Elmwood

By Journal Field Representative

The Albert Printz family have located at Dunbar, where they are engaged in the produce business. They like their new home fine.

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Dearing of Onawa, Iowa, were in Elmwood last Sunday, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Greene and other friends.

Wellington Dennis went to Murray to undergo the physical examination required of those draft registrants who have been classified for early call to a year's service.

The little two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Nickels, stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stanton last Wednesday while his parents were in Lincoln on business.

Ralph Streeter, brother of Mrs. J. P. Cobb, came from his home in California to attend the funeral of his sister and visit relatives and friends very briefly before returning to his home in the west.

Fred Weicheidt, who lives between Elmwood and Wabash, was in town last Wednesday and reported the snow fifteen inches deep in the corn fields and wet enough to furnish a lot of needed moisture.

Charles E. Wood, who has recovered from a recent illness and Mrs. V. C. Clements were in charge of business at the Bothwell store while Mr. and Mrs. Bothwell and daughter, Miss Jean Adair, were in Lincoln one day last week.

Charles Schaefer of Murdock, who has long been an employee of the Trunkholz Oil company of Lincoln, was in Elmwood on last Wednesday supplying local bulk customers and filling the tanks at the McCrorey service station.

Shorty West, the trucker, was able to pick up four hogs at an attractive price last week and brought them home. Wednesday the porkers were butchered, one of them being sold to Edward Ernest, while the other three were divided among the men who did the butchering, Mr. West, Doan Stark and W. W. Coatman.

Paul Enterline of North Bend has advised his brother David of the serious condition of their mother, Mrs. Sarah Enterline, who has been growing gradually weaker since the recent stroke which she suffered. David was there to visit his mother some time ago, finding her then seemingly some better, but now the word has come that her condition is very serious.

Celebrated Christmas Sunday

Christmas was celebrated yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. West, with their daughter, Catherine, who is employed in Lincoln and Kenneth, who is located at Wichita, both able to get away and spend the day with their parents. So they just took a head jump on old Santa and moved the festive day up some 48 hours—which seems about as sensible after all as moving up Thanksgiving day a full week.

Helped Those in Trouble

With the snow deep on the highways and streets, it was not unusual for truckers and car drivers to become stalled and need assistance to get going. And for the most part, assistance was readily forthcoming. A case of turn about was when the writer loaned the old faithful snow shovel we carry with us to the meat wagon driver and a little later found ourselves in a like predicament and needing help, which we received.

To Improve Phone Service

Arrangements are being made to improve the telephone service by the installation of new equipment in the exchange here. Workmen are now busy on the line in town and those radiating into the country, preparing for the installation of the new system.

Moving to Topeka, Kansas

Roy Rosenow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rosenow, of Murdock, who has been engaged in farming, having found the dry years very unproductive, recently attended a school of welding in Lincoln and for some time has been working for the government in national defense work at Topeka, Kansas. Last Saturday he held a sale, disposing of his farming equipment, and the family will locate there. Mrs.

"Robber or Preacher"

Johnny had been piffing brass and copper, which he sold to junk dealers. Since he possessed natural ability for leadership, the Juvenile Court sought to ascertain the underlying cause for the ten-year-old's conduct and remedy it. Only future guidance and resulting behavior would make him a gangster or a useful citizen.

In a wholly undesirable locality, above a small grocery store, was Johnny's home, consisting of two tiny rooms. His father and mother were divorced; and the father, although earning a good salary, contributed nothing toward the support of mother and son. The mother worked at odd jobs, cleaning houses and doing washes.

The neighborhood offered nothing inspiring to Johnny. The only place for him to play was the street; the only place for him to spend the evenings was the dingy, empty home. His only companions were two boys who came from homes similar to his; and nowhere, outside of the class room, were there any standards of mainly conduct or examples of fine character for him to pattern after.

It was not difficult to comprehend the cause of the boy's wrongdoing, nor to surmise whither he was drifting. It seemed hopeless, in his environment, to instill in him cleanliness of thought and speech, conceptions of personal honesty. He might have been committed to an institution, but eventually he must return home. If success were to be achieved, the home must be reconstructed.

To accomplish this it was necessary to secure control over the family. A complaint was filed against the father, charging him with non-support of his wife and child. He was given his choice of one of two courses; stand trial and, if convicted, serve a term in the penitentiary; or contribute toward the support of his dependents. He chose the latter, agreeing to contribute $10.00 weekly for this purpose.

We then took Johnny in hand, instructing him as to the morals of the situation and stressing the serious consequences of crime on his own character. A minister became interested in the case and enrolled Johnny in a live Sunday school class. The mother was induced to move to a better section of town, the action made possible by the $10.00 per week contributed by the father.

From that time on Johnny spent his leisure hours in normal boys' play in the companionship of his Sunday school classmates. A successful business man became his "big brother" and augmented the work of the court by encouragement and advice, filling, to some extent, the place which Johnny's father should have held.

Because of the co-operation of mother, minister, "big brother," and the county attorney who changed the mind of the neglectful father, the regeneration of Johnny was effected. He has been graduated from high school and is now enrolled in a theological seminary.

Rosenow is remaining in Murdock until the household goods are in place and will then join her husband in the Kansas city.

Christmas Eve in Elmwood Extensive preparations are being made to make Christmas eve a gala occasion in Elmwood. Lights and decorations have been installed and a large Christmas tree provided from around which gifts will be distributed. It will be one of those good old fashioned Christmases and everyone is planning on a fine time. The Cass county Ladies chorus, under direction of Mrs. J. R. Reeder and a group of men's voices under direction of V. C. Clements will be heard rendering Christmas carols and other musical numbers.

Treats will be distributed to all the children and the true Christmas spirit will be prevalent. Remember this will be Tuesday evening on the streets and plan to be among the large number who turn out for the occasion.

Young Folks "Adopt" Baby Among the young folks belonging to the Elmwood Christian church, the subject of home missions is an important one and considered a part of their regular work for the benefit of humanity. At their meeting of last Tuesday afternoon, in addition to an exchange of gifts, they arranged for the sending of a fine gift to one of the children at the Child Saving Institute in Omaha. They have in a way "adopted" this baby and will see that it enjoys its full share of Christmas cheer. This is a very fine thing and the young folks are to be congratulated on their interest in the welfare of others rather than themselves.

Last Sunday at the Methodist church in Elmwood, of which she had long been an active member, funeral services were held for Mrs. John P. Cobb, whose death occurred a few days previous. Interment was in the Elmwood cemetery beside the remains of her husband, who preceded her in death.

Rev. Samuel Beechner, pastor of the Methodist church at Exeter and the father of Milton Beechner, of Lincoln, conducted the funeral services, having officiated in a like capacity at the funeral of her husband some time ago.

Mrs. Cobb, who was a sister of Mrs. Bess Streeter Aldrich, had resided in Elmwood for many years, being 82 years of age at the time of her death. Her late husband, with others of the community, was one of the officers of the American Exchange Bank, until a few years ago, when he stepped out to make room for younger persons on the board. Sympathy is extended the relatives in their hour of sorrow.

Last evening at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Lowson occurred the marriage of Cecil A. Matney and Marcia J. Brown, both of Shenandoah, Iowa. The young couple after the wedding ceremony departed for their home in the Iowa city.

The State Federation is organized in a similar manner to that of the General Federation, having department chairmen appointed by the president who carry out the program of the General Federation chairman.

In the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. C. R. Caley of Springfield, is president, and there are twenty departments as follows: Art, conservation, county federation, drama, education, Indian welfare, international relations, Juniors and youths, law observance and safety, legislation, library service, literature, motion pictures, music, present publicity, public and child welfare, radio, rural clubs, and rural life.

Mrs. L. S. Devoe is the state chairman of American Home, Plattsmouth Woman's club has had only one other state chairman and that was Mrs. E. H. Westcott, who has had three state chairmanships—music, program, and community service. Plattsmouth has had one other great club woman, Mrs. Belle Stoutenborough, the third president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs and the mother of the very worthwhile library movement. Many Women's clubs exist or come into being for the sole purpose of supporting the library. The newest club in the district in Penuet, Nebraska organized for the express purpose of founding a library. Plattsmouth Woman's club has always been interested in the library and contribute at least one book every year.

The state chairmen have a great deal of correspondence, and the state budget allows them only fifteen dollars a year to take care of their expenses of postage and travel. Any one knows that with this small allowance they must give much of their time as well as their money to this labor of love. Cass county has one other state chairman, Mrs. Ray Norris of Weeping Water, who is state chairman of American Citizenship, which is closely tied up to that of the American Home department.

The total membership of the Nebraska Federation is 14,699 and the total number of clubs is 358, thirty-five of which are Junior clubs. In addition there are ten Junior clubs in the state functioning as departments, which is the ideal way as because then each Junior and Senior club member has the benefit of the society of both groups—all for the same price of one dollar a year club dues, and in this way the work of the Woman's club is more closely knit.

South High Turns Back Blue Devils

Locals Lose to Tall and Hard Scraping South Omaha Quintet by Score of 46 to 24.

From Friday's Daily—

The Blue Devils of P. H. S. played their hearts out for 32 minutes last evening and dropped a 46-24 decision to Omaha South on the Packer floor. Several facts contributed to the loss, the main one being a six foot four inch guard in "Chuck" Foehlinger who dropped in 15 points. Wednesday's game with Tech took an enormous amount of the Blue Devils' stamina as well as rendering as practically useless a very important cog in the Blue and White offense. It was in the Tech game that Jim Yelick aggravated an old football injury to his leg. This slowed him up to such an extent that he could garner only two points. Joe Noble regained some of his last year's form and led the Blue Devils with eight points followed by Don Martin with seven counters. Paul Orchard was second best for the Packers, dumping in 10 points.

South jumped into an early lead and never relinquished it, leading 8-5 at the quarter, and 19-12 at the half. The score was 34-17 at the finish of the third quarter. Besides shaking Foehlinger loose time and again South set up a zone defense that couldn't be pierced with the aid of a squadron of dive bombers. Johnny Fountain, colored Packer guard, played a great ball game, as did Davis and Shiffer for the Blue and White. Lars Larson saw action at forward, and Joe McMaken showed up well in his first varsity appearance.

There is very little one can say about the game as a whole. It was South all the way, and the tired and crippled Blue Devils could not do much more than play their hearts out for a lost cause. "Connie" Collins, South coach, admitted that "This was the best we've played in any game thus far this season."

CHOSEN IDEAL STUDENT

Relatives and friends of Miss Jean Goodchild, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Goodchild, who reside in Los Angeles, California, were surprised to learn that she was chosen as the ideal student of her school. Jean is a freshman and the competition was keen, because she was selected out of an enrollment of more than one thousand students. The honor and recognition given her was indeed a happy note to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Horn of Plattsmouth. Jean, with her mother, visited here with relatives this summer, and the young lady was entertained at numerous parties by her friends.
