The guests comprised Mrs. Julia Padnos, Mr. and Mrs. John Langdon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Padnos, who were married just last week. The group at the Lorenz home were very much surprised that evening when a long-distance telephone call from Baltimore, Maryland, revealed that the honored guests' aunt, Miss Marie Prohaska desired to speak to the Californians.

During the evening the group journeyed to the Herold apartment, where they surprised the honored guests' grandmother, Mrs. Ferdinand Prohaska and their aunt, Miss Rose Prohaska.

Fortunately, Mrs. McCartney was at home and her presence of mind and quick action of herself and neighbors had the fire out before the firemen arrived.

It's a crime to be indoors, at work, these evenings when there are such beautiful ever-changing pictures in the western sky. The great master painter has indeed been lavish with his colors, and his brush has worked fast, dipping here and there from a riot of colors, blending and changing, forming new pictures, each one more beautiful than the last, until the sun sinks below the horizon and the sky becomes tinged with dusky hues.

Diers, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Mike McLaughlin, candidate for attorney general, were also present and gave short talks.

Mr. Carpenter presented his platform clearly and left the impression of being deeply in earnest in all that he said.

He expressed himself as wanting to find a better way to relieve the condition of the children, aged and blind folks in the state, and to plan old age retirement benefits for our teachers, who now are getting an average of less than sixty dollars per month.

He believes that the farmers' opportunity for organizing has been a fine thing for them.

Referring to a speech of his which was quoted in part recently in newspaper advertisements, he said: "If there is one thing about which a man is sensitive, it is the questioning of his patriotism," and he asked people to withhold judgment until by press and by radio, the whole story will be told not later than October 27th.

THANKS OUR MANY FRIENDS

When we sustained a broken arm, while cranking our auto several weeks ago, the injury prevented our working, and we wish to especially thank the Plattsmouth Journal, for the compensation insurance which they carry, not alone for us but for all their employees, which has taken care of our living expenses, also to the many friends who have so kindly furnished news and done so many other kindnesses to us and the Journal. Again we thank you.
