Former Plattsmouth Girl and Omaha Young Man Married Thursday Evening by Msgr. Agius

From Friday's Daily—
Last evening at the parish house of St. John's church, there were joined in the bonds of wedlock Miss Ella Mae Ruffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ruffner and George Glup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Glup, of Omaha. The pastor, Monsignor George Agius, read the marriage lines that united these young people.

Attendants at the wedding were Miss Betty Anna Ruffner, sister of the bride, and Edward Lehigh, a brother-in-law of the groom. Relatives of the couple were also present.

Mrs. Glup received her education in the rural school district near her home west of Mynard and the Plattsmouth high school, from which she was graduated with the class of 1937. She was the outstanding American History student in her class and received the D. A. R. award. Since the time of her graduation, she has been employed in Lincoln and Omaha.

The groom received his education in the Omaha public schools.

Following the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Glup motored back to Omaha, where Mr. Glup is employed and where the couple plan to make their home.

INITIATE NEW LOCOMOTIVE

The Missouri Pacific Tuesday placed in service one of the late type diesel locomotives which is used on the fast Kansas City-Omaha trains that operate through this city.

The locomotive is used on "The Marathon" which passed through this city at 8:27 a. m. and attracted a great deal of attention at the station and from the residents in that part of the city. It was formerly on the Kansas City-St. Louis run.

D. S. Sumner, local agent of the company, invites all who wish to come out and see the new streamlined equipment as it rolls through the city on the way to Kansas City.

HOW MUCH

Does It Cost You to Raise 100 lbs. of Pork

Tests have proven it takes 12 bushels of corn alone; 7 1/2 bushels of corn and 35 lbs. of tankage or 5 1/2 bushels of corn and 30 lbs. of Gooch's Best Hog Fattener to produce 100 pounds of pork. Now it doesn't take a very sharp pencil to figure out the saving in cost when you can buy Gooch's Best Fattener here at $3 per Cwt. 30 lbs. costs 90c and saves 6 1/2 bu. corn

Hallowe'en Costume Party

In the Heisel home a group of ladies were very royally entertained at a Hallowe'en costume party, given by Mrs. Margaret McClanahan and her sister, Mrs. Elmer Taylor.

The rooms were very artistically adorned by the hostesses with autumn leaves and the very effective "red bush."

Hallowe'en lanterns and decorations in keeping with the occasion were also used.

The guests were met at the door by Margaret Ann Valley, and ushered into a darkened room, by Miss Margaret Taylor who had charge of the program, to meet the welcoming ghost, and to receive their fortunes from the witch's cauldron, which they read for the amusement of their companions.

All then was required to perform a stunt, after which Mrs. J. C. Petersen and Mrs. Margaret McClanahan each favored the company with very well rendered piano selections followed by a vocal duet, in which Mrs. McClanahan's beautiful alto seemed at its best.

Prizes were awarded to winners in several contests, and after a short period of conversation the "mixed crowd" were ushered to the dining table where places were marked by cunning little animal figures seating Negroes, Indians, movie stars, the gypsy, and even the bum who acted the part so well that for a short time he was looked upon with suspicion as an imposter, but when unmasked proved to be just charming Mrs. C. A. Marshall.

Favors from which each drew a souvenir were opened and each admired the beauty of the table with its centerpiece of bittersweet and candles.

Places were laid for twelve. The luncheon of chicken sandwiches, fruit sandwiches, cup cakes, pickles, coffee and candy was greatly enjoyed.

The very delicious cup cakes were baked and presented by Mrs. Allap McClanahan.

The invited guests were: Mrs. Andrew Kroehler, Mrs. John M. Leyda, Mrs. A. O. Moore, Mrs. J. C. Petersen, Mrs. C. A. Marshall, Mrs. Charles Hula, Mrs. Glen Valley, Mrs. G. G. Griffin, Miss Edna May Warren, Miss Anna Heisel.

RIPPING, BAH JOVFI!!

Gwendolynn Smythe-Smythe

And don't forget the two Ns on the finale of the first name. Here's British beauty that gives the lie to the canard that English women are angular. Miss Smythe-Smythe will obligingly provide visual proof during the engagement of the new Marcus Show at the Paramount in Omaha, beginning Friday, Nov. 10 and running a full week.

PEACOCK DANSEUSE

ELEANOR'S PROTEGEE

Roberta Jonay, whose peacock dance is one of the spectacular interludes of the world-toured Marcus Show, which will appear at the Paramount theatre in Omaha for one week, starting Friday, November 10, has the distinction of being the only American artiste to appear at a common performance in the White House during the current reign.

When a company of dancers had been engaged to entertain a group of foreign envoys in June, 1937, Queen Eleanor saw Roberta dance and was so impressed that she met the young woman after the performance and a dance recital was subsequently arranged at the palace in Washington.

NEBRASKA YOUTH HONORED

That Nebraska needn't worry about the future of its young people is the opinion expressed in a recent survey of merchants as to whether the boy or girl of today has what it takes to make good.

Nebraska young people rate high in any national 4-H entries and in college board exams. They seem to know what they want and possess the ambition to go out after it.

In connection with all this is the excellent showing of our youngsters against the field of 18 boys and girls to be selected from among talented youth all over the country to get a trip to Hollywood. In a nationwide talent search based on a combination of good looks, outstanding personalities and real acting ability, believe it or not—two of these eighteen turned out to be Nebraskans. They are Pamela Cary and Raymond Hofmann, both from Omaha.

The opportunity given these young fellow citizens of ours is made possible by the local merchants, cooperating with a well known national product. The product is Doublemint gum, put out by the Wrigley Co.

If more industries would follow this example of aiding local merchants to give opportunity to youth which broadens their scope of vision, it would be a good thing.

Thinking is the wealth of this nation.

Net content with the royal accolade, Roberta conceived and perfected the exotic divertissement that adorns the big Marcus opus.

For four weeks Miss Jonay lived at the estate of Ernest Stone, near Roxbury, Mass., where the largest flock of pea fowl in America has its habitat. The ambitious dancer spent several hours a day studying the gaudy vestments and hauteur of the male poseurs.

Her ornithological research complete, she perfected an imitation of the vainest of feathered creatures with such fidelity that a stagehand in a theatre where she recently appeared, was so entranced by the photographic similitude that he scattered corn on the stage floor as she made her exit.

bitious young people should be commended. What Doublemint gum merchants have done is certainly a step in the right direction.
