WABASH NEWS

Ralph Richards began gathering his corn crop last week and found the yield as good as he had expected.

P. H. Clark has been picking his corn and reports a yield ranging all the way from 15 to 25 bushels to the acre.

Roy Stanley has been building some fences on the farm which he recently purchased from the Obernautle estate. The place is occupied by the W. H. McBride family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gerbeling had as guests last Sunday, Mrs. Ralph Colbert and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCoy of Lincoln. Both ladies are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gerbeling.

Pupils of the Wabash school enjoyed a birthday party at school on Wednesday last week in honor of Miss Lola Dehning, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dehning.

H. P. Dehning of Elmwood was a visitor at the home of his son Harry last Sunday and with the latter and family and Clifford Browne and family went over to Union to purchase some apples.

Emil Bauer of Waverly, who has been a patient at the Veterans hospital near Lincoln, is reported considerably improved. Mr. Bauer is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gerbeling of Wabash.

Ralph Richards has completed the seeding of his allotment of wheat land, amounting to 50 acres, with about 10 for Roy Stanley, some 52 on the farm of Wm. Rueter and a lesser amount allotted to his son Albert. All the seed was safely in the ground before the rain which fell Wednesday evening and should have a good start as a result of the moisture.

Sherman Hardaway, who visited around Bolivar, Missouri, was well acquainted with the sheriff there who was shot last week by a paroled convict, and says he was a very fine law enforcement officer, well liked by all who knew him.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCoy, of Lincoln left last Monday for a vacation trip to Illinois, planning to visit at the home of Mr. McCoy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy, who reside near Peoria. En route home, they will also visit briefly with relatives at St. Louis and Little Rock, Arkansas.

Robert Bardeh, who has been in the west, working in Wyoming and Oregon and seeing the country in Idaho, Utah, Washington, California and the western part of Nebraska, arrived home last week and says employment was scarce out that way. If he is able to find work here, he plans to remain, but if not he will go to Iowa in search of a corn picking job.

Grew Corn without a Horse

Ye old time farmer would gasp at such an announcement as this, yet it is true. Frank Marshall has a farm on which he raised 160 acres of corn this year, with the power all furnished by tractor. This included plowing and discing the ground, planting the seed and cultivating the crop. Although no horse was in the field during the growth and maturity of the crop, now that it has come time to harvest it, the service of old Dobbin has become necessary in carrying on this work. Mr. Marshall says the yield will run from 20 to 25 bushels per acre for the entire field, with some portions making as much as 30 and others going as low as 10.

Creek Nearly Dry

For some time the Weeping Water creek east of Wabash has had no water in it, while west of town there are some patches of water, extending down almost to Wabash. Along the creek, as it passes through the farm of Roy Stanley, there is some water still coming from the springs, but not enough to continue the flow as far as Weeping Water.

The drying up of this stream has worked a distinct hardship on the farmers who have depended on it to supply water for their stock and the increasing scarcity of well water has added further to the difficulty.

Pipe Plays Havoc with PANTS

Road Commissioner Louis Schmidt was decked out in a new pair of overalls one day last week, replacing the pair that became afire from his pipe the day before. As Mr. Schmidt and his assistant, W. E. Murfin, were driving to their work in the country, smoke began pouring from the hip pocket of Mr. Schmidt, who began tearing at his clothing so frantically that Mr. Murfin thought he was turning nudist. With the aid of their jug of drinking water, the fire was extinguished. Just how Mr. Schmidt got home, with no barrel to shield him from the blistering sun or the gaze of the ever curious, we are not advised. The fire was started from the pipe of the general road commissioner.

Platters Win from Sidney by 19 to 0 Score

Locals Show Superior Play Throughout—Many Players See Action After the Game On Ice

From Friday's Daily—

The visiting Sidney, Iowa, football team last evening ran into the well clicking Platter high school team, the result being a 19 to 0 score for the Platters.

The Sidney team kicked off to Plattsmouth and a sustained march down the field started, the Platters retaining the ball as they moved on down in successions of first downs. Steinkamp and Yelick in line plays and White and Noble carried the ball on down the field until within the shadows of the visitors' goal and then Steinkamp plunged through for the first score of the game. The try for point was unsuccessful.

In the second quarter of the game, Whitmore, heavyweight fullback of the visitors showed his kicking prowess in a kick that rolled out at the Plattsmouth third yard strip. With their goal threatened, the Platters kicked out and Gradoville breaking through secured the punt and the threat was over. The second was scoreless, however, as both teams showed a great deal of a kicking offensive in this period.

In the early part of the third frame, the Platters again hit their scoring stride when the first string backfield started a march down the field and with the line doing some excellent defensive work. Steinkamp, from the Platter territory carried the ball to midfield, alternating with Yelick. Noble raced the ball to the Sidney eleven in a fine job around the end that netted him twenty yards. Steinkamp, local captain, then made seven yards. Noble skirted end for the touchdown and Steinkamp made good the extra point. The score stood 13 to 0.

In the closing quarter of the game, the Platters suffered from a series of fumbles that lost them ground, during the opening part of the period. The line plays of Steinkamp were the most successful for the Platters in this frame and up to the closing part of the quarter. The fans had a real thrill in the closing part of the game when Sidney kicked out of the danger zone to the Platters. Allan White garnered the ball and started west for the Sidney goal and with some beautiful blocking by Yelick skirted the sideline and was out in the open, racing seventy yards for the touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good and the score stood 19 to 0.

As the game was a matter of seconds, Whitmore of Sidney threw one of his bullet-like passes down into the deep Platter territory for a possible touchdown, but the gun beat the play to close the game.

Children at the Crossroads

A Changed Viewpoint

Rodney was an extremely high-strung, erratic, and irritable boy in school, the pivot of constant turmoil among the members of his family in the home, and a source of worry to his mother, who was separated from her husband.

Teachers stated that Rodney was a bright boy, capable of doing his work, if and when he would concentrate upon it. The juvenile court referred him to a psychiatrist, who spent an hour a day for eight days studying the boy.

At the conclusion of his examination his diagnosis was that Rodney's sole difficulty was due to permitting himself to become pre-occupied, worrying about the troubles at home and his mother's having to assume the responsibilities which were rightfully those of the father. He recommended that Rodney be removed from his home environment, suggesting that if his worry could thus be relieved he would become a normal boy.

We succeeded in interesting a relative of the family who liked Rodney and knew exactly what his situation was. His mother, too, realizing that the environment was bad, consented to surrendering custody of her son to the relative for one year.

Enrolled in a public school in another city within the county, Rodney occasionally visited his home, and, instead of being troublesome there, he suggested ways by which many of the family difficulties could be eliminated.

At the end of the year at the relative's home, Rodney returned to his own, his nervous tension eased and his attitude changed.

Such excellent results as this can be accomplished when the court has the co-operation of a relative or friend. Had Rodney continued to live unguided in his own home, he would, without doubt, have quit school as quickly as the compulsory education laws would have permitted him to do so. The court's action assures his graduation from high school in the near future.

MANY ATTEND COURSE

At the meeting of those interested in the course, "Improvement of Reading," held today, Mr. Calvin A. Reid stressed the importance of interest as a factor in reading. "Only when children are interested will their reading be meaningful, purposeful and worthwhile. Teachers should use different methods in determining and arousing pupils' interests."

He further stressed the need for parents enrolling their children in the first grade at the age of six instead of five. Too many five year olds are immature, inexperienced and uninterested in reading activities. There is also danger of impairing their vision because the eyes are not normally developed until they are seven to eight years old.

By taking this course, which gives three hours residence credit from the Peru State Teachers college, the teachers will be doing work for an advanced certificate. Those holding the Nebraska third grade elementary school certificate must have 24 semester hours of college credit, including six hours in education before receiving the General Elementary school certificate which is the next one.
