Many of our costs of doing business have SKYROCKETED during recent years.

Take TAXES, for example. Our total tax bill in 1929 was $184,137. This included taxes we paid to the cities and counties in which we operate, and to the state and the Federal government. Last year—1938—our total tax bill for direct taxes was $266,537! An increase of $82,400 or approximately 45% in ten years' time—and during most of this period our revenues have suffered drastic reductions because of unfavorable business and crop conditions!

YET TELEPHONE EXCHANGE RATES HAVE NOT BEEN INCREASED GENERALLY AND LONG DISTANCE RATES HAVE GONE DOWN STEADILY!

Farm Bureau Given Decision By Judge Wilson

Long Fought Suit Involving Appropriation for Farm Bureau Decided Wednesday.

In district court Wednesday Judge W. W. Wilson rendered his decision in the case of George S. Ray, taxpayer, against the County of Cass and the Cass County Farm Bureau. The court dismissed the amended petition of the plaintiff in the case.

This action has been pending for several months and involved the matter of the appropriation made by Cass county each year to assist in the maintaining of the Cass County Farm Bureau whose offices have been located at Weeping Water.

The matter has been pending since the summer of 1938 when a petition was filed asking that the matter of the voting of the appropriation be placed on the ballot at the election in November 1938.

The result was that the proposal to take away the appropriation was lost as the vote showed a majority of the votes for keeping the appropriation but lacking what was termed the majority of the total vote altho a majority of the votes cast on the proposition.

It was the contention of the county and the Farm Bureau that the appropriation should be made as the proponents had failed to carry their cause at the election. The fact that the Farm Bureau was in operation and had been so for twenty years was contended as showing that the majority must be against the appropriation to have it removed.

Whether the case will be taken to higher court has not been announced by the attorneys for the plaintiff.

The case was very ably handled by County Attorney Walter H. Smith, who had prepared the opinion on the matter for the board of county commissioners sustaining the appropriation.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. Leonard Born invited the members and families to her home for a Christmas party December 15th. Plans were discussed and committees appointed to look after details of the party.

Mrs. Mayabb gave a review of Bess Streeter Aldrich's book, "A Lantern in Her Hand."

A social hour was spent playing games and Mrs. Earl Becker proved the lucky winner.
