

British May Abandon Japan Appeasement

With Troops Leaving May Indicate Stronger Stand Against Further Japanese Moves.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—Withdrawal of British troops from Shanghai may mark an end to the British policy of appeasement in the far east and a beginning of a stronger stand against Japan by both the United States and Great Britain, diplomatic circles believed today.

These sources said the withdrawal might have appeared on the surface to be another concession to Japan but might also have been done to clear the decks for action in a last-ditch defense of the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong.

Military and naval experts agreed with this view. They pointed out that the British forces at Shanghai, Peking and Tientsin constituted only a handful of men in those exposed positions and probably would have been sacrificed immediately if actual hostilities had broken out. The same number of men, withdrawn to the fortified works of Hong Kong, would afford greatly needed reinforcements at that post, these experts said.

A stiffening of the combined American-British stand in the far east was seen in the announcement by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles that the British withdrawal from Shanghai would have no effect whatever on the American policies and actions in China.

The announcement came simultaneous with the delivery to the Japanese ambassador here the reply to Japan's recent protest over the embargo on aviation gasoline shipments outside this hemisphere. Texts of the protest and the reply were not made public but it was reported that the United States supported its embargo orders by strongly reiterating that highest aviation gasoline is vital to national defense.

Welles' announcement indicated that U. S. marines will remain on guard at the international settlement Shanghai where they have been stationed since 1927. It was believed the defense positions being vacated by the British troops would be taken up jointly by the U. S. marines and the Shanghai volunteer force.

Welles said he had no knowledge of a report that additional marines were en route from Honolulu to reinforce the Shanghai garrison. He tough such action was highly improbable.

Military observers said reinforcements would be unnecessary, since the force there is sufficient for the purely nominal protection of the international settlement, even without the presence of the British troops. They added that it would require a full-sized army to render anything more than nominal protection against Japanese forces, since Japan has several hundred thousand troops in that vicinity.

BRITISH FOREGO LUXURY FOOD

LONDON (UP)—There is no demand today for luxury foods, lamented a West End hotel catering manager. People don't seem to want caviar, fresh asparagus and out-of-season strawberries.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of FAT

Lost Her Prominent Hips Lost Her Double Chin Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Viraciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know how to do it.

Why not be smart — do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys—cut down your caloric intake—eat wisely and satisfactorily—there need never be a hungry moment!

Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. If not joyfully satisfied—money back.

MUSIC ON JOB SPEEDS WORK OF MUNITIONS

LONDON (UP)—They're making shells to the tunes of Rachmaninoff and Chopin these days, and it's a great sit with the workers.

With reports indicating that where music is played as an accompaniment to work, output has increased by an amount ranging between 6 and 12 per cent, many factories throughout the country have introduced "factory concerts" for their employees.

In addition to loudspeakers and gramophone music, well-known artists are giving recitals in factory canteens at lunch intervals and sometimes even at midnight. In the programs of the performers usually a singer and a pianist—it has been noted that Chopin and Rachmaninoff are particularly appreciated.

Employers have found that in repetitive work where concentration is not essential music reduces the workers' fatigue.

Says a research officer of the British National Institute of Industrial Psychology, who has been studying the effect of "factory concerts":

"One trouble is that when there is a definite rhythm imposed by the machine the music must be selected. There are a great many jobs where music cannot possibly interfere with the work, and actually proves very beneficial. Music may be used as an antidote to boredom."

YOUNGEST MOTHER IN HISTORY

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (UP)—Lina Medina, 5, proclaimed by South American physicians as "the youngest mother in history," will be brought to the United States by airplane within a month for examination by a five-man medical commission, Richard S. Kaplan, counsel for Chicago and Peruvian business men, announced today.

Kaplan said business men whom he represents would bring the child mother and her 15-months-old son, Gerardo, to a Chicago hospital for the examination by an endocrinologist, a gynecologist, an obstetrician, a urologist and a pathologist. He said the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tiburcio Medina, would accompany her from Lima, Peru.

Lima authorities said the child had given birth to her son by caesarian operation May 14, 1939, when Lina was 4 years, eight months old. According to her birth certificate, Lina will be six Sept. 26.

APPEAL DAMAGE CASE

LINCOLN, Aug. 10 (UP)—An appeal was filed with the supreme court today from an Otoe district court judgment awarding $1,900 to Ray Parks for injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Avoca, September 15, 1939.

Appellants were the owners of Greene's ice cream factory, Nebraska City, and their driver, Kenneth Conway, whose truck was involved in the crash. Parks had sought a $15,488 judgment.

The court announced that arguments will be heard September 24 on the mandamus suit brought by James Chapman and Charles Ledwith against the Waubesa Bridge company.

Chapman and Ledwith appealed from the Otoe county district court decision denying a writ of mandamus to compel the company to permit examination and preparation of abstracts of its records.

TO TRAIN AID CADETS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP)—The state department announced an arrangement with Pan-American Airways system whereby the company would train 850 cadets in long ranged aerial navigation during the next fourteen months.

The first class of about 50 cadets began training today in Miami, Fla. and will be graduated November 2 after an intensive twelve-week course.

The department said that Pan-American Airways, which maintains a vast network of foreign lines, will furnish the instructors and all training facilities on a non-profit basis. Officials said students will be selected much in the same manner as those normally chosen for flying cadet courses.

Forecast End of Gold Buying Soon by U. S.

Former Treasury Adviser Believes 22 Billion Will Be Limit—Buying Exceeds Production.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal. (UP)—The United States soon will be unable to purchase and store the world's gold for the reason there will be no more gold to purchase, according to Dr. Franklin Ebersole, former economic adviser to the treasury and professor of finance at Yale.

Dr. Ebersole told the Fourth Annual Stanford Business Conference here that there is only $27,000,000,000 of monetary gold in the world, and that more than $20,000,000,000 of this is held by the United States government.

He understood, he said, that it is the policy of the administration to purchase another $2,000,000,000, leaving only $5,000,000,000 in the rest of the world.

Ebersole expressed his doubt the United States would be able to purchase more than this additional two billion for the reason that certain countries like England and France, who believe in a solid currency, will refuse to let the last of their gold be drained from them.

"The United States has been purchasing gold faster than it can be dug from the mines," Ebersole said. "The gold mines of the world are expected to produce only $1,000,000,000 in gold this year."

"California leads the nation in gold production, having mined 5,593,425 fine ounces in 1939, valued at $195,769,000."

Were the United States to continue its policy of purchasing and hoarding gold, there would not be enough left outside the vaults to support America's foreign trade.

Ebersole explained that naturally all of the gold held by the treasury does not belong to the United States. Much of it is the property of the Federal Reserve bank, of various foreign governments and individuals. As a consequence, only a small part of it is available. The United States is merely the custodian of gold other than her own.

With the United States and Great Britain producing large quantities of gold, Ebersole does not think they will go off the gold standard, but feels that the great problem to be solved is to prevent this hoarding of gold from ruining America's foreign trade.

"Unless some substitute for gold is found as a medium of exchange," Ebersole declared, "the United States may have difficulty in competing with an influx of cheap foreign goods unloaded here at a loss in order that American dollars thereby gained may be exchanged at a profit as they become scarcer in Europe."

Hoard Likened to Chips
"The United States and its gold supply are like a poker player with all the chips in the game and no place to cash in."

Ebersole suggested as a partial solution that the United States begin buying such strategic materials as tin, rubber, manganese, chromium, and a half dozen others.

"Such a program," he said, "might be wiser than purchasing gold. We could, in any event, use the strategic materials, and in the end it might be that we couldn't use the gold. Anyway, we are not doing very much with it the way it is."

He believes the gold would prove to be readily acceptable by poor nations which have strategic materials for sale.

"In any event, the fork of the road is in sight," he declared, "and the United States has to take one course or the other."

ELEPHANT CLEARS TRAFFIC

UKIAH, Cal. (UP)—When scores of motorists on the Redwood Empire highway got in a traffic jam because of a truck that stalled across the route, a carnival outfit came to the rescue. An elephant lumbered across the highway, put its head against the truck, pushed and the truck moved.

CALL SWISS TROOPS

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 10 (UP)—The army general staff has called three brigades to report for duty Aug. 19 and five cavalry squadrons to report August 26, it was announced today. The call was explained on the ground that the new men would replace men now with the armed forces.

It was announced also that interned French soldiers would be transferred within the next few days to eastern Switzerland. The reason was not given but it was assumed that the move was intended to clear important strategic positions. Also, however, there are few opportunities for employment where the interned men now are, in the Bernese Oberland.

It was not made known how many men were being called for the army, but it was said that the total on duty would not be increased.

MEXICO APPROVES CONSCRIPTION

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9 (UP)—A compulsory military service bill was approved by the chamber of deputies early today and sent to the senate where final passage was believed certain within a few days.

President Lazaro Cardenas has urged passage of the bill to permit Mexico "to face the critical world situation caused by the European war and to provide adequate protection for our people."

Under the bill, males from 18 to 45 years inclusive are subject to at least one year of military service effective January 1.

Men who failed to comply would be forbidden to marry or to go abroad, and transportation companies would be subject to fines if they carried untrained men to foreign countries.

TREASURE ISLAND, Cal. (UP)—When Richard M. Dozier, official of the Pennsylvania Railroad show at the Golden Gate International Exposition, won a free long distance telephone call, he promptly called up Miss Doris Lewis, Jacksonville, Fla., and asked her to marry him. The telephone company's records show that 872 persons listened in on the proposal. Miss Lewis accepted, came to San Francisco and was married here.

TOWN THROUGH ERROR SELLS ITS CITY PARK

ADA, Okla. (UP)—Walter Brooks didn't buy the Empire State building or the Brooklyn bridge, but he might have just as well, because he won't get to keep the 10 acres of city park that he bought near Roff either.

Brooks wanted 10 acres of ground near Roff and chose the property from a tax resale list. After bidding for the 10 acres, he went to the location of the property and found that he had bought Roff's city park.

Through a mistake that hasn't been accounted for yet, the park property had been listed on the tax rolls.

So Brooks will get his money back and Roff will keep his park.
