two months, and it is believed that most of the late gains, and whatever may be made now, will stick for a little while, anyway. Best steers sold at 6.30, but there were several lots at that price, and bulk of the steers sold at 5.60 to 6.25. Prime offerings would go up around 6.50. Cows sell at 3.50 to 5.10 today, best heifers up to 6.00, veals at 6.00 to 8.50, bulls 4.00 to 5.00, stockers 4.20 to 5.40, feeders 4.75 to 5.55.

Hog markets have been running a long pretty even for a week or two, violent changes having disappeared almost entirely lately, and the market is on a more reliable basis. The strength has dominated the situation for a week or more advance last week about 10 cents, and the market is 5 higher today. The late market was the best today, medium weight hogs up to 7.93, heavies up to 7.90, lights 7.85 bulk of sales at 7.80 and upwards.

Fire.

Fire was discovered in the kitchen of Miss Nettie Forney's home Tuesday night and an alarm turned in. It was a long cold run and before the men could get a good water supply the fire had been extinguished by means of buckets. Considerable damage was done to the kitchen but the main portion of the house was exempt. Mrs. Forney who is an invalid received quite a severe shock from which she has not yet fully recovered.

Honor Falls City Gentlemen.

In reorganizing the legislature last Monday both our senator and representative were honored. Hon. Henry Gerdes was chosen temporary Speaker of the House, our senator, J. H. Morehead had the honor of president pro. tem. of the senate conferred upon him. This is the highest office within the gift of the senate and is greatly coveted. It comes next in importance to the Lieutenant governor and in case of death is third in line of succession.
Mr. Morehead is worthy of the honor and confidence bestowed and has our congratulations.

DEDICATION SERVICE

THE NEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH WILL BE DEDICATED, SUNDAY FEBRUARY 5TH 1911.

Gen. Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, Ind., will be the speaker of the day.

The dedication of the new Christian Church will take place on Sunday, February the fifth 1911.

These people are making every effort to make this a great service. Already a large chorus is preparing special music with solos by several. The Male Quartets of Reserve and Auburn will furnish selections and the Humboldt Orchestra will be present and furnish music for the three services during the day. Gen. Z. T. Sweeney of Columbus Ind., will have charge of the Dedicatory Service and will be assisted by leading men of our state.

Following are some of the testimonials of prominent men to the ability of Gen. Sweeney:

Mr. Sweeney captured the audience at the beginning and held it to the end. His sallies of American wit were heartily applauded by his immense audience.—London (England) Commonwealth.

Mr. Sweeney is a remarkable preacher. It is doubtful if the best pulpit orators of the country in any manner stand above him. The people of this city should hear him during his stay here.—Editorial Note in Atlanta Constitution.

A more eloquent, earnest, persuasive, and magnetic pulpit orator it has never been our privilege to hear. Unequaled advantages of association with the literati of the world, his thorough educational advantages and his magic power as an orator make in the evengin Z. T. Sweeney of (Fla.) Citizen.

In the evening Z. T. Sweeney of Columbus, Ind., late United States Consul-General to Turkey, gave a most enjoyable and entertaining lecture on "Going up to Jerusalem." He held his audience for over two hours—and his audience was immense, the large tabernacle being well filled. As a lecturer he is a pronounced success.—Eureka Assembly.

Hon. Z. T. Sweeney is one of the most successful ministers in the Church of the Disciples. For a period of twenty-six years he was pastor of a church at Columbus Ind. At the close of his lecture yesterday, a throng of people crowded about for a handshake and a word of greeting and appreciation.—Chautauqua (N. Y.) Herald.

Mr. Sweeney made his theme, "The Golden Age," a medium for everything that goes to make an entertaining lecture. It was full of wit, sense and eloquence. Ex-Lieutenant-Governor James A. Troutman introduced the speaker.—Topeka Capital.
