Jean Brady is Married Tuesday to Ellis Brown

Early Evening Ceremony United Plattsmouth Girl and Omaha Man—To Live in Omaha.

From Wednesday's Daily—Miss Jean Catherine Brady, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Brady, and Ellis Brown, Jr., son of Ellis G. Brown, Sr., of Columbus, were married at a quiet ceremony at 5:30 last evening at the First Presbyterian manse with Rev. Harry G. McClusky officiating.

Miss Brady (Now Mrs. Ellis Brown) descends from a prominent Cass county family. Her parents now reside in Omaha while her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Leyda have lived in Cass county for over fifty years. Her maternal grandfather has been an attorney-at-law and abstractor in this city for many years. Her paternal grandparents, now deceased, were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brady. The former Miss Brady received her high school training in Plattsmouth and she graduated in 1937. Of royal heritage, she served as princess in the court of the King Korn Carnival in 1937 when Mrs. William Nelson (Miss Eleanor Swatek) and Arthur Hill were Kornland's monarchs.

The couple were married in the presence of the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Moore, Ashland; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hansen, Mrs. Gale Knight, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Leyda and Howard Hinz, Plattsmouth.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Geraldine Griffin Hinz, Plattsmouth, and the groomsmen were Gale Knight of Omaha.

For her wedding the bride chose a slate green dress with a bolero jacket. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Hinz' green and beige dress had a tight-fitting bodice and short skirt. Wearing a valour hat, Mrs. Hinz' accessories and corsage matched those of the bride.

An eightsome dinner party at the Hotel Plattsmouth dining room followed the ceremony at the manse. Members of the bridal party and a very few close friends attended the dinner. Others present, in addition to the bridal party, were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hansen, Mrs. Gale Knight, and Howard Hinz.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left last evening for Kansas City, Missouri, where their short honeymoon is to be spent. They plan to return this week-end. Mr. Brown is an employee of the Union Pacific railroad in Omaha.

PRaises LOCAL PLAYER

Nebraska City fans saw the best back Friday night the Pioneers have looked at all season, including the flashy Don James at Falls City. This boy Yelick, a big, rugged, powerful kid shredded the Pioneer line early in the first and kept it that way throughout the contest. He runs hard, blocks crisply and is a workhorse on defense. He's big enough for college ball.

James has the edge in passing, although this edge may be the result of better receivers, but Yelick is the better in other departments of the game. Particularly blocking and defensive play. His extra weight gives him a wide edge into the line.—Nebraska City News-Press.

Local Farm Suffers Loss of Many Turkeys

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Perry Have Between 300 and 400 Choice Birds Killed During Storm.

The sudden snow and sleet storm driven by a heavy wind took a great toll of the turkeys on the farms of Nebraska, one of the local farms being a very heavy loser in the storm effects.

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Perry at their farm south of this city have in the past summer raised a large flock of turkeys having in the neighborhood of 2,500 birds on the large range at the farm.

The sudden change in the temperature late Sunday night and early Monday morning caught the birds wet and soon they were covered with ice that weighted them down and from the effects of which it is estimated by the owners that they will lose somewhere between 300 and 400.

The condition of the turkeys was discovered early Monday morning and a desperate attempt made to save as many as possible from their plight. Fifteen men from the neighboring farms with three trucks were pressed into service to move the birds to the barns on the farm and many were taken for care to the basement of the farm home. Many of the turkeys weighed from fourteen to twenty pounds and would have been on the market in a few weeks.

All effort is being carried on to save the ones that had not been beyond aid when removed and a constant watch is kept on the surviving birds sheltered in the barns to keep them from crowding and smothering. Several guineas were also killed by the effects of the freezing.

The birds were covered by insurance and the loss will not be severe, but represents the loss of several months of care and work in rearing them.

SPECIAL ARMISTICE SERMON

Nearly a score of Legion members attended the special Armistice service at the Methodist church Sunday morning when Rev. J. C. Lawson spoke on "Our Debt to Life." Preceding the sermon, Phyllis Bourck sang "I am an American," and the choir rendered a special number, "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem."

Rev. Lawson said too many accept the blessings of our freedom without realizing the sacrifices that have been made to acquire it.

"Many say we are a nation grown soft," he declared. Warning that the preservation of our democracy could not be achieved by squaring off into groups, he urged national unity as between capital and labor, and the different religious and racial groups. "Back of all the privileges we enjoy," he said, "we find crosses symbolizing that men gave their lives to create those rights, which we must stand united to retain."

In concluding the service the audience joined in singing "God Bless America."
