Honestly, Mr. Democrat, don't you think it is about time for a cleaning about the court house?

Judges Letton, Rose and Root are practically certain to receive a second term on the supreme court.

Sheriff Fenton has become a candidate for a fourth term. The court house ring of third, fourth and six termers are certainly exceeding the speed limit.

Judge Gagnon has announced himself as candidate for a sixth term as County Judge and the News tenders him its congratulations. What on, — his nerve?

Judge Hamer of Kearney has announced himself as a republican candidate for supreme Judge. He should be overwhelmingly defeated. He does not possess a single qualification for the office.

Judge John B. Raper will probably have no opposition in this district. This is as it should be. Judge Raper is universally recognized as the best district judge the district has ever had and no chances should be taken on losing him.

V. G. Lyford has announced himself as a candidate for a second term as Regent of the State University. Mr. Lyford has served in this capacity with great honor to himself and this county. His re-nomination and reelection is assured, but his home county should give him its unanimous support.

Next to be an umpire we would hate to be a city official. The personal of our present city administration is the highest in the city's history. The members are giving of their time and talents freely and are earning and receiving the thanks of the community with a few irresponsible and unsequential exceptions.

Our ball team must be maintained. If we were without a ball club it would probably be no great loss, but Falls City cannot afford to start anything and quit. The committee is laboring valiantly to save our city this humiliation and it is your duty to assist. It is of no concern whether you enjoy the game or not if you live here and make your money here you should spend a little of your money here to maintain the reputation of Falls City as the best town on the map.

The court house crowd of third, fourth and sixth termers, indifferent to public sentiment and intolerant of any precedent that would tend to jar them loose from the county's money bags, are again seeking to convince the public that their own party has no one except themselves competent to fill the offices. A rude awakening awaits these gentlemen. The rank and file of the democratic party are opposed to a life tenure in office, and arrogance and selfishness are abhorrent to our entire citizenship.

The Kansas City Paper house has sued the Tribune for a small paper bill and it named Rex Oliver as manager, being unable otherwise to ascertain the real owners of the paper.—Journal.

Yes, hither Journal, we fell into the hands of some sharks who abused our good name. We are not to blame. Not a long time ago our neighbor passed through a very severe trial and it ought not to boast. Pride goeth before a fall. We are striving to gain our good name again, and we think our friends will have some patience with us.

Its about time for republicans to get busy with their nominations. July 15th is the last day. This is the year of promise. Hundreds of conscientious democrats have declared themselves in opposition to the arrogant demands of the court house ring. Either Hogrefe of Stella or Barrett of Falls City can easily be elected treasurer. Leyda and Wiltse can beat Gagnon. Hossack can be elected over Fenton. In fact the party has many men who can be elected this fall and the county organization should see that they file. Wake up, Mr. Howe, and do something.

Louie Grouch, editor of the Journal and Dean of the guild of knockers, says the Tribune is under democratic management. Louie is always funny when serious. Would it be impertinent to inquire what republican ticket he has supported in the past ten years? Does he think he can bury his head in the sand and hide the fact that his paper is owned by the democratic office holders in this county. We say owned not from the fact that they have any particular title to Louie, but that they own his paper by buying and paying for it. Under democratic management, indeed! The funniest man on earth is the unconscious humorist.

FOR SUPREME JUDGE.

The Express, in common with other citizens of Gage county, is pleased to learn that Hon. J. E. Cobbe is a candidate for a position on the supreme bench of our state.

Mr. Cobbe was born in Missouri, where his father was principal of the Clarksville Academy in 1853. At the close of the Civil War, the father found himself with impaired health, from hardships suffered in the union army which made an outdoor life advisable. He settled on a small farm in Benton county, Iowa, twenty-five miles from a railroad. Here the subject of this sketch grew up, attending district school in the winter and working on a farm in the summer. When eighteen years of age he commenced teaching school. By teaching and farm labor he worked his way through college and law college. He is a graduate of the scientific course of the state school of Ames, Iowa, and the Iowa college of law at Des Moines, now a part of Drake university.

In 1877 he settled in Beatrice, and opened a law office. Although active in politics, always taking a deep interest in political matters, he has not been an office seeker.

In 1877 he was appointed U. S. Commissioner by the U. S. circuit judge, which position he still holds, being appointed by both republican and democratic federal judges. At the present time, the position is not lucrative, but it is a convenience to federal officers and others to have a commissioner at this place.

One term as county judge of Gage county (1880-81) one term as city attorney of Beatrice, two terms on the council of the same city and a few minor positions cover his official life.

He has always identified himself with the social life of this city, being a prominent member of the Christian church, different Masonic lodges, also U. C. T. and Beatrice commercial club, Nebraska Historical association etc.

With the growth and developments of the country in the decade from 1880 to 1890 his law practice grew rapidly. During the twenty-five years following 1880 he was connected with much of the important litigation of this vicinity and period. The care and research which he placed upon the legal propositions he urged before the courts soon made him one of the leaders of the bar of Gage county, acknowledged to be one of the ablest in the state, and gave him the confidence of the courts and fair respect of his professional brethren.

He has given much of his time to legal writing, publishing in 1890 the "Law of Replevin", which had been about two years in preparation. This work was well received by the profession and was soon recognized as the leading text book on this difficult subject, which position it still holds. A second edition was published in 1900.

The "Law of Chattel Mortgages" came from the press in 1893. This is comprehensive and the only two volume work ever published on this subject.

In 1891, under legislative authority, he prepared the statutes of the state, and in 1893, a second edition. This work was known as the "Consolidated Statutes". The investigation necessary for preparing it, gave him a vision of a better statute and material, was at once commenced, and for ten years much of his time was given in preparing the material for this new statute which was first published in 1901 as the Annotated Statutes. This work contains all the statutory law of the state scientifically classified and arranged and more than 30,000 notes explaining the text. The publication of the Annotated Statutes is still being continued, a new edition being published after each legislative session.

His statutes have attracted attention outside of the state. The commission in preparing new statutes in Wyoming, Missouri and Oklahoma, followed some of its features. In New Mexico a commission of five appointed to select an expert to prepare a new statute for the prospective state, after a careful examination of the different states, selected the Annotated Statutes of Nebraska as the best model, and employed Judge Cobbe to prepare these statutes, giving him unlimited authority to re-word existing statutes or draft new ones as to him seemed best.

During the year 1908 he was in Santa Fe engaged on this work, which, when completed, was entirely satisfactory. This work involved not only a thorough study of the common law, as classified by Blackstone and the statutes of the several states based thereon, but a study of the civil law as classified by the Code Napoleon and enacted into statutes by the Latin nations. New Mexico up to 1846 received its law from Spain through Old Mexico, and this civil law foundation influences the application and enforcement of subsequent common law enactments. This experience gave Judge Cobbe a broad and comprehensive knowledge of statutory law. He has frequently been a contributor to legal journals and law magazines.

This experience in the different branches of the law, as practitioner, trial judge, text book author, law writer, compiler, annotator and statute draughtsman, give to Judge Cobbe a wide and comprehensive knowledge of legal problems which, with his great capacity for work, his friends think eminently qualify him for a position on the supreme bench.—Daily Express.

A MERE PROPOSITION.

Oh, do not wear
The harem skirt;
I cannot tell
You why sweet Gert,
But do not wear
The harem skirt

You still insist?
Won't be denied?
Insults
I've hurt your pride?
I sure do wish
You would subside.

Ahem! Now please
Give careful heed:
I'll speak and then
Depart with speed.
Suppose—suppose
You were knock-kneed?

A CALL DOWN.

Restaurant Cashier—This dollar does not look very good.
Guest—Well, just bite it, and if it's anything like the dinner I just had, it will taste even worse than it looks.

As Compared.

Behold the hustling blackback.
At work with all his power;
He, like, the busy little bee,
Improves each shining hour.

Evidently an Impostor.

"Did I understand you to say that man was from Kentucky?"
"Yes."
"You must be mistaken. He isn't from Kentucky."

"Yes, I am sure I heard somewhere that he was."
"No, you're wrong. He's been here ten minutes and hasn't boasted about it."

THEN THE FIGHT STARTED.

"What were de'trouble over at de Jones' house last night?"
"Why, Sarah give a watamelon party an' she wanted to save de rhines to preserve, an' dey done eat rhines an' all."

Point in His Favor.

"Tive faults, you bet."
Said William Nodie,
"But never yet
Have tried to yodie."

Caused by Labor Troubles.

"Is it genuine Chippendale?"
"Absolutely, sir—"
"But this looks like a crack right across—"
"Done by Chippendale himself, sir, in a fit of rage when he heard the union had called out the men."—Punch.

Prefit.

"Well, I made $250 today."
"Fine. How did you do it?"
"By declining to buy 1,000 shares of mining stock which a promoter insisted would be advanced from 25 cents to 40 cents a share at ten o'clock next Thursday."

Happy Ending.

Gunner—Yes, Bikins was the shyest bachelor you ever saw. That is why they introduced him to Miss DeFlash. She was sort of a hint to matrimony, you know.
Guyer—And how did it end?
Gunner—Oh, he took the hint.

At the Ball.

"I presume you have some trouble keeping your wife in clothes?"
"Oh, no; none at all. As long as she measures more around the hips than she does about the waist she won't come out of her clothes any farther than she is now."

Little Mixed.
"Captain," exclaimed the young wife on her first tropical voyage, "if my husband comes on deck tell him I am taking a siesta. You know what that means?"
The bluff old captain looked somewhat bewildered, but he bowed courteously and made the promise. Some minutes later the husband came up the companionway.
"Captain," he called, "have you seen anything of my wife?"
"I have, sir," responded the old salt, "an' she told me to tell you that she is taking a sou'wester."

Cruel and Inhuman.
"I hear that Mrs. Cole, the wife of the dentist, is suing him for divorce."
"Yes. Too bad that he treated her that way, wasn't it?"
"What did he do?"
"She had to have a tooth filled one day, and when he got her into the chair and gagged with one of those rubber contrivances, he stood there and talked at her all afternoon, refusing to give her a chance to answer back."

Erroneous Impression.
Seymour—I've just lost $100 through Waters, the bucket shop dealer; I thought you told me the fellow was on the square.
Ashley—He is on the square; he's on the northeast corner of it.

A Bad Faculty.
"I know a man who had rabbit's eyes grafted on him."
"Then I suppose he thought everybody he looked at had cabbage heads."

The Kind.
"What magnificent nerve your chauffeur has!"
"Yes; it's a motor nerve."

Economy
It was at a reception and the lady, who had been reading up on health culture, mistook Lawyer Williams for his brother, the doctor.

"Is it better," she asked confidentially, "to lie on the right side or the left?"
"Madame," replied the lawyer, "if one is on the right side it often isn't necessary to lie at all."—[From Success Magazine.]

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

Always On The Go.
Billy Fenton left last Monday for Lansing, Michigan to bring back Mr. Sherwood, who is wanted here for selling horses and other property which he had no right to dispose of.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.
The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all druggists.

Horse Fell On Him.
While working around the livery barn last Monday, Barton Metz had the misfortune of having a horse fall on him, which fractured his shoulder blade and broke two of his ribs. Mr. Metz is becoming fairly old in years and will probably be laid up for some time.
