

NEW GOVERNMENT IRRIGATED LANDS OPENED IN THE BIG HORN BASIN

THE RALSTON UNIT, and other choice lands, comprising 14,000 acres of government Shoshone Project, within three miles of Powell, Wyoming, will be opened to entry June 23rd, 1911.

Come with me on June 20th, homeseeker's date, and let me help you select a valuable claim. My party will arrive at Powell in time to make your selection before the opening.

This is the land for which so many settlers have been waiting and is a part of the rich valley surrounding Powell and Ralston, where over 400 farmers are already located. You can see the bumper crops now growing on these Government irrigated farms.

YOU HOMESTEAD THE LAND and buy water rights from the Government at actual cost, on a ten payment plan without interest. The Government Shoshone Dam insures permanent and ample water for all time.

New folder just from the press contains a map and plat of these farms and pictures showing crops grown last year, also the dam, storage lake and several farm scenes. Send for it QUICK.

WILL PAY ALL WAR DEBTS

NEW PRESIDENT OF MEXICO
WILL PAY INSURGENT
ARMY SAME AS REGULARS.

Mexico City, May 29—Measures for the ultimate disposition of the insurrecto army and for the payment of the costs of the war were the first matters to which the newly created executive devoted his official attention.

President de la Barra proposes to dissolve at once the revolutionary forces, using a portion of them to augment the ranks of the regulars, organized by General Diaz. The remainder will be given assistance to get employment or to return to their homes, and all will be paid off as though having been mustered out of the regular army. President de la Barra is considering a measure for immediate protection of all claims made and proved against the government. It is proposed that a committee of five be named to pass on all private details as soon as they are presented by those properly qualified. A clause will authorize payment of such claims as are approved.

Diplomats estimate the war cost not less than $20,000,000 gold and that perhaps one-tenth of this is due to damages sustained by foreigners. Half of this amount is said on high authority to be due to losses by Americans.

CONTRASTS THE TWO SECTIONS

SOME WISE WORDS FROM A
WEARY WILLIE

Tells of Arid Country Conditions and Judges Falls City and Environs.

A hobo editor wandered into the Tribune office with a hungry story and the following is what he gave us for the price of a meal:

Montana was for two years the state upon which James J. Hill centered his efforts to bring settlers. The state also appropriated $150,000 to this end, and certain portions of the East were fairly flooded with "boom" literature. And it was literature, alluring in color, enticing in phraseology, convincing. All you had to do was to tickle the soil and raise fifty bushels of wheat to the acre, while an empire of range would fatten cattle fit for top price in a close market. A town site was laid out every five miles along the Great Northern, and settlers came literally by the thousands to get their 320 acres of paradise.

Then came the drought. The stunted prairie grass was as dry and brittle as glass. The inevitable ensued for the forests on the west caught fire and as you know, the mightiest destruction of forests in American history began. That killed the mountain range and made a sight I never wish or expect to see again. The prairies caught fire and burned as black as your hat from Cut Bank to Culbertson—300 miles. We didn't see the sun for six weeks—if I weren't a hobo I'd say that it was like the portrayal in Byron's "Dream" when the earth swung black and void. Something pathetic to see those who had come so hopeful, placed their all and their toil, flocking into the towns, the wife and babies to go back to relatives, the man to stay and try, uselessly, to sell his machinery and the household goods. Perhaps some of the old-timers in Nebraska may recall something similar here in the early days—but not to the Montana degree, for so many were not involved.

It made a few tramps and you of Nebraska take the advice of one of them. Don't go to any arid country without enough money to live at least two years with no income and paying double price for all you buy. Labor is high, food is high, the summer climate ideal, the winters long and severe. What do you want to leave for anyway? The good country is always just ahead, somewhere else. This Falls City has coking good reputations up the line, I heard of it way beyond Omaha and every other town between here and that city envies your reputed prosperity. I've seen more new houses in a two hours walk around than in any town I've been in and I struck a few. Go out into the country and see the fat cattle and well-bred horses knee-deep in bush grass and hear the satisfied grunt of the Nebraska hog, come in again and see how many home folks are going shak-e-y, pat yourself over the paving and improvements and railroad shops and then take down your Longfellow and read that little tramp poem.

Stay at home dear heart and rest. Home keeping hearts are happiest.

For those who wander, they know not where

Are full of sorrow and full of care

To stay at home is best.
