"WHINGDING" A SUCCESS

The "Whingding" which had been postponed on account of weather conditions, was held Thursday evening at "Shady Rest," the W. R. Holly cottage near the Platte river. The event was a stag party and enjoyed by a group of some seventy-five of the men of this city and surrounding territory.

Cards served as the chief diversion of the evening and a general get-together of the members. Several numbers were also given by the male quartet during the evening.

RAIN CAUSES DAMAGE

The rains of the past week have caused the street department of the city a real headache due to washing on the hill streets. The unpaved hilly streets are reported as washed in many places which will require the expenditure of considerable funds and labor to put them back in shape. It had been possible in the dry weather to get the work well caught up but with the exceptionally heavy rains at the week-end much of this will have to be replaced.

WOMAN SHARP SHOOTER—Strasburg, Mo.—Mrs. Lela Hall, four consecutive years winner of the North American Women's Titles, participated in the Grand American shooting tournament at Vandalia. She did not defend her title last year because of illness. Mrs. Hall recently won the Wisconsin state shoot.

AMERICAN THEME IN NEWEST HATS—New York City—(1) A gray broadcloth bonnet. At the front is a green ostrich feather and two humming birds. (2) The tiny old fashioned bonnet is of black broadcloth trimmed with feathers and nasturtiums. (3) Peacock feathers form the square brim of this Autumn hat. The crown and rabbit's ear bow are of peacock green felt.

BATTLING A TARPON—St. Petersburg, Fla.—In the first wild leap the 75-pound silver king clears the water by 15 feet and Jean Fulshall has climbed to the runway around the guideboat to follow her fish. The battle has just begun. (Circle) The battle is over. The guide hauls the 75-pound tarpon aboard on a special hook.

HER FIRST GLANCE AT STATUE OF LIBERTY—New York City—Karen Goukasson, 5, of London, as she arrived to be cared for in the U. S.

$1,000 SMILES—Eunice Stunkard of New York City and Ben Quintana of Cochiti Pueblo, New Mexico, shown with the $1,000 checks they received as chief winners in the annual American Youth Forum conducted by The American Magazine. Approximately 500,000 high school students took part in the competition.

MUNITIONS ENGINEERING HER HOBBY NOW—London, England—Women from all walks of life are now regularly attending Technical Institutes here, to learn how to use and make machine tools, to work lathes, etc., so that they may undertake relief shifts in armament factories. The women come in overalls and dungarees, attending as often as five days a week. Here's Miss Bobbie Wood, a worker in a famous London store, busy at one of the machines.

EXTENDS HER WINNING STREAK—Rye, N. Y.—Alice Marble winning the Eastern Grass Court championship 6-1, 6-0, adding another victory to one of the greatest winning streaks in the history of tennis. Last year she won every title available, singles, doubles, and mixed doubles championships of both the U. S. and England. To date she has won 97 consecutive singles triumphs.

THEY LIKE THEMSELVES!—These smiles on the faces of Bonnie Baker, the famous singing star, and her band leader, Orrin Tucker, are there because they are enjoying one of their own new records as it is reproduced by Philco's Photo-Electric Phonograph. Using the "electric eye" as its reproducing agent, this newest phonograph embodies the latest development in the phonograph since Edison's invention of that instrument. Bonnie and Orrin are pleased—and amazed—at the absolutely faithful reproduction of their song.

Scintillating with the kind of humor that endears her to stage devotees and radio listeners to her Saturday "Luncheon at the Waldorf" broadcast (NBC blue network), glamorous and popular Iika Chase talks to interviewers in her New York apartment, but keeps her hands busy with a crochet hook, putting the final touches on a lacy white hand-crocheted blouse she'll wear with a smart black dinner suit. She made the blouse she's wearing, too. It's crocheted in navy and white in a simple open stitch and matches her tweed sports ensemble.

KIDDIES' STYLES FOR FALL—Red and green plaids with green velvet are likely to be popular with the youngest set.
