

Highway Patrol Makes Excellent Two Year Record

R. F. Weller, Assistant Director of the Motor Vehicle Division Gives His Report.

LINCOLN, Nov. 22 (UP)—The Nebraska safety patrol celebrated its second birthday today as R. F. Weller, assistant director of the motor vehicle division, commemorated the anniversary with a summary report of the services provided on the highways in almost 4,000,000 miles of travel.

Others in the patrol's service during its first two years as listed by Weller included solution of bank robberies, apprehension of escaped prisoners, car thieves, forgers, and other criminals and the rescue of a baby.

Patrol activities included recovery of 92 stolen cars, assistance to 26,847 motorists, the removal of 18,601 obstructions from highways, and issuance of 20,335 violation cards, and 8,335 warning cards.

The report shows that the state's 1939 safety record—4,017 accidents and 263 fatalities from November 1, 1938 to November 1, 1939—is not as favorable as that for 1938 when Nebraska won second in the national traffic safety contest in the eleven-state midwestern district.

Delay in presenting proof of age will necessarily delay monthly benefit payments. Social Security board officials can make payment of claims only in accordance with the provisions of the Social Security Act as amended by congress this fall.

Social Security Forms are Found Easy to Fill Out

Those Who Have Filled Applications for Monthly Benefit Payments Find Few Facts Needed.

Elderly people who have visited the field office of the Social Security Board in Lincoln to make application for monthly benefit payments, which begin in January 1940, have found that the application forms are easy to fill out, according to Leo W. Smith, manager of the field office.

Mr. Smith states that applicants should be prepared to answer the following questions: name and social security account number; date and place of birth; names and addresses of employers since January 1, 1937; state whether you are single, married, widowed, or divorced. If married, the applicant should state wife's maiden name, age, and date of birth; If there are any children under the age of 18 and unmarried, this should be reported.

If the applicant has filed application for lump-sum benefits, such fact should be stated. If the applicant is earning $15 or more a month at the time of filing, the reason for filing of application at the present time should be stated. The simplicity of the forms should not occasion the applicant any expense.

Applicants should bear in mind that proof of age, unless same has been definitely established to the satisfaction of the Social Security Board, must be presented by applicants for monthly benefit payments. A birth certificate or church baptismal record brought to the field office by the applicant will avoid delay in getting the monthly benefit check.

STUDY CLUB MEETS

At the Study Center Course "Improvement of Reading" Saturday morning, Mr. Calvin H. Reed stressed the importance of using prehesion tests. "It is doubtful if pupils above the third grade should read orally unless they have something to give to the group or for purposes of diagnosing difficulties. When an individual reads orally the teacher should note the pronunciation, insertions, omissions, acquiring meaning of new words, behavior, posture and voice control."

Instead of purchasing standardized vocabulary tests every teacher can make her own by using the Thorndike Work List. A short vocabulary test each week will stimulate and motivate children to make improvements.

A number of normal training students visited the class during the test intermissions.

Bible School Lesson Study!
Sunday, November 26th By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"The Works of the Messiah" Matt. 8:14-37. Jesus had finished a course of teaching in three chapters, 5-7. Now we have a lesson about his works. As he was a master-teacher, which we have seen; so now he will prove himself the master-workman, also.

The miracles performed in our lesson are not wrought just to show what he could do, but they were his credentials as the ambassador of God; which fact Nicodemus testified to when he said: "No man can do these things that thou doest, except God be with him." (John 3:2; Acts 10:38).

A miracle is a supernatural event in the natural world, but out of its established order, and possibly only by divine power. Jesus himself testifies that "the works (miracles) bear witness of me, that the father hath sent me." (John 5:36). The first miracle in our lesson is the restoring to perfect health of Peter's mother-in-law, who was bedfast with a "high fever" (Luke). Only those who have suffered from fever know how devastating a fever is; how it takes months to regain their former strength and vigor. In this case there was perfect and complete restoration to health. How do we know? She arose and ministered unto them—a definite proof that the effects of the fever had also disappeared.

Only the Son of God could do that. This was done on the Sabbath. In the evening—after 6 o'clock—all the sick in Capernaum were brought to Jesus, because news of the healing of Peter's mother-in-law had spread like wildfire through the city. What pen is able to describe the scene! The sick carried by friends and relatives on their beds, those possessed by demons led to Jesus, and by the word of his power, they had to release their victims and "all" the sick were healed. Is the Great Physician able to do this today? Yes, he is able and willing to relieve the world of its misery and distresses and diseases. Again Jesus says: "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do . . ." (John 14:12).

The apostles and the early church did them—but to convert the world and bring it into the kingdom, is a greater work than to relieve one of a fever or a disease.

The quotation from Isaiah is very difficult to explain. While Jesus suffered and paid the penalty for the sins of all men, we do not know of him having any infirmities or diseases, but we think of him being scourged and beaten, in that he suffered in the flesh. Tired and weary of working with the demons and sick, Jesus seeks a quiet place, and asks to be taken across the lake of Galilee. Here he is interrupted by a Scribe—surely an honest soul—who wants to enlist in Christ's service. Why did Jesus not accept him? Jesus knew man. He told him that in following him he would be deprived of many comforts of life—his would be a life of self-denial—which few consider; they join the church and live just like they did before. This man did not count the cost, he did not go with Jesus.

Another disciple wanted to be enrolled in the company of Jesus' followers, but would wait until his old father was dead and he could bury him. Jesus did not accept that excuse, but expected him to follow at once—there is great danger in delay. With God, it is today; no man has a tomorrow.

We consider now Christ's power over nature. In the ship, tired and weary, he is soon asleep—how human! And then the storm arose—threatening the lives of the passengers in the boat with Christ—He who a short time before had worked scores of miracles, already forgotten. Did Jesus not care if they perished? Would he not perish with them? How human!

But, when called to see the danger, he rises majestically to the occasion, first stilling the disciples' fears, then rebuking the wind. At once there is obedience to his command, and a great calm—no waves afterward—think of the fever leaving no weakness.

The word "rebuked" gives us pause to think—it can only be directed to a person who causes all the discord and the disharmonies in the world—that is satan, the author of all disorders alike in the natural and spiritual world. Stirred up by an alien force, even the sea obeys the rightful voice of the Lord gladly and returns to her proper service to the race, and to effect all this, it needed only his word—that was sufficient.

"O ye of little faith." Where are the multitudes of the faithful that believe in prayer? Should their voices uplifted in a cry over the turmoil and upheaval in our war-torn world, as it rises to the throne of God, "Save Lord, we perish," not be answered by Him who has all power, by one word? "Peace, be Still!" It has not been tried. O ye of little faith . . . let the church get to her knees and call to him—it is not too late. He can say: "Hither-to shalt thou come, but no further, and here shall thy proud waves be stayed." (Job 33:11).

FAMOUS ALL-GIRL SINGING ORCHESTRA AT PARAMOUNT

Out of the air on to the stage of the Paramount theatre in Omaha will come the "Hour of Charm" all girl singing orchestra Friday for a week's engagement under the personal direction of Phil Spitalny.

The Paramount will present four stage shows daily at popular prices in addition to the film attraction the Jones Family in their latest domestic troubles entitled "Too Busy to Work."

Plans call for the Paramount to remain open just as long as business warrants, according to Everet R. Cummings, Tri-States Theatres district manager, who states that other big stage attractions including Cab Calloway and his entire New York Cotton Club orchestra, have been booked for the luxurious theatre at 20th and Farnam.

Featured entertainers in the "Hour of Charm" include Maxine, vocalist; Evelyn, concert-mistress and violin soloist; the "Three Little Words," a harmony trio of Southern girls; Rosalinda and Lola, on the two grand pianos and the all girl glee club.

There are 32 members of the orchestra and glee club and they range in age from seventeen to thirty. They have a unique agreement that forbids any of them to marry while they are with the orchestra.

Phil Spitalny organized the "Hour of Charm" three years ago after a nation wide audition for talent and since then the all girl orchestra has become internationally famous on both the stage and radio.

TEST EVERY HERD OF CATTLE IN UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (UP)—The agricultural department's bureau of animal husbandry announced today that it has tested every herd of cattle in the United States at least once for tuberculosis.

The tests, it added, "assure the successful completion of eradicating bovine tuberculosis from the United States."

More than 220,000,000 tubercular tests have been made since the campaign was instituted in 1917, the bureau said. Approximately 3,750,000 of cattle, found to be diseased, were removed from herds and slaughtered during that period.
