GETS BOTH BALLOON RACES

NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL TO KANSAS CITY.

One Will Occur Early in the Summer and the Other in October.

New York, April 5.—Kansas City is to get both balloon races, national and international. National will be qualifying races, deciding what American clubs can qualify to enter international race. Committee unanimous. Great compliment to Kansas City. GEORGE M. MYERS.

Kansas City, April 5.—Kansas City practically had been promised the International Balloon Race for the James Gordon Bennett cup several weeks ago, but the first definite information that both the national and international flights were to start from Kansas City came in the foregoing telegram from George M. Myers. Mr. Myers has been in New York several days attending the meeting of the National Council of Aero Clubs. It was at that meeting that Kansas City was chosen for both aerial events.

The national balloon race will be held some time early in the summer. It is expected that 12 or more American balloons will be entered in the event to determine just what balloonist will bear the American colors in the international race next October. The competition in the national race is left open to any American. The Kansas City Aero Club, which is to be host for both events, intends to enter a balloon. Balloons from St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago, New York and other cities will be entered.

The international race will be larger and, of course, more important. The hopes of six nations will be pinned on mammoth silken bags which will start from here. It is expected that 12, perhaps 15, balloons will take the air in the October contest. The James Gordon Bennett challenge cup has been won by America. An American victory this fall would mean the cup would become the permanent property of the United States. As a result every foreign nation—England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy—which has been represented in past races, will send to Kansas City its premier aeronauts.

PREVENT FUTURE DISASTERS

A Society is Being Organized in New York See That Buildings Are Kept Safe.

New York, April 5.—A committee from a half dozen welfare organizations, with the secretary of the Allied Building Trades to represent union labor, has undertaken the organization here of a permanent society, analogous to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and the Society for the Prevention of Vice, to prevent infraction of the building laws and the repetition of such disasters as the Triangle Waist company fire.

The proposed society, according to a preliminary announcement, will deal with prevention as well as the punishment of breaches of the law. The plan, as thus far developed, is to have a corps of inspectors constantly employed in looking into conditions in existing factories and a law department especially charged with testing the existing laws and if need be, of offering new laws for the purpose of centralizing and fixing the responsibility of public officials. The society is not intended to supplant any existing bureau or official, but to act as a volunteer auxiliary, just as the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, for example, helps the police and is considered a necessary adjunct to the police force in its special field. The law department, if need be, will take criminal action against the public official found neglecting his duty.

MACHINISTS PLAN A STRIKE

The Greatest Contest for an Eight-Hour Day in Years Will Begin May 1.

New York, April 4.—A May Day strike, the greatest fight for the eight-hour day in years, is the plan of the leaders of the union machinists here. The strike is scheduled to take in all union machinists throughout the United States. Notice, however, will be given to employers and if agreements are made before the date set the leaders say the controversy may be averted.

Five thousand New York machinists assembled here and made thorough preliminary arrangements. Assessments were arranged to help finance the strike and committees were appointed.

A general strike of the international association would be felt in every manufacturing section of the country and would involve more than 100,000 men.

Kansas Wheat Gets Wet.

Topeka, April 4.—Opportune rains, ranging from one-half inch to more than an inch, fell in practically all of the western wheat area in the state. Since the big rains of February, which ended a drought of several months' duration, there had been no precipitation of any consequence. In much of Kansas the entire month of March passed without any rain.

Apricots In Bloom

Apricots are out in full bloom in many places. The cold wave was not severe enough to do them any damage. And unless a heavy frost catches them later there will be apricots and to spare.

Peach trees are threatening to blossom in spite of the predictions that they had all been destroyed early in the winter. A peach harvest once again would be very acceptable to all lovers of this fruit.
