

MURDOCK ITEMS

August Ruge was in Plattsmouth last Wednesday to look after some business matters for the day.

E. D. Friend of Alvo was visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eddie Craig during last week.

Miss Ruth Ruge who is a student in the Lincoln School of Commerce was home for the week end to enjoy her Easter vacation at the home of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Robson, of Belfast over near Lincoln were spending last Sunday in Murdock, guests of the father of Mrs. Robson, Mr. Edward Ganaway, where all enjoyed a very fine visit.

Rev. P. C. Krey, pastor of the Trinity church north of Murdock, was enjoying a visit from his father for a number of days the past week and also looking after some business matters at Plattsmouth one day during the week.

Some corn is moving just now, notwithstanding the seemingly almost impassable roads. August Reffe and Fred Buell were among those shelling and delivering corn to the elevator. Also the elevator which has not shipped out any corn for some time on account of the small amount on hand, shipped a car of corn last Tuesday. With the return of better roads it is expected more corn will be marketed.

Entertained Club Leaders
Mrs. Henry A. Tool entertained at her home last Monday at a gathering of extension club leaders which was addressed and instructed by Miss Jessie Baldwin, with instructions given the leaders to present to their respective clubs over the county.

Enjoyed St. Patrick's Party.
Henry A. Tool and wife were guests last Sunday, St. Patrick's day at a gathering at the home of their son, Kenneth Tool and wife of Waterloo, where they were joined by the family of O. E. Bradford of Beatrice which called together all the family of Mr. and Mrs. Tool with the single exception of Richard Tool and wife of LaMars, Iowa, which was a little too far away for them to come on account of the brackish weather of March.

Elect Number of Teachers.
At the recent meeting of the Murdock board of education, after the other business had been consummated, the matter of the election of teachers for the coming year was brought up, and disposed of by the election of Supt. Elmer Miller who is also the athletic coach, Miss Martha Kelley, Miss Verna McKinley and Miss Pauline Kroh, leaving two places yet to be filled.

John W. Ganaway Passes.
John W. Ganaway, father of our townsman, Edward Ganaway, has for more than a half century been making his home near Stockton, Mo., where he has been engaged in farming there has grown up around him and the good wife a family of children of which Mr. Edward Ganaway was one. The father, who had reached the age of 78 years, passed away two weeks ago on Friday and was buried from the Alpha church with the interment in the Alder cemetery in the immediate neighborhood.

At the time of passing the elder Ganaway was making his home with his son, Floyd on the farm where Mr. Ganaway had spent the greater portion of his life. He leaves the following children, Floyd, Alonzo, Delphia, John and Edward and two daughters, Stella and Gertrude. Mr. Edward Ganaway was not able to get away to attend the funeral and burial.

Happy Easter Gathering.

Wm. Meyers, Jr., and Mary, sister and children of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Meyers of Sioux City, were spending a number of days at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool here in Murdock while the parents, W. P. Meyers and wife were looking after some business matters in Kansas City, Mo. The parents returned to Murdock to be here for Easter, and were joined by George Work and family of Omaha, also daughter and family of Mr. and Mrs. Tool. This made a very merry house party at the Tool home for Easter dinner.

Accidentally Shot in West.

Fred Detmer, well known in Cass county and especially in Elmwood and Murdock, as he formerly resided here, but has been making his home near Imperial for a number of years, was accidentally shot and killed while attempting to take a shotgun from an automobile. The body was found by a son who becoming anxious because of the long time it took the father to get the stock up when he found the father dead. He leaves besides the son a wife and two daughters. The funeral was in the west with burial at Waunita, Nebr.

Home for Easter Time.

Miss Dorothy Gorthy who is instructor in the public schools at Fallside in the western part of the state arrived at home last week, as there was a short Easter vacation at the school and spent the Easter vacation with her parents. Miss Dorothy has not been home for several months and it was a treat to both she and the other members of the family. Miss Dorothy has been re-elected to her teaching position with a substantial increase in salary. She has to return early this week to take up her work early this week.

TO PROBE INTO GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Ga., March 23 (UP)—A federal inquiry into Georgia state affairs was indicated today in a statement by Assistant U. S. Attorney General O. J. Rogge shortly before he returned to Washington.

Rogge, who aided in presenting evidence to a federal grand jury which indicated Representative B. Frank Welch, D., Ga., and Pickens County Commissioner H. Grady Jones, said he had gone into evidence given the Georgia legislative economy investigating committee in 1938 and had listened to a number of complaints of the state's prosecuting attorneys. "It is my purpose to return to Georgia within a few weeks for further conferences."

Rogge's statement, plus the six-count indictment of Welch and Jones on charges conspiring to sell federal appointments, revived rumors of federal activity prevalent last fall.

Children at the Crossroads

Ernest L. Reeker

"Nobody Pays Any Attention to Me"

"He's a bad egg," the truant officer was reporting to the juvenile court. "Something will have to be done with him because the other boys feel that if Hartley can get away with defying the truant officer, they can, too."

Hartley, aged 12, and his father were cited to court, and Hartley promised he would attend school faithfully. True to his word, he was in school regularly, but one day he brought too much money with him and distributed it too freely among his friends, making his teacher suspicious that all was not right.

Finding himself once more in court, Hartley, having no excuse to do otherwise, simply told the truth. He spent his after-school hours in the office of a trucking concern, where he was always welcome because of his association with the trucker's son. It had been easy to take the money while no one was in the room. He had spent it, not for himself, but for his friends, among whom he had always been popular.

"Hartley," the judge pointed out, "you are a normal, bright boy. You possess everything a boy's heart could desire—a comfortable home, a good father. Why do you commit an offense that is disgraceful to him and humiliating to your two sisters?"

"Gee, I never thought of it that way. I guess the reason I did it is that nobody at home pays any attention to me. Dad is always away working when I'm home. My older sis is busy cooking and cleaning up the house, and my younger sis is off somewhere about her high school affairs. There just isn't anything for me to do around home evenings."

Hartley's intelligent father expressed himself as guilty for his son's delinquency because of neglect and insisted upon reimbursing the trucker for the money the boy stole. The judge ruled, however, that Hartley must get a job and pay his earnings to the court until the amount had been entirely repaid.

Hartley was placed on probation to his father, who thereafter spent two evenings per week and all day Sunday in his companionship. Unquestionably the boy's life had been disrupted by the death of his mother three years before. The older girl, who clerked in a store by day, had all she could do to manage the mechanics of the household.

One job Hartley found was that of assistant janitor of his church. After the boy had apparently been behaving well for four months, the pastor came into court, a bitterly disappointed man. Hartley, he said, had on three occasions taken a small amount of money, less than a dollar each time, from the collection.

Again hailed into court, Hartley begged so hard for "just one more chance" that it was granted to him, together with the outline of some new rules to follow.

As a constant reminder of his offenses and the faith other people had in him, Hartley was given added opportunities to steal more money, if he so inclined, or to prove his strength in the face of temptation.

He proved his worth. After the episode of the church collection his school work began to improve, and he joined the Boy Scouts. He has been recommended for discharge from probation and has now progressed in Scouting to the stage where no Boy Scout has ever been known in this country to be brought before the court.

HERMAN HELPED THEM OUT.

There was a man who took a journey and fell among thieves who robbed him after beating him and left him for dead. A good samaritan came along, carried him to an inn and treated his wounds and also cared for him.

That was well and good and a most noble act. Now another contingency comes our way. Many people were struck in the snow and mud, so many indeed that as soon as one was out another was in. Herman Rauth lived near an especially tough mud hole and he with his tractor was able to render assistance in helping them out. They were so many that Herman had put in much of his time in this missionary work, and as the tractor needed tractor fuel, he required that the unfortunate traveler furnish that, but Herman cheerfully did the work and sent them on their way rejoicing. That was a neighbor indeed.

Celebrated Passing Birthday.

Gerald Hansen, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thorhold Hansen was passing his birthday last Saturday and the parents had a number of the neighbors in for the day and gave their son a merry party with games and a merry time in commemoration of his birthday anniversary.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—tends to strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body wastes. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
