Many Hardy Annuals Can Be Sown in the Fall

Every time that nature produces annual flowers in our gardens from self-sown seed, she demonstrates that annuals can be grown from seed sown in the fall.

The list of annuals which can self-sow in your neighborhood, and any other varieties which are hardy, and have small, hard seeds, with which you are willing to take a chance for the sake of earlier plants.

Large, soft seeds, even of hardy varieties, may decay in the wet ground, but the hard seeds will be safe if protected from being washed out of the soil by rains, or injury in some other way.

Nature is always lavish; and much of the seed she sows, no doubt, is lost. With purchased seed one will probably wish to be more careful.

A bed surrounded by a wooden curb is an excellent place to sow fall annuals. A cold frame will do as well; and many sow seeds in the open garden, where experience has shown drainage is good.

So the seed thinly, mixing small seed with dry sand to help scatter it, and do not sow much deeper than you would in the spring. Many gardeners cover the row with a shallow layer of sand after sowing.

In a seed bed, or cold frame, after the ground has frozen a light mulch of leaves may be placed over the bed to keep the frost in. This much should be removed before the seeds sprout in the spring.

Annuals which are usually successful from fall sowing include alyssum, snapdragons, callia, calendula, calliopsis, candytuft, centauria cyanus, clarkia, cosmos, eschscholzia, euphorbia, gypsophila, larkspur, lupin, nicotiana, petunia annual phlox, annual poppies and sweet peas.

Conditions in the spring are usually fine for transplanting and plants may be moved from the seed bed to the border about the time one would be sowing seed in the spring. The fall sown plants are not so like those grown indoors and receive little or no check from transplanting.

CALIFORNIA TOAST TO WINE WEEK

When the curtains were drawn and the lamps lighted on cool company evenings, colonial Americans knew that fragrant, frothy mugs of one of their favorite hot wine drinks would soon appear upon the festive scene.

Such delightful expressions of warm-hearted hospitality are being enthusiastically revived in modern American homes these days where the fine native grown wines of California serve as the inspiration.

A delicious hot wine drink that is making its timely bow to hosts and hostesses during Wine Week, October 13-20, is California Caudle—a adaptation of a colonial caudle recipe. Beaten eggs, a dash of nutmeg, sweet dessert wine and hot tea go into the making of this toast to the evening, which, despite its elegance of flavor and its traditional air, is really an inexpensive treat. It is made according to the following recipe:

CALIFORNIA CAUDLE 6 eggs yolks 6 cups strong black tea 4 cups California Muscatel or any sweet dessert wine 1 cup sugar 1 egg white 1 cup sugar Beat the egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Add the wine and the tea and beat with a rotary beater. Add the sugar and beat in a double boiler. Serve in hot mugs with a dash of nutmeg tannine each.

Hold Snappy Court of Honor at Syracuse

Local Board of Review Plan Eliminates Tedious Delay—Seven Local Scouts Advance

One of the snappiest courts of honor ever carried out in the Arbor Lodge Boy Scout district, was held at Syracuse Thursday night. Eight towns were represented, Auburn, Peru, Plattsmouth, Cook, Nebraska City, Nehawka, Weeping Water and Syracuse.

Plattsmouth Legion troop had seven boys there, all of whom received merit badge awards. They were Ray Larson, George Jacobs, Ray Evers, Ralph Hill, Carey Marshall, Billy Robertson and Richard Livingston.

Adults accompanying the boys were Scoutmaster Raymond Larson, E. H. Wescott (advancement director) and W. A. Robertson.

Compared with other courts that usually started thirty minutes to an hour late, this one was started on the dot and reeled off in just one hour, including two Life Scout and an Eagle Scout awards.

The reason for this is the new local Board of Review adopted recently in Arbor Lodge district. These boards pass on the eligibility of the boys in their home community, eliminating the tedious task of organizing a board at the court of honor, usually made up of inexperienced men.

The Plattsmouth board is composed of E. H. Wescott, advancement director; George Dobson and W. A. Robertson.

Dr. Coulter of Syracuse, long identified with Scouting there, and newly elected state vice commander of the American Legion presided.

The court opened with an inspiring number by the Syracuse band. Then came some plain and fancy bugling by Syracuse Scouts.

Clyde Surgl, area fieldman, gave a preview of the Arbor Lodge district Scout circus to be held at Nebraska City early in December.

Then the court got down to business in the making of awards.

Robert Law of Syracuse received the high honor, an Eagle award. The mother and son badge presentation that was instituted in this district a couple of years ago was carried out.

In just one hour the court was over and the executives went into a huddle to discuss Scouting problems for another fifteen minutes, after which visiting delegations were out and on their way home.

Missed at the court was Rev. Walter Jackson, of Nebraska City, district advancement director, who is instrumental in getting the local Board of Review plan adopted in this district. Rev. Jackson has been assigned a pastorate at Columbus and much regret is felt that his services to Arbor Lodge district are at an end, as he is a very able Scouter and has done much to advance Scouting in Arbor Lodge district.

Its first meeting as an organization was held in Avoca October 25, 1926. Mrs. C. E. Tefft of Weeping Water, presided as Mrs. Leopold had moved to Lincoln.

Its second convention was in 1927 and its third at Nehawka in 1928, where an all-time record of attendance was made—420 being present at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The following have served as presidents of the Cass County Federation of Women's clubs: Mrs. C. E. Tefft, Weeping Water, 1926-28; Mrs. Nelson Berger, Nehawka, 1928-30; Mrs. G. G.
