More dog stories than usual are being cared for by the children. Adults are reading "Mein Kaupf" by Hitler, quite steadily.

A splendid pioneer story of the northwest territory is "The Trees" by Hans Richter. It is strong and poetic. and the characters are real human beings, whom you will remember. It will give you a new picture and conception of the forests of huge beech and oak trees, that were the pioneer story has ever impressed me as much with the vastness of the forests that once covered Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. There is desperate hardship in the book, and sorrow, but it is never a sad book, for the Ray F. Becker, for salary, strength and joy of living is in it to
