Wesleyan Male Choir Pays Visit to Plattsmouth

Fine Musical Program Offered to Large Audience at the First Methodist Church.

The Nebraska Wesleyan University male chorus and a cappella choir paid a visit to this city Monday evening as a part of their tour of this section of the west, giving an unusual opportunity to the music lovers of this section.

The group was under the direction of Professor Oscar Bennett, whose skillful leadership has added to the great success of the group. Mrs. Geraldyn Walrath Bennett served as the violin soloist and as the accompanist for a few of the numbers.

The chorus comprised twenty-three very talented musicians who gave their message in song artistically and impressively.

Dr. A. V. Hunter, former pastor of the First Methodist church of this city field secretary of the university, was with the party and presented the chorus to the large audience.

Solos were given by Ross Mendell, tenor in "Hills of Home" and Gordon Roberts, pianist, while Paul Johnson, one of the readers of the university school of speech, gave a very clever humorous recitation.

The male quartet gave three numbers, their well blended voices making a great hit and also their offerings being filled with humor. In this group was Ross Mendell, Ernest Metzger, Don Bowen and Glenn Druiliner. The quartet gave "Poor Old Lazarus," "Little Red Drums" and "Alexander."

The a cappella chorus was one of the best of its kind that has been heard in the city a wonderfully blended tone poem in the various selections that were presented. In the opening half of the program the chorus gave "Stout Hearted Men," "Wesleyan Songs," "The Gospel Ship," "Boots" and "I Won't Kiss Watsy," an old world folk song. In this group of selections the chorus and Mr. Mendell gave "The Night Is Young" most impressively.

The second portion of the concert was devoted to sacred selections, these given with only the light of the candles on the platform and the illuminated cross to add an impressive touch. The lovely "Cherish Hymn" was one of these and the magnificent selection from "The Creation," as arranged by Richter. The concert was closed with the hymn, "Salvation is Created," given in a manner that held in rapt attention the entire audience.

The musical organization this morning gave a program at the Bellevue church.

THREE NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

A new and timely book just added to the pay shelf at the public library is "To Sing with the Angels" by Maurice Hindus. This novel is a moving story of the Czechoslovak people, as they were and as they lived in their grandeur in the old days and as they are now fighting their way for the repossession of their souls and bodies. It is a living document of our age.

Books added to the shelves for general use are "As I Remember Him" by Hans Zinsser. It is an informal biography of a physician who was a philosopher, a poet, and a good friend. "Treasury of the World's Greatest Letters," a grand collection of letters from early historical time to the present. Lincoln Schuster is the author.

TO ASSIST TAXPAYERS

In order that assistance and information regarding the federal old-age and survivors insurance program of the Social Security act may be given to wage earners and the relatives of deceased wage earners; a representative from this field office will be at the Plattsmouth post office on Wednesday, March 26, 1941, between the hours of 2 and 3 p. m.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

Cass county is one of the very few counties in Nebraska not now participating in the school lunch program. There are 35,000 Nebraska children eating lunches served to them each day in Nebraska schools. Surplus agricultural commodities are made available to these schools through the Nebraska department of state assistance and child welfare. These foods have been purchased by the Surplus Marketing Administration for free distribution to eligible schools. Many of these nourishing foods which include flour, corn meal, lard, eggs, pork products, fresh fruits and vegetables have been purchased in Nebraska resulting in considerable benefit to Nebraska farmers and processors of food products.

These community school lunch programs now in operation in Nebraska schools have been made possible through the co-operative efforts of local groups, as civic clubs, the boards of education, department of state assistance and child welfare, WPA, and the Surplus Marketing Administration. Commodities from the Surplus Marketing Administration are available for school lunches in Cass county.

Several schools in towns of the county have been interested in this school lunch program but for one reason or another, the final steps have not been taken. Although the school term is more than half over, there is still time to accomplish much in the way of helping under-nourished children by giving them the opportunity to participate in school lunches.
