

MANLEY NEWS

Harry Stutt of Avoca was a business visitor in Manley Wednesday. Mrs. Charles Gade and children of Ashland were guests Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fleischman.

Willard Clapp of Elmwood was a business visitor in Manley Tuesday, coming to have some welding done by Anton Auerswald.

Theo. Harms has been having his front porch repaired and put in the best of condition. John Fleischman of Louisville is doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mockenhaupt of near Greenwood visited last Sunday at the home of Peter's father and sister, C. E. Mockenhaupt and daughter, Miss Sue.

Theo. Harms continues to improve following his return from the hospital in Omaha where he recently underwent a major operation. He still has to return to the hospital occasionally so the physicians may check up on his condition.

Charles Gleeson has returned from Kansas City, where he was called to handle some special work, and is back at the Missouri Pacific station, as local agent. Lawrence Nefinger, who was relief agent during his absence, has been given the station at Talmage.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mockenhaupt and children drove to Jackson, Nebraska, for a week end visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Huse. The ladies are sisters. En route home they stopped at Homer for a brief visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tighe.

Clarence Osborn, of Ashland, driver for the Deep Rock Oil station at Ashland, was in Manley Wednesday, delivering gasoline, oil and tractor fuel to the farmers of this vicinity. The company has an ad in the Journal regarding oil for heating plants, which they are selling in this territory.

Harvey Bergman took the family car to Weeping Water one day last week to have the motor gone over and new piston rings installed. As the job required more than a day to complete, Harvey remained over night as a guest at the Weeping Water CCC camp, where he was formerly located, and brought the car home the following day.

Attended Wedding at Rulo
Miss Leona Darvareaux, housekeeper at the parish house of St. Patrick's Catholic church here, was a visitor at her home at Rulo, going to attend the wedding of a cousin who resides there.

Will Pick Corn in Iowa
Will Earhardt, son of Frank Earhardt, hearing of the good corn crop in Iowa, went to Pacific Junction one day last week in search of employment. Among those he contacted was a farmer having 200 acres of corn, and who offered him work provided he could furnish his own team and wagon. So he hastened home and went back with the team and wagon, bent on claiming the six cents per bushel that is being paid huskers who furnish their equipment.

Accidents at School
As the scholars were entering the school room after the noonday intermission, and were crowding and pushing to get through the door, Miss Cecelia Bauer lost her footing and was thrown to the floor, sustaining a fractured arm. The injury was given medical attention and in due course of time the arm will again be as good as new.

Miss Donna Rhoden is another to suffer injuries while at school. She was catching and in some manner her hand was caught by the bat as it was swung at the ball, fracturing the hand. It has been placed in splints, supported by a sling, and she, too, is getting along as well as could be expected.

Elmwood News

Harry Greene and Attorney Guy Clements were called to Omaha on business last Tuesday.

James Taylor arrived home the latter part of last week from a business trip to the west.

H. E. Barber made a trip to Alvo to look after business for the Nebraska Power company by which he is employed.

N. D. Bothwell made a business trip to Omaha Tuesday and brought back a load of groceries to replenish the stock in his store here.

Claude West was in Omaha last Tuesday morning, delivering a truck load of cattle and returning with a load of merchandise for merchants here.

Francis Hibard, of Omaha, an employee of the Nebraska Power company, was a business caller in Elmwood last Tuesday, also visiting at Avoca and Weeping Water while in this territory.

Guy McGill, who was severely injured recently when a mule kicked him in the face, has been showing good improvement and is now able to be about his work, with the cut in his face about healed up.

Thor Boyles has accepted a place working on the farm and picking corn for Walter Bogenreif. While the yield is far from heavy, the field is clean of weeds and grass and very good progress can be made.

Miss Myrtle Caygill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Caygill, who has not been in the best of health, has gone to Los Angeles to spend the winter with her brother, Oliver Caygill. She expects to remain there for the winter and thus avoid the cold weather prevalent in this part of the country, which affects her health.

Many Attend Rummage Sale
The rummage sale, which was sponsored by a number of the ladies of Elmwood for the purpose of creating a fund with which to place a roof on the log house resulted in the raising of approximately $28.00.

Enjoyed Fine Meeting
The ladies of the Christian church met last Tuesday at the church parlors, when a social hour followed the business session. Various matters of interest were discussed and plans made for the winter's work. Refreshments concluded the afternoon session.

Visiting Relatives Here
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Streeter of Hollywood, California, arrived in Elmwood last week and have been visiting the two sisters of Mr. Streeter who reside here. Mrs. Bess Streeter Aldrich and Mrs. J. P. Cobb. They are also enjoying visiting with old friends during their stay here.

Resumes Business Here
Marion McCrorey, who was formerly with the Standard Oil company at its station on lower Main street, but disposed of his lease and moved to Grand Island, where he was located for some time, re-entered the business field here last Monday, when he took charge of the Trunkenholz station, which has been operated by O. D. Quellhorst.

Write from New Location
Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blessing, Sr., who departed recently for McLeod, Montana, where they are to be in charge of a Dude ranch during the winter, have written of their safe arrival and taking over the management of the ranch with its five cows to milk, some thirty head of horses to look after and a drove of forty sheep. They like it fine out there and expect to put in a most pleasant winter far removed from the smell of printer's ink. Mr. Blessing had been able to shoot a wild duck, which they were enjoying the day he wrote.

Enjoyed Meeting in Country
Mrs. W. A. Cook was hostess at her country home last Tuesday afternoon to the members of the Ladies Aid society of the Elmwood Methodist church. She was assisted by Mesdames William Bornemeier, Herman Penterman and Roy Rhoden. The ride to the country proved most zestful and everyone did justice to the delicious luncheon which was served.

At their business session, the ladies considered a schedule of work for the winter months, that will keep them pretty well occupied.

Card Contests Continue
The contest for supremacy in the card playing field, which has waxed warm again this fall, resulted in a considerable change in standings of the contestants during the past week. The lead of some 1,500 points piled up by the M. I. B. C. (More Intelligent Bridge Club) over the W. B. B. P. (Would Be Bridge Players) was cut down until now only about 500 points separate them. Besides the regular club play, there was a four-some between O. D. Clements and Ronald Schlichtemeier on the one side and Guy Clements and Doan Stark on the other. This was won by Clements-Schlichtemeier and added materially in reducing the lead of the M. I. B. C's.

Visited at Coleridge
Charles West, accompanied by his son Kenneth and Everett and Eldro Patton, left here about midnight Saturday night for Coleridge, Neb., where the three younger men hunted pheasants and Mr. West visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Melvin and family. Mr. Melvin is a barber in Coleridge. After a busy day, they started for home Sunday night, arriving here at break of day. Nor were they alone on the road, for hundreds of cars from this part of the state were driven up into that section for the opening of the pheasant and duck hunting season.

Home from Fort Crook
Donald Kelley, who recently enlisted in the United States army and has since been located at Fort Crook, was a visitor at the home of his mother, Thessie Kelley, proprietor of Mom's Pantry, for a day, and returned to his station at Fort Crook the same evening. He has been assigned to a place in the regimental band.

Many Attend State Meeting
A large number of the members of the Elmwood Woman's club were in Lincoln last Tuesday, attending the state convention of Federated Women's clubs. One of the features at the meeting was the appearance of the Cass county Chorus, directed by Mrs. Russell Reeder, of Plattsmouth, a former Elmwood girl.

Among those from here attending the convention were Mesdames Henry Monning, A. P. Att, Emmett Cook, G. R. Evcland, Louis Hollenbeck, Ethel Straile, William Vogt, Howard Capwell and Jean Creamer.

To Handle Ear Corn
The Elmwood mill and elevator, which is operated by O. D. Clements as manager, have been constructing a corn crib for use in storing ear corn. In this manner, they will be able to buy small quantities and store it until sufficient is acquired to warrant shelling and disposing of the same. Wm. Winkler of this vicinity and E. F. Denney of Avoca are building the crib, which they expect to have completed and ready for use in a short time.

May Undergo Operation
Asa Fellows, who has been in poor health for some time, was taken to Lincoln last week, where he entered the Bryan Memorial hospital for a good check-up and probably an operation for relief.

Greenwood

Mrs. Maude Blattler is spending the winter in Kansas.

Mrs. Emmett Landon is much better at this writing.

The cob house at the Julia Bethel home burned Thursday noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rouse were Sunday guests at the J. F. Anderson home.

A good crowd attended the Home Coming at the Christian church last Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. Wallace of Friend spent last Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kyles.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Clymer and Mr. and Mrs. Evan Armstrong were in Lincoln Friday night.

Mrs. Joe Kyles went to Fremont Tuesday, where she attended the State Rebekah Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Kyles of Lincoln visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kyles Saturday.

A pinocle party was given Thursday evening, October 19, at the Legion hall, sponsored by the Catholic ladies.

Miss Margaret Holke of Ceresco spent last Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holke.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kyles, Mrs. Elton Keller and children and Mr. and Mrs. Urban Kyles spent Sunday at Friend, guests at the Dr. Wallace home.

The Greenwood Rebekah lodge enjoyed a social hour after the regular lodge session Thursday evening, honoring Mrs. Ed Brunkow, who was observing her birthday. Pinocle was played and delicious refreshments were served.

Friday afternoon was guest day at the Christian church. Guests included members of the Aid society of the Wann church, members of the M. E. Guild of Greenwood and ladies of the community generally. A pleasant time was reported.

MURDOCK ITEMS

Rev. F. C. Weber was calling on friends in Ashland last Wednesday.

Homer Stoltz, Paul Stock and John Gakemeier drove to Omaha last Monday on a business trip.

Henry Oehlerking was called to Weeping Water on Thursday of last week to look after business matters for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sheehan of near Weeping Water were looking after business matters in Murdock last Wednesday.

Edward Group of near Louisville was in Murdock last Monday, securing a tractor and farming equipment to be used in the carrying on of power farming on his land.

Homer Stoltz and wife of Milford were guests last Wednesday at the home of their son, Homer Stoltz, Jr., and wife, where they enjoyed a fine visit. They also had the pleasure of calling on their old time friend, Louis Neitzel, for some time.

Mrs. R. A. Kuehn, Miss Alice Kuehn and Mrs. Henry A. Tool spent Tuesday in Lincoln attending the state convention of Women's clubs at St. Paul's M. E. church. They joined members of the Cass County Chorus, which had a prominent part on the program in the afternoon.

Rev. F. C. Weber, pastor of the Evangelical church southwest of town, spent a part of the past week at Sutton, where he assisted with a series of revival meetings, working with the local pastor, J. J. Armould. Rev. Armould was formerly located at Elmwood as pastor of the Evangelical church.

Mrs. Henry A. Tool, secretary-treasurer of the Cass County Chapter, American Red Cross, is doing all she can to acquaint the entire county with the growing emergency for relief caused by war-torn Europe. Membership of 1,000 for our county would be a small estimate for our goal—and membership is what it takes to make the Red Cross possible.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zabel were in Lincoln last Wednesday, where they looked after business in connection with the store here and also visited Robert Emmans, father of Mrs. Zabel, who has been in a hospital in Lincoln for observation and treatment. They found him considerably improved from his recent serious condition. During their absence, the store was looked after by Sterling Emmans, brother of Mrs. Zabel.

Home from Visit in West
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oehlerking arrived home last Monday from a visit of four weeks in the west, being well pleased to get back to the old farm again. While they were away, they visited at the home of Charles Marshall at Scottsbluff, going on westward from there to stop at various places of interest, with Mr. Marshall at the driver from there on.

At Canby, Oregon, and Oregon City, they enjoyed a fine visit, being able to see all the Cass county people who reside in that vicinity. Included among those visited were Joe Marshall, son of Mrs. Oehlerking, as well as the Reichart boys and S. P. Leis. Joe Marshall is employed in a shingle mill near Oregon City, and likes his work there very well. The visitors had a very fine trip and were well impressed with the state of Oregon.

Floodlight Poles Blown Down
The recent windstorm that uprooted trees and blew down light buildings, also played havoc with the poles that supported the flood lights at the kittenball field. Some of the poles were broken off and the lights badly damaged. As the lights and reflectors are quite costly, the loss presents a serious problem.

The volunteer firemen, who were directly interested in the matter and have been sponsoring the games, set about to clean up the mess and piled the broken and splintered poles up nicely as well as providing for the other property. As the season is now over, nothing will be done about replacing the equipment until next spring.

Will Sow Wheat
The plot of ground located east of the Rock Island railroad is to be sown to wheat this fall. With the gathering of the corn crop completed, Mr. Miller moved onto the ground last Wednesday with his tractor, for the purpose of plowing the land and getting it ready for the wheat.

Otto Miller Feeling Poorly
Otto Miller was taken with a severe illness last Tuesday evening. He had not been feeling any too well for some time, but was able to be about on Tuesday had worked in the field picking corn. That night his condition became worse and he was unable to get out Wednesday. It is hoped his illness will be of short duration and that he may be able to resume work again in a few days at most.

Making Progress with House
Matthew and Victor Thimgan are busy with the erection of a new house on the farm of Charles Helmers near Wabash, where the old time log cabin that once served as a postoffice and for years as a place of residence, was recently torn down. They are making good progress with the work and during the past week have been plastering. This is to be a five room home with bath, full basement and a modern heating plant—far different in appearance and the conveniences it will afford from the old log cabin that it is replacing. In those days back in the sixties, the McCaig boys made the best possible home they could from cottonwood logs and inadequate tools to work with, hurrying the work to get the premises ready for occupancy before wintry blizzards overtook them, and the product of their handiwork has come down through the years in such well preserved state that it has been possible to re-erect it at Elmwood.

Will Inaugurate Fast Trains
The Rock Island railroad has been unloading and distributing heavy steel rails along their main line in this territory and will have them laid to replace the present lighter ones now in use. When the changes are completed, the road will institute a new fast train service between Denver and Chicago. Having the benefit of a most direct route, with the new equipment it will be possible to provide the keenest sort of competition for business. The new stream line trains should be ready to "take to the rails" early this coming year.

Another Busy Day
L. Neitzel had another busy day last Sunday. Teaching the Bible class in the Callahan church in the morning, he then went to Lincoln for the 2 o'clock Sunday school and service at the Peoples City Mission—where a great rally was held, and in which he had a part. It was a difficult drive through the dust storm, but all ended well.

Club Holds Special Meeting
Mrs. L. W. Race, president of the 4-Square Extension club, called a special meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Tool October 16th. Eleven members were present. Series "E" of the Reading project will be followed at present. Mrs. W. L. Eisele was elected secretary-treasurer to fill vacancy. The dues per members are 25 cents. Only one subject will be taken up on the program at any single meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. McHugh on November 13, at 7:30 p. m.—Mrs. Henry A. Tool, Club Reporter.

South Bend
Jason Straight's, McGregor's and Nunn's are all driving new cars. Mrs. F. J. Knecht attended a Red Cross meeting at Murdock Friday afternoon. Mrs. Louis Roeber spent Wednesday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. B. O. Mooney. Sunday dinner guests at J. L. Carnicle were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Frahm and son. Mrs. Cora Campbell and Russel drove to Plattsmouth Monday, where they visited relatives. Florence Zaar was a week-end visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Zaar. Mrs. B. B. Dill and Jamie and Mrs. Oscar Dill were Sunday evening callers at Mrs. Cora Campbell's. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Campbell called on Mr. and Mrs. Martin Zaar Thursday afternoon. Rev. Bennett's of Ashland were Tuesday callers. Miss Erville Fae Kempton of Randolph, Iowa, left for her home Sunday evening after having spent several days at the F. J. Knecht home. The club ladies are busy working on their quilt at the F. J. Knecht home. It is one of the prettiest ever made by the club and the one who wins it will have something to be proud of. Sunday afternoon callers at Martin Zaar's were Mrs. Josephine Ziegenbein and her mother, Mrs. Tillie, Henry of Ashland and another daughter, Mrs. Iva Shewe and her daughter of Colorado. Friends of Mrs. W. J. O'Brien are pleased to learn that she went thru her first operation Saturday and is feeling as well as could be expected. She will undergo a second operation in two weeks and expects to be home by Thanksgiving. Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Livers were Monday evening callers at the Dallas Livers home in Ashland, while Kenneth attended the high school party, helping initiate the Freshmen. The Freshmen from South Bend who attend Ashland high school this year are Jack and Marjory Fidler, Kenneth Carnicle, Jean Thiessen and Richard Haswell. They all enjoyed the party. Sunday dinner guests at William Blum's were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartman of Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoffman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Christenson and family of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Christenson and Willard of Elmwood, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Ehrenberger and family of Schuyler and Peter Johnson and Norman of Alvo.

AVOCA NEWS
Monte Lumm transacted business and called on friends in Omaha last Monday. Vernon Peck, of near Nehawka, was looking after business matters at the elevator here last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ross, who reside south of Nehawka, were guests last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ruhge. John Ruhge and wife, who reside near Oteo, were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. Ruhge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. F. Ruhge. A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James LaFollette one day last week. Mother and child are reported getting along nicely. C. H. Peck, who has been working at his trade of a carpenter in the vicinity of Laurel, Nebraska, reports there is much building going on up that way this fall as crops are unusually good there this year. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pomroy, who have been here from their home in the western part of the state for a visit with old friends, returned home early last week. While here they were guests at the home of Mrs. Drearey. Mrs. Caroline Marquardt spent a number of days last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ted Hile and family, near Utica. Fred Marquardt and family drove out Sunday for the day and on their return home she accompanied them. Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Thomas and twin daughters, Ailene and Nadine, of Shenandoah, Iowa, spent last Sunday here, guests at the home of Grandfather W. H. Bogaard and his son Claude, who was home from Oteo for the day. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Diller, of Omaha, visited in Avoca last Sunday, being guests at the home of Henry Jorgensen and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Diller are maternal grandparents of the latter. They formerly resided in Avoca and conducted a cafe here. At present they are engaged in operating a rooming and boarding house in Omaha. Dr. J. W. Brendel was a business caller in Omaha one day last week, and on his return stopped at Murray for a brief visit with his sister, Mrs. W. L. Seybolt, whom he found had gone to the southern part of the state for a visit at the home of another brother, T. J. Brendel, who is employed by the state as receiver of customs at the port of entry there. A continual stream of trucks loaded with gasoline is crossing the border with shipments bound for points in Nebraska and even on up into the Dakotas and customs officers work in three shifts looking after handling this large volume of business. Four young men of the community who have birthdays occurring in the early part of October, celebrated the same with a supper party at the home of Fred Marquardt on Thursday, October 12, Columbus day, and birthday of Mr. Marquardt. Others in the group were Carl Tefft, Henry Smith and Elmer Hennings. A very enjoyable time was had.

A Pioneer Resident
Mrs. Eliza Kucharch was born on October 16, 1845 in Germany, and when a young woman came to this country. For a time she resided in Illinois, but for more than 50 years has been a resident of Cass county, living on a farm a few miles northwest of Avoca. Last Monday, which marked the passing of her 94th birthday, an open house celebration was held, and many friends called to extend congratulations and best wishes to this venerable lady, in whose lifetime there has occurred many of the advances of civilization. All hope she may be spared to enjoy further years of life.

Enjoyed Birthdays Together
A birthday dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Pittman last Sunday, honoring the birthdays of Mrs. Catherine Weitzke and her granddaughter, Miss Jean Pittman, who attained the age of twelve. In all of her birthdays she has shared the celebration with her grandmother. Those present included the families of Marion Pittman and William Gollner.

Wabash News

L. R. Stanley drove to Plattsmouth one day last week to look after business matters.

Mrs. H. H. Gerbeling was called to Denver last week on account of the death of Mrs. Ferguson, wife of her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant and the children of near Nehawka were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hardaway.

Paul Murfin, who is attending school in Lincoln, visited over the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Murfin.

Neil Dorr, residing east of town, has been suffering from boils about his wrists, which have prevented him from gathering his corn crop.

Edward Obernault is engaged in husking corn at the farm of Gust Wendt. Although the yield is light, he is able to average a pretty fair amount each day.

Hobe Henson, Jack West and George McKisley have been sawing wood for W. K. Hunt, of Lincoln, who has been chopping for some time and had accumulated a good size pile to be sawed.

Lester Bosworth, one of the oldest inhabitants of Wabash, was an Omaha visitor last Wednesday, accompanying Frank Marshall, the elevator man, who was delivering a truck load of corn to the market there.

Mesdames William Vigt, Hobart Henson and Alice Hanson attended the state convention of Federated Women's clubs, which was held in Lincoln last week. One of the features of the convention was the singing by the Cass County Chorus. This musical group has been heard of numerous occasions and is gaining state-wide fame. Last Tuesday at the home of Fred Towle, there was shelled some 500 bushels of the 1939 corn crop. The grain was as dry as corn that has been stored for a year and went through the sheller in fine shape. It was not shelled for market, but was placed in a bin and will be used for feeding purposes.

Along the railroad tracks in the east part of Wabash, there are being erected a large number of steel grain bins that will be used for the storage of corn and other grain which the government has or may acquire. The bins come knocked down and a force of workmen under direction of Oscar Domingo of near Weeping Water, is busily engaged in setting them up.

Cedar Trees Withstand Drouth
Way back in the eighties, William McCaig, who was engaged in the mercantile business in the then up and coming town of Wabash, set out a row of evergreen trees just across the street from the store and hotel of the present day. He and a companion drove over to the Missouri river below Plattsmouth and dug up the trees, which were then mere bushes. They grew readily in their new location and are still alive and thrifty. About the same time a row of maple trees was set out along the opposite side of the street. They too thrived and grew and provided shade for the hotel for a number of years, but after about 25 years, began dying and soon had to be replaced. These trees also grew until the dry weather of the last few years caused about half of them to die. The cedars are still standing, proving their hardiness.
