INCREASED Buying Power

In three institutional ads run during the past ten days, we have given you some of the figures on how we have added to the buying power and prosperity of this community. We should all be interested in our home community, and by selling your produce, you will not only receive the top price you might get elsewhere, but its processing here at home will add many dollars to Cass county buying power—through wages and other costs of operation of our plant. When your produce is shipped elsewhere (and we operate the only home processing plant in the county) all that money is lost to our community, and you, the producer, receive not a penny more (sometimes even less) for your produce.
