

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sudduth

fornia Wednesday evening. They all regretted very much to see them depart.

We all enjoyed our great family gathering and hope we can all be together many more happy years.

In the very early day, My grandpa moved further west, There he met his dream lady, And decided that state was best. When Grandpa courted Grandma, By horseback they did ride, They had to go by the horse's accord, To make the miles wide.

Then they were married, And to a farm they moved, For many a year, they carried Their work together; so smooth. When the early dews are falling, And into the stone heap darts the mink,

Home to woodland fly the crows, When over the hill the farmer boy goes.

Into the yard the farmer goes With grateful heart at the close of day,

Harness and chains are hung away, For supper is ready he knows, To supper at last the farmer goes, The apples are pared, the paper read, The stories are told, then all to bed, With the cricket's careless song; Makes shrill the sleep all night long, The housewife's hand has turned the lock,

Slowly ticks the kitchen clock And to the cabinet she does fly Making pancakes on high, Then a thump, thump with the broom is heard

For the ones who are up stairs, To come at once at her call, For breakfast is ready for all, Then dishes are stacked, washed and put away,

Her bucket she does grab, And to the chicken house on her way,

She scatters the grain far and wide, To make a path brown Leghorns guide.

The farm boy farther over the hill, Faintly, calling still, Co' hoss, co' hoss, co' hoss, Now the cattle come crowding through the gate,

Lowly, pushing, little, and great, Which in stanchions are locked, For the farm boy, to wait, Now to his task the farm boy goes, And the white stream into the bright pail flows,

Then to the house the milk is taken, From milk cream is separated, To the field the farm boy goes, So his crops he will make show, Soon echoing over the hills,

A dinner bell so loud and shrill, Don't you hear that dinner bell? Calling fainter, fainter still, Come Virgil, Lyda, and Baby Dan, It's time to say our evening grace, Virgil you forgot to wash your face Go do it before I speak the word, And call upon His Grace, the Lord, Take Danny too, his hands are a sight,

Can't you tell natural flesh from dirt? All right I suppose we're ready now, Just shut your eyes and lower the brow,

Dear Lord bless this day our daily bread, Virgil, drop that cake, lower the head,

And keep us good and kind and sweet, Lyda, take your hands back from that meat,

And keep us—there I caught you Dan, Sticking your fingers in that jam, Now lick 'em off, I'll start again, Dear Lord have patience with little men,

Just babies, Lord, treacherous but sweet, Hurray, bless the victuals so they can eat,

Now let's don't forget, There are some left yet, Lela, Everett, Lona, Tony, Willard and Otis to mention

To surely draw your attention, When they were young and gay, Over the meadow they would play, Here and there they would run, Playing hide-and-seek and having fun,

With their hearts would jump with joy, Was to see Grandma come in the door,

She was full of joy and trying to have fun, By getting out with the children and run,

To her greatest joy was to go to some creek, Take her fishing pole and worms to fish,

She would take some of her grand-children with her, But they were not to make a noise, no sir,

Now don't you know that tickled them, To go to the creek and not be in a pen,

Because to children's delight They like to see all the sights, As it is everything seems like a dream

But yet a regular scheme, But married and live in Nebraska To fill out all their tasks,

First let me tell you the day they met, And in their mind was set, I said to me "Now you be smart,"

He's one to fill the eye, and yet He's not the one to fill your heart, He's much too tall and much too grand,
Too many girls will find him fair And if you once let go his hand, He'll have too many waiting there,
"Choose some more likely, lesser lad, Who smiles as bright, but not so bold."

I told myself these things; I'm glad I never do as I am told, Now it is mother's time to speak To tell of her treat.

I've spent so many hours with you, And planned so many things to do, While bending over you, it seems You're part and parcel of my dreams, I've stood by you down through the years,

Sometimes with smiles, sometimes with tears, And countless are the little prayers I've breathed upon you unawares, Some afternoons are painted in my mind

All my children down the line, As I sit alone and wonder, From you a letter I ponder; I appreciate the little lines, From you all to take up the lonely time.

This 50th anniversary we hope to enjoy, But not play with like a toy, Just be cheerful, joyful all the time, And all the rest of the kind things down the line.

As all the family is very happy With sisters and brothers, And cousins by the dozens, One great, great grandmother, One great grandfather,

Twenty-four great grandchildren and grandchildren, And ten great, great grandchildren and great grandchildren

We wish you grandfather and grandfather many more happy years together.
—Marie Hamilton.

First Draft Call Expected About November 18

Expected That Thirty Thousand Will Be Called in the First Selective Group.

From Washington late Thursday came the announcement by Secretary of War Henry Stimson that on or about November 18 it was expected that a call for 30,000 men would be made for induction into the new army.

Between November 18th and June 15th it is expected that 600,000 men would be called to the colors for training.

The following dates for induction of the various quotas of conscripts were given:

November 18, 30 thousand men; December 2, 60 thousand; January 3, 60 thousand; January 15, 90 thousand; February 10, 160 thousand; March 5, 200 thousand, and 200 thousand June 15.

Under the conscription law as many as 900 thousand may be called up annually.

Delinquent Gets Week

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, on leave as president of the University of Wisconsin, after being sworn in as director of selective service, gave men who failed to register under the conscription law what was tantamount to at least another week to register. He sent the following telegram to all draft directors:

"Some persons were unable to register yesterday. Until national lottery, persons who voluntarily present themselves for registration should be registered by local boards and not treated as delinquents."

Stimson made his announcement as the national draft board, jubilant over partial returns indicating 17 million men registered Wednesday under the draft law—500 thousand more than expected—plunged into the task of translating registration lists into a mighty military machine.

At the same time Stimson declared that:

- The next group of 126 thousand national guardsmen will be mobilized into federal service between January 3 and 19. And the full guard strength 228 thousand men, will be on duty by February 3.

- Two more powerful, wholly mechanized armored divisions will be formed by the army at Pine Camp, Watertown, N. Y., and Camp Beauregard, La. This move will give the army four armored divisions by next summer.

Confers with President

With 352 thousand men now in the army, and the 228 thousand guardsmen, the 600 thousand conscripts who will be inducted by next June 15 will raise the strength of the army to 1,180,000, excluding volunteers who are signing up in large numbers.

Dr. Dykstra, after taking his oath of office, conferred with President Roosevelt and received an executive order empowering him to name local draft boards, local board physicians, government appeal agents and members of appeal boards.

Post Serial Numbers

It was expected that all serial numbers for those who registered would be posted at local draft board headquarters by the end of the week in states where such boards already have been set up. It's up to the registrant to find out his number.

Here is what each registrant should look for after he receives his number:

- The national lottery which will determine the order in which registrants will be classified and called up for training.

- Questionnaires which will be sent to registrants in the order in which their numbers were drawn in the lottery. Local draft boards will classify the registrants on the basis of answers to 52 major questions in the questionnaire.

- Classification by the local board. The board will place each man in a class—I, II, III or IV, and their subdivisions—according to his availability for service. Classes II, III and IV are for men deferred because cause of the essential nature of their occupations, dependents and for miscellaneous reasons. Those in Class I are deemed immediately available for service.

4. Physical examinations—but only for those in Class I. If those so classified pass the physical test then they are inducted into active service for a year of training in the order in which their numbers were drawn in the lottery.

Many Attend Hybrid Corn Demonstration

Steckley Breeding Nursery West of Oreadpolis Scene of Interesting Demonstration.

Thursday afternoon at the C. L. Wiles farm of Oreadpolis, the Steckley hybrid corn company staged a demonstration that was very interesting to those who took advantage of the occasion to attend.

This farm is used as a breeding nursery for the hybrid corn, there being 193 different kinds of the corn in the field making possible the showing of the development of the different varieties of this popular type of corn.

D. D. Wainscott, of Weeping Water was in charge of the demonstration which was sponsored also by the Steckley dealers in all sections of Cass county. The demonstration showed how the corn is developed, varieties crossed to produce the very best in corn producing, strength of stock, resistance to the dry weather.

The demonstration was a treat to all who attended and even the most experienced farmer gained knowledge in the breeding details as shown in the field.

BRITISH SHOW MORALE

LONDON, Oct. 19 (UP)—This is the story of a strange musical program that lasted twenty hours. The music was supplied by a phonograph and was directed into a hole.

The stage was a pile of debris; the audience, 178 men, women and children trapped in an underground shelter. Some were badly injured but most of them joined in the choruses. It ended in a happy note when 44 weary rescuers dragged out the last chunk of masonry and set the audience free.

John Deakin, 20, radio and phonograph enthusiast who had just left the shelter to visit his sweetheart around the corner when the bomb struck, was the hero. He arrived to bring a radio-phonograph which played into the shelter for those inside.

He said he believed he "played 'Sally' more than fifty times."

ATTACKS FARM PROGRAM

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 18 (UP)—Charles McNary, republican vice-presidential candidate, today accused the new deal of failing to solve the farm problem and pledged that if the republican party, if elected in November, would search for new markets for farm products.

Mrs. Vallery Named as Head of Rebekahs

Former Plattsmouth Lady Selected as Noble Grand of the State Assembly at Omaha.

Plattsmouth people were surprised and members of the local Rebekah lodge were gratified when announcement was made that Mrs. William J. Vallery, of Lincoln was elected president of the Rebekah assembly Thursday as the state conventions of the I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs drew to a close.

She succeeds Mrs. Agnes Jewett of Norfolk. Elected vice-president was Mrs. Evelyn Lane, Fremont. Mrs. George Hall, noble grand of the local lodge, was in Omaha Wednesday and Thursday to attend the convention. Miss Marie Kaufmann, local secretary, attended the Wednesday sessions.

Degree work was done by the Rebekahs Wednesday night at the Masonic temple in Omaha. The newly-elected president is very well known in this city. Being a former Plattsmouth girl, she is the daughter of Michael Warga of Lincoln, and sister of Mrs. Henry Kaufmann of Plattsmouth. Mrs. Vallery has been a prominent figure in lodge work for a number of years.

DRAWS HEAVY SENTENCE

From Saturday's Daily—This morning in the county court charges were heard against Charles Horner and Cecil Straw, giving their address as Nebraska City. The men were arrested last evening by the state highway patrol on highway No. 75 south of this city.

Horner was charged in three counts, driving while intoxicated, reckless driving and operating a car without a driver's license. He made a plea of guilty and was given a $50 fine for drunken driving, 90 days for reckless driving, 30 days for driving without a proper license. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Straw was charged with intoxication and was given a fine of $25 and costs.

TOURNAMENT NOTES

From Saturday's Daily—Miss Emma Mendenhall and Arthur Salerno were awarded the prizes at this week's pinochle tournament, which took place at the Recreation Center. Miss Mendenhall won on her score of 5420, while Mr. Salerno's score was 5460. A good attendance was reported at the first session.

The next pinochle party will be conducted Thursday, October 24. Everyone is invited. The playing begins at 8 p. m.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR COMING

From Saturday's Daily—G. A. Pfeiffer, New York capitalist and business leader, is to arrive here Sunday for a short visit with his cousins, Mrs. Henry Herold and Miss Barbara Gering. Mr. Pfeiffer has been at Rochester, Minnesota, where he was going through the clinic. He is well known to a number of the Plattsmouth people as he has been here quite often at the Gering home.

SPEAKS AT LOUISVILLE

From Thursday's Daily—County Judge A. H. Duxbury was at Louisville this afternoon where he was a speaker at the fall conference of the Omaha district of the Methodist church. Judge Duxbury is to speak on the layman's viewpoint of evangelism. Rev. C. O. Troy, of Lyons, formerly of this city, is in charge of the devotion period.

LOCALS

From Thursday's Daily—Mrs. A. M. Ahlrup was a visitor in Omaha today where she was called to look after some matters of business.

Mrs. Marie Koop of Omaha is in Plattsmouth as a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vallery and family. She will remain here for some time.

Mrs. Louis Leiner of Omaha, who has been here as a guest of Mrs. W. W. Wasley for the past several days, departed this morning for her home, being accompanied by Mrs. Wasley.

Bert Jamison of near Nehawka was in the city Wednesday for a few hours and while here was a caller at the Journal to renew his subscription to the semi-weekly edition of the paper.

From Saturday's Daily—Bill and Mary Jean Knorr, students at Doane college and the University of Nebraska, respectively, arrived to spend the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knorr.

Miss Myrtle Woods, of Wabash, was a visitor in the city Friday for a few hours attending to some matters at the court house.

GRISWOLD HERE OCT. 25

Dwight Griswold, republican candidate for governor will make an appearance in Plattsmouth on October 25 at 5 o'clock. On an extensive tour which will carry him to all communities in the state before election, Mr. Griswold has met and talked personally with thousands of farmers, ranchers, workers, and business men since the beginning of his campaign, discussing the various phases of the state's governmental issues.

Mr. Griswold is equipped with a sound truck and talks at numerous open air meetings in order to reach as many of the voters as possible. This will likely be his only appearance in Plattsmouth before November 5th. He will speak in about thirty Nebraska towns throughout the week.

RED CROSS NOTES

While the people of the United States are concerned about registration day the American Red Cross is concerned about the added responsibility which it will bring to that organization. There will have to be added home service workers and added field workers, more accident prevention workers, more first aid workers trained, more garments sewed or knitted by the American women, and more surgical dressings for use overseas and at home. All this is added to the regular peace time program, so there must be more members added to the roll of the Red Cross this year. Keep this in mind. November 10 will be the first roll call day.

MRS. THOMAS MURTEY.

Publicity Chairman.

"INVITATION"

Anyone who would enjoy the companionship of club women who work in the interest of the community is more than welcome to come and join with the Plattsmouth Women's club. Besides the joy of being of service to others there are worthwhile spiritual values of association to be gained in no other way. Just attend a meeting and make known your desire to any member. The second meeting of the year will be in the Hotel Plattsmouth dining room at 8 o'clock, October 21. Woman's club dues are $1 a year.

HUGHSONS HAVE SON

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hughson are parents of a son, born October 15, at their home at 714 Ave. D. They have named the baby Robert Kenneth.

Woman's Club Scrapbook is a Prize Winner

Plattsmouth Scrapbook Compiled by Miss Fern Jahrig, Declared Winner at Norfolk.

Probably the most thrilled person in the state of Nebraska is Miss Fern Jahrig, who compiled the Golden Jubilee scrapbook that took first prize in the individual club scrapbook contest at the state convention of Federated Women's clubs, held at Norfolk this week. Mrs. Sallie Orr Dunbar, the general federation president, paid high tribute to the beauty and completeness of this scrapbook. The book is exquisitely neat and in keeping with the golden jubilee, since its pages are pure white and each newspaper clipping has a border of gold paper. Even the writing is done with gold ink.

The clippings are arranged as to months and the letters of the months are cut out of gold paper and are placed at the head of the page. First rule of the scrapbook contest was that the one with the most publicity items would have first consideration, so the Plattsmouth Women's club feels very grateful to the Plattsmouth Journal for the many many inches of publicity given the club during their Golden Jubilee celebration. It, too, has a share in the honor of this scrapbook winning first prize.

The cash value of the prize is not much—$2.50, and this is divided between the Junior and Senior clubs, but the honor is great and Plattsmouth should be proud. This scrapbook is now eligible to compete with the winning individual club scrapbook from the other 47 states, so it will be sent to the triennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs at Atlantic City next April.

This scrapbook will be on display for a few days beginning Tuesday in the window of Wescott's clothing store, and it will also be shown Monday night at the meeting of the Woman's club.

VISIT IN THE CITY

Paul Gerard of Weeping Water and Henry Wendt of near Elmwood were in the city Thursday for a short time to look after some matters of business. They are among the large group of the farmers of the county urging the submission of the referendum on the farm bureau appropriation at the November election.
