

Junior Class Play Enjoyed by Very Large Audience

"Hold Everything" Given by a Very Capable Cast of the Members of Class.

From Saturday's Daily—
Amidst an audience that packed the Plattsmouth high school auditorium last evening, the junior class presented their play, "Hold Everything," by Austin Goetz. The play, produced by special arrangement with Northwestern Press, Minneapolis, Minn., commenced at 8 o'clock and contained a cast of fourteen students. The action of the play took place in the living room of Caroline Caruthers' tourist home, on Honeymoon Trail, within a period of 24 hours. The setting of the play was in the late fall. Mrs. Caroline Caruthers (Jacqueline Wetenkamp), who was the owner of the tourist home, had in her employ a colored maid, Niobe (Miss Verona Toman). On the verge of financial collapse, Mrs. Caruthers was almost forced to grant the maid a leave of absence because of lack of business, when, through sheer superstition on the maid's part, she returned her and from then on the story kept the spectators in complete suspense.

The play's leading parts were played by Miss Shirley Walling, who was familiarly known in the story as Miss Connie Morgan, daughter of an eastern banker, and Carl Tiekotter, Connie's pet aversion, who served the part of Courtney Barrett. Her well. Miss Morgan, with a companion, Bess Williams (Rosalyne Mark), left their home town because of an unwanted suitor of Miss Morgan's—thus creating the impression that she would break up the couple's romance which her father desired to see. Strange as it may seem, the very individual whom she was attempting to run away from, roomed in the Caruthers' tourist home—only under a disguised name. While there the two became very intimate and their identity to each other remained a secret for some time. Christopher Morgan (Ralph Parkening), an eastern banker, was Connie's father, and he, likewise, spent some time in the Caruthers' home before his daughter knew it. He left his eastern home in attempt to find his daughter and as a result, was given the sad blow that his bank had been robbed of a large sum by two crooks, Steve (Albin Chovanec) and Andy (Edwin Hiber). They also happened to drop in and rent a room, keeping the colored maid in a miserable condition of fright and in their disguise proved themselves to be very alert and skillful.

Mrs. Julia Gibbs, an ambitious mother of three daughters and well versed in her gift of speech, was Miss Bernice Halmes and she was a woman who possessed high ideals and placed considerable confidence and faith in seeing her three daughters, Lottie Gibbs (Bette Read), Wanda Gibbs (Shirley Leonard), and Daisy Gibbs (Renee Brown) become Hollywood's No. 1 movie stars. This part of "Hold Everything" proved to be amusing. En route to Hollywood, the mother and her daughters were innocent victims of trickery when the gangsters led them into trading cars to climax their trip to Hollywood, leading them to believe that they were also going to California. The mother was too heartily willing to accept the offer since the Gibbs' car was only a coupe and the gangsters possessed a two-door Hudson. The Gibbs family, however, left for their destination without ever knowing who the two gentlemen with whom they were working were, and the two bandits were caught and surrendered to police by Tim Macauley (Robert Cook), the cast's star detective.

Marvin Peterett served as the Caruthers' milkman and acted his short part excellently.

Following the capture of the bandits the Morgans and Miss Williams left for their eastern home, they being accompanied by Miss Morgan's fiancée, Mr. Courtney Barrett. The Gibbs family were supposedly in California, the two bandits in jail.

and so Mrs. Caruthers' tourist cabin was ready for more roomers.

Preceding the home-talent play several musical numbers were rendered by the instrumental ensemble under the direction of David Fowler, Jr. Members of this ensemble comprised Dick Livingston, Howard Baker, Robert Cole, Juanita Sigler, Granville Sigler, Donald Steppat, Whipple Leonard, Sanford Short, Raymond Evers, George Jacobs, Allan White, William Hitt, and Eleanor Giles.

Following the second act Edwin Hiber presented Miss Catherine Davis and Lumir Gerner, class sponsors and assistant director and director, respectively, with two lovely gifts as tokens of the Junior class' appreciation for their work and effort in aiding them to make the event a success.

Misses Frances Solomon and Emma Reine Topfiff served as the student directors. The stage managers comprised Clayton Sack, chairman; Pauline Wilson, Dorothy Ulrich, Alice Rea, and Charles Kozak.

The Junior class officers comprise Betty Jo Libershal, president; Ruth Westover, vice-president; Joe Noble, Treasurer; and Blossom Burcham, secretary.

Many out-of-town guests and relatives were also present to witness the play.

SOCIAL

From Thursday's Daily—

Presbyterian Circles Meet—
Three circles of the First Presbyterian church federation met yesterday as follows:

Mrs. Henry Schneider served as hostess to the members of Circle No. 2 with Miss Caroline Baird and Mrs. Oliver Dovey as the assistant hostesses. The guest and membership list numbered around twenty. Rev. Harry G. McClusky brought the spiritual message for the meeting, the missionary chairman, Mrs. Bertha Shopp being absent. One of the business highlights included plans for the observance of the coming holidays.

Sixteen members and one guest, Mrs. C. A. Rawls, comprised the attendance list at Circle No. 3 meeting held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Kaffenberger at 1123 Elm street. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. F. G. Nolting, the missionary lesson was given by Mrs. Virgil Perry. The ladies enjoyed a social hour during the afternoon.

Mrs. William Schmidtman, Jr. entertained the members of Circle No. 5 with Mrs. B. R. Galland, Mrs. Edith Tunnell, and Miss Margaret Bauer associate hostesses. The attendance list numbered twenty-one. Mrs. C. H. Martin had charge of the missionary lesson.

Each circle served a luncheon at the close of their meeting. Twenty-four were present at the Circle Meetings Held—

Two circles, Circle 2 and Circle 3, of the St. John's church Altar society met Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. John Bergman entertained the members of Circle 2 at her home with Mrs. Frank Mullen and Mrs. J. C. Petersen as associate hostesses. Guests of the circle for the afternoon included Mrs. John Kubicka, Mrs. George Weber, Miss Marie Fitzgerald, Mrs. Joseph Libershal, Miss May Rath, Mrs. Henry Starkjohn, Mrs. Hermie Svoboda, and Mrs. C. F. Janda. The meeting commenced and concluded with a prayer led by the circle's president, Mrs. Everett Elliott. A social hour of card playing followed the business session. Pinchle, bridge, and Chinese checkers were played. Mrs. Frank Bestor won the award in the bridge playing. Mrs. Everett Elliott received a prize for the highest score in Chinese checkers, and the highest pinchle scorer was Mrs. Janda. A luncheon, served by the committee in charge, concluded the afternoon meeting.

Circle 3 members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Dan Reichstadt with Mrs. George Stoll, Miss Mary Hobscheidt, and Miss Inga Reichstadt as the assistant hostesses. Among the fifteen present were four guests, Mrs. I. L. Kocian, Mrs. John Hadraba, Mrs. Richard Watson, and Mrs. Earl Hardison. Mrs. Cyril Kalina, the circle's president, led the prayer service which preceded and climaxed the meeting. Circle 3 members and their guests spent their social hour in playing Bingo. Mrs. Watson received the first prize, and Mrs. Hadraba received the second award. The "surprise package" gift was won by Mrs. Edgar Creamer. Refreshments were served by the committee members.

From Friday's Daily—

Rebekahs Hold Meeting—
Last evening the Rebekahs held a very interesting meeting at the lodge rooms in the I. O. O. F. building and which brought out a very fine attendance. After the business session the members of the party enjoyed a Kensington that had been arranged and which occupied some time. At a suitable hour refreshments were served, Mrs. John Alwin being the hostess of the evening.

Mrs. Theodore Ptak Entertains—

Mrs. George Jaeger received the first prize at this week's meeting of the Wednesday afternoon bridge club, which was held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Ptak. Other prize winners were listed as Mrs. James Mauzy and Mrs. Herbert Schuetz.

Entertains at Hotel—

Mrs. Frank R. Gobelman served as the hostess this week to the members of the Delta Deck bridge club. The occasion was held last evening and took place in the prettily decorated dining room of the Hotel Plattsmouth. Mrs. Gobelman had three guests—Mrs. Henry Starkjohn, Mrs. A. H. Duxbury, and Mrs. Fred Lugsch.

Four prizes were awarded during the evening. Mrs. Starkjohn was given the first prize; Mrs. Duxbury, the second; Miss Margaret Scotten, the "booby" prize; and Miss Laura Meisinger, the "honor" prize.

Mrs. Gobelman carried out the Thanksgiving theme in her decorations and luncheon menu.

Delta Deck bridge club members include: Mrs. Lora Lloyd Kieck, Mrs. Frank R. Gobelman, Mrs. Lillian Livingston, Miss Mathilda Soennichsen, Mrs. Thomas J. Walling, Miss Amelia Martens, Miss Laura Meisinger, Miss Margaret Scotten, Mrs. L. W. Egenberger of this city, and Mrs. Henry McMaken of Omaha.

Methodist Circles Meet—

The three circles of the First Methodist church Women's Federation met Thursday afternoon at the homes of one of their respective members. Each circle reported a favorable attendance and each served a luncheon at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Edgar Newton served as hostess to the Dorcas circle members with Mrs. Walter Propst, Mrs. Harold Gaines, Mrs. Cleo Capper, and Mrs. Josephine O'Brien as assistant hostesses. Mrs. Fred Howland served as the devotional leader. The highlights of the business session included the submitting of reports on the recent White Elephant sale, the chicken pie supper, and the serving of the banquet to the Knights and Ladies of Mt. Zion Commandery No. 5, Knights Templar. Mrs. Don Selver served as the circle's program chairman and many games were played. The prize winners were listed as Mrs. William Heinrich, Mrs. R. B. Keller, Mrs. James Mauzy, Mrs. A. H. Duxbury, Mrs. Harry White, and Mrs. A. Boynton.

The Gleaner circle members were entertained at the home of Mrs. William Evers with Mrs. Thomas Cacy, Mrs. Charles Walden, Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, and Mrs. Lois Bailey as assistant hostesses. The circle reported eighteen presents. Plans for a doughnut sale in the near future were discussed at the business part of the meeting. Mrs. Vernon Arn, Sr., had charge of the devotionals. The circle also had a program during the afternoon in which Mrs. Evers gave a group of humorous readings, "The Coupon Craze," "Made Over," and "His Family." Her daughter, Miss Mary Evers was presented in two piano solos, "The Banjo Picker" and "Symphony." "Bible Lotto," similar to Bingo, was played and Mrs. James Rishel and Mrs. Howard Davis were presented the awards.

The Naomi circle members met with Miss Wilma Pickard and her assistants were Mrs. Milo Price, Mrs. Fred Worth, and Miss Mary Propst. Mrs. T. B. Farmer served as devotional leader. Plans and arrangements for the circle's Christmas party was the main highlight of the business discussion. Mrs. Edgar Glaze served as the program chairman. A number of old and loved hymns, listed by the chairman, were passed out in printed form and sung by several groups, which comprised, trios, duets, and soloists.

Entertained at Shower—
Mrs. Earl Lamberson was honored guest Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. Cora Hirz, on west Elm street. There were some thirty of the friends present to participate in the happy event. Games were enjoyed and in which Mrs. Lena Becker and Mrs. Howard Hirz were prize winners.

In honor of the event Mrs. Lamberson was presented with a large array of gifts that will long be treasured as remembrances of the friends and associates.

Mrs. Hirz served a very delightful two course luncheon at an appropriate hour and was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Burns and Miss Margaret Taylor.

Mrs. Lamberson is to leave soon for Portsmouth, New Hampshire, to join her husband who is serving at the U. S. naval base at that place.

From Saturday's Daily—

Farewell Party—

A farewell party was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Reed Wolover for Mrs. Steve Dorloque, who is leaving soon for New Orleans. Those present were Mrs. Kenneth Schmitt, Mrs. George Kerns, Mrs. Donald Andrews, Mrs. Homer Lutes, Mrs. Robert Carnick, Mrs. George Jordan, Mrs. Elmer Eades and Mrs. Joseph Sammons.

Societies Meet—

The Woman's Auxillary and St. Mary's Guild of the St. Luke's Episcopal church met for a joint business meeting Thursday afternoon at 2:45 at the home of Mrs. Frank Cummins. Mrs. Cummins presided at the meeting and she also led the devotionals. Miss Mia Gering submitted a report to the members saying that all of the mince meat had been disposed of, thus realizing a very neat sum for the church treasury.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Cummins served a luncheon and she was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lorene Cummins and Mrs. J. M. Roberts.

Edwin Kalina, Raymond Wooster and Bill Carey were among the university of Nebraska students here for a week-end visit with their relatives and friends.
