Woman's Club Hears Reports of Convention

Meeting at Home of Mrs. Phillip Hirz Largely Devoted to the Reports of Delegates.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last evening the Plattsmouth Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Phillip Hirz. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Sanford Short, Mrs. A. F. Moore and Mrs. R. C. Shellenbarger.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Frank Mullen. Devotionals were given by Mrs. Samuel G. Schick. This was followed by the salute to the flag.

Mrs. John Bishop, newly appointed captain of the Girl Scouts of Plattsmouth, was a guest of the club and she gave a short talk telling some of the things the Girl Scouts plan to do this year. Mrs. Bishop told the club that the Girl Scouts are to sell Red Cross memberships this year, the campaign to start in the next few days. She stated this lively group of girls are enthusiastic to sell as many memberships as they possibly can.

The program of the evening consisted of reports of the delegates to the state convention which was held at Lincoln on October 17, 18 and 19. Mrs. P. Y. McPetridge and Mrs. R. C. Shellenbarger were delegates from the local club to the state convention. They brought very interesting reports to the local club.

These delegates reported "the federation is a complex organization. It includes 14,200 women in 350 clubs over the state. It has some 20 departments carrying on "projects" in as many fields, ranging from Indian welfare, conservation, international relations to motion pictures and legislation.

Conservation and especially tree planting in Nebraska was the pet project of Mrs. Walter Kiechel of Tecumseh, current president. Mrs. Ross G. Moore of Broken Bow was chairman of the division. Under guidance of Mrs. Kiechel and Mrs. Moore, the federation established a memorial forest at Halsey in which it planted 16,000 trees. It has 1,600 more to plant.

Another major project of the federation is its $19,000 student loan fund, which all but $3,000 of it is loaned out at present. Dr. Carrie Bowman of Broken Bow reports that 51 loans have been made the past three years, and that nearly 130 students have borrowed amounts ranging from $50 to $300. The loans are available only to students nearing completion of their work.

During the convention the ladies enjoyed tea at the governor's mansion, Mrs. Cochran being in the receiving line.

Mrs. Lowell S. Devoe gave a brief report of the pre-convention dinner held Monday evening, October 16.

Mrs. C. R. Caley of Springfield will be president for the next two years of the Nebraska Federation of Women's club. This announcement was made at the state convention.

Miss Buster Clouvet gave a reading "Billy Brad and the Forbidden Fruit."

Other guests of the club were Mrs. George Cassidy and Miss Margaret Sylvester.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

WASPS INTERRUPT SERVICES

Sunday morning during the church services at the St. Luke's Episcopal church a large colony of wasps made an interruption of the service and caused the necessity of closing the service.

The wasps, evidently warned by the heat in the building, came out of a nest that had been concealed in the building and suddenly one of these stung Father Robert Reddenbaugh, of Omaha, who was celebrating the eucharist. The sting was so severe that the priest was compelled to omit the remainder of the morning service.

Prof. Morse is Heard on 'Vocations' at H. S.

Very Interesting Talk and Attended by Students and Parents at High School Auditorium.

From Wednesday's Daily—

In a manner that held the closest attention of his audience, remarks that were self-explanatory, and facts that proved to be food for thought comprised the speech of Professor C. K. Morse, of the University of Nebraska. In a joint parent-student address at the Plattsmouth high school auditorium last evening at 7:45, Professor Morse centered his talk on "Vocations."

"A suitable vocation, one that is on the up-and-up grade, rising rapidly, and one that will serve as a beneficial purpose in years to come, is one that requires considerable thought and hard work before success is achieved. A vocation—how to choose one, how to prepare yourself for one financially and mentally, how to adapt your skills and talents for the best possible means—is something that the young people of today seem to concentrate on the least."

Mr. Morse also discussed the possibilities of the youth and in their desire to enter particular fields of study that they might choose. On a chart prepared by Principal J. R. Reeder, a number of these fields or vocations were listed, some of the senior class members supplying the information. The poll showed that seven young people were interested in stenography, four in nursing, one in cosmology, three in sales work, six desired to enlist in the navy, one in forestry, one in chemistry, one in television, three in engineering, five in teaching, two in civil service, one in telegraphy and one desired to be a Presbyterian missionary. "Telegraphy has been and is continuing to be on the downward grade and if I had a boy that desired that vocation, I would discourage him in selecting such a choice," Mr. Morse said. In his address Mr. Morse cited several true facts that pertained to some of the vocations selected by previous students.

In his talk before some 100 persons Mr. Morse also discussed the university requirements. "When students enter the university they must know how to handle money and budget their time," he said. Before entering any university the student must have adequate financial means with which to carry on his future studies and it is unfair to a child and a waste of money, he said, if the student cannot make expenses for his entire schooling period. He stressed most frequently the thought that when a student enters a college career he is in his adulthood and above all is treated and known as such.

Prof. Morse directed his very forceful efforts at dispelling the clouds of uncertainty and misunderstanding which often attend matriculation into higher institutions of learning and thereby cause resulting failure and disappointment. He brought the problems of seniors concretely to mind by asking each one to consider exactly the work he wanted in life; to consider his financial ability to handle it and his mental ability to master it. Lastly, he was to consider the possible "wearing qualities" of the job itself.

It is of inestimable value to our high school students to be shown the serious, logical approach to preparation for a life work. It must be of inestimable value to our state university to have matriculants thoroughly conversant with its needs and requirements. Such understanding avoids sorrow and embarrassment for the student, and expense and confusion for the university.

Mr. Morse's address was followed by an open forum in which a number of students and parents participated. Superintendent L. S. Devoe introduced the speaker and concluded the evening's speech with the quotation "That even though the quantity is small the quality is superior."

Prof. C. K. Morse has visited here before, and probably more than any other one man has guided many of our best students to study in the state university. His clear and constructive thinking and practical knowledge of students' needs and difficulties help bridge a very definite gap between high school life and university life. His assistance is profoundly appreciated by school patrons who hope the future will bring many more such contacts.

Armistice Night Get-Together for Service Groups

Legion and Auxiliary Members and Families to Spend Enjoyable Evening at Eagles Hall

Farm Program Activities in Cass County

Farm Reporters Busy Checking the Wheat Acreages on Which 1940 Participation Signed.

Farm reporters, most of them community AAA committeemen elected by Cass county producers last month, are now busy checking winter wheat acreages.

This inspection will cover every farm for which a 1940 wheat program participation plan was signed. It will also include wheat fields on farms for which the plan was not signed in the event the owner designated his intentions of participating in the program on other land in which he has an interest, as well as fields for which 1940 crop insurance was purchased.

The wheat check is made to determine eligibility for 1940 parity payments and to determine if wheat acreage on farms covered by crop insurance are the same as listed on insurance applications. It was explained at the County Agricultural Conservation committee office.

In the county office preparation of 1940 listing sheets is in progress. All Cass county farms, their owners and operators, as well as crop acreage and yield information, are shown on these sheets. Using this information, community committeemen will determine individual allotments for farms in their respective precincts. Farm owners and operators will be notified of these allotments in ample time to plan spring planting. It is hoped to have the allotments set up by Christmas.

Terms and conditions under which 1940 parity payments will be made to producers of corn and wheat were announced today by the Cass County Agricultural Conservation committee. Similar in most respects to those in effect for the 1939 parity payments, the provisions have been strengthened by including these additional requirements:

1. The producer must plant within the total of the acreage allotments of corn and wheat established for his farm under the 1940 program.
2. The producer must not offset performance on the farm by overplanting on other farms in which he has an interest.

Parity payment rates will be announced later, after the 1939 season average prices are determined. The rate for any crop cannot exceed the amount by which the 1939 average farm price of the commodity is less than 75 percent of parity. Payments will be made from the $225,000,000 appropriated by congress for this purpose.

County committee members pointed out that the changes are intended to bring about a more effective administration of the program than has been possible under previous regulations. These changes had been formally recommended by farmers of 37 Nebraska counties. Under the 1939 parity program a producer could qualify for a payment by adhering to the allotment for one commodity even though he overplanted the acreage allotment of another commodity on the same farm or overplanted the same crop or other commodities on another farm. The new provisions make it possible for the county or state AAA committeemen to withhold all or part of the payment in such cases under the 1940 program.

Producers of winter wheat may apply for and receive 1940 parity payments before their 1940 performance is checked on corn, upon agreeing to make refunds if subsequent check-ups show that they have overplanted their corn allotments to a point where the total allotment for these special crops is exceeded.

Cass county farmers who cooperated in the 1939 AAA program so far have received $161,651.45 in parity payments.
