

Platters Win from South Hi by 8 to 4 Score

Noble Goes Route for Locals and Team Mates with Timely Hitting Take the Lead.

Monday afternoon at Athletic park the Platters defeated "Zip" Lowrey's Southside Packers by the score of 8 to 4. Noble, Platter hurler, was master of the situation throughout and with some very fine support from the rest of the team in the field and at the stick. Noble allowed eight hits, walked two, struck out five.

South used three hurlers in an effort to check the hitting of Parriott, captain of the locals, Harry Shiffer, Noble and Petet. South had been doped as one of the best teams in the Omaha city loop.

In the opening inning Redden led off for South and popped to Shiffer at third base; Cherek fled to Petet for the second out; Jaksick doubled, going to third on a passed ball; McCawley was walked and Jaksick came home on Chovance's miscue. Foral was out. Noble to Hill to close the half inning.

In the Platter half of the opener Martin grounded out, Cherek to Conway; Captain Parriott doubled, Noble singled, Parriott taking third base. Harry Shiffer then poked the sphere for a two bagger that scored both Parriott and Noble. The single of Jerry Petet scored Shiffer to place the locals out in front. This closed the scoring until the last half of the third.

In the third Parriott was walked to first, Noble was whiffed, Shiffer was safe at first on a fielder's choice and Parriott beat out the play at second to be safe. Petet then led up the game with a double that scored both Parriott and Shiffer. Chovance singled with Petet taking third, but Chovance was out stealing second. Hill fled to Cherek.

Going into the fourth inning, Plattsouth leading five to one, South scored. Foral tripled and came in on Parriott's bad throw. Conway popped to Shiffer, Luksa singled, Straley was out Parriott to Hill. Alliano batted for Macaitis, and singled, Luksa going to third base and Alliano stole second. Redden grounded to Shiffer who threw the runner out to Hill at first base.

In the Plattsouth half of the fourth Volance was sent in to hurl for the visitors and Nielsen, first up, lined to Luksa, Viniduka was passed to first, Eaton running for the player. Martin was struck out and Parriott singled, Eaton scoring on the hit. Noble doubled to bring Grover over the plate. Petet struck out.

In the first of the fifth Cherek doubled, went to third on a wild pitch, Jaksick popped out to Parriott, McCawley struck out, Foral singled to score Cherek. Conway fled out to Shiffer to leave the score 7 to 3 for the Platters.

In the last of the fifth Golda was sent to the mound for South, but the Platters were able to check over the last score. Chovance fled out to Redden, Hill doubled, pilfered third and came home on Luksa's error. Nielsen and Tom Gradoville fanned to retire the side.

In the sixth frame the South team scored their final tally on the terrific homer of Luksa that closed the scoring.

"Using Witnessing Power"

Acts 2:1-4, 8-20.

Next to the records of our Lord's glorious incarnation, his redemptive work and mighty resurrection, there is no passage anywhere in the New Testament more important for an understanding of the whole history of the Christian church and its beginning than that section assigned for our lesson, in the book of the Acts. And the origin, influence and spread of the Church of Jesus Christ, which is the greatest going institution in the world, should bring a new conviction to every member, that she is born in the agony of prayer, planted in the heart of men filled with the Holy Spirit; hence she is invincible, indestructible—God lives in her. Her work of evangelizing the world is carried on by men in witnessing to what they have seen and heard, and have experienced the power of God in transforming their lives; only such men are fit to represent Christ and preach the everlasting Gospel; no others need apply. God cannot use them, they would be only "as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."

On Pentecost, fifty days after the resurrection of Jesus, this great event took place; one hundred and twenty souls were filled with the Holy Ghost, baptized, empowered for the great work, for which Christ had laid the foundation, the bringing of a new order into being; to build a kingdom in which he would be the king, having absolute control of his subjects.

The winning of recruits is the work of the church, and that is done by volunteers, not conscripts; not for reward, but the love for Christ constraining them; not worldly wise but men and women who are reborn and endowed with power from on high. For a proper understanding of the procedure for success, we study this lesson.

Pentecost precedes the work. Every worker has of necessity need of Pentecost; because without the indwelling Spirit, he is without life, light and love; these are the prerequisites of a witness for Christ. These men had the schooling, they had graduated, but Jesus said, "Go back to Jerusalem . . . and wait."

To begin at Jerusalem, where seven weeks before a frenzied mob had clamored for the blood of an innocent man, took courage and boldness which these timid souls did not possess, for they met behind locked doors. To speak and preach to people who had tried to stop the spread of "that way," and had not shrunk from even the commission of murder, was to take their lives into their own hands. But look as these men after their hearts are set afire . . . nothing could stop them; they indicted the powerful Sanhedrin of murder and proved it. These otherwise unlearned men confused and confounded the learned rulers. The Holy Spirit taught them what to say; and their preaching brought conviction and a longing for salvation. That is what we would see today, if our leaders were filled with Holy Ghost.

If the church has lost her power, as it is claimed today, would not a Pentecost restore it? We have witnessed the time when people were converted in the weekly prayer-meeting, and in the regular Sunday services; we heard more positive preaching that brought conviction. The generalities and platitudes we hear these days do not stir anybody to action.

When Peter concluded his sermon, the people "were pricked in their hearts"; they did not call these enthusiasts "drunk with wine." Now they are "Men and Brethren"—that is quite a change. Then came that momentous question, "What shall we do?" Peter can answer: "Repent!" It was the burden of John, the Baptist's preaching; it was what Jesus preached; it was what the Apostles preached; and the result was a real conversion.

That is the condition imposed on every sinner; an acknowledgment of guilt, a sorrow for sin, a plea for mercy, then God can pardon, forgive and be merciful; the change brings peace, joy and eternal life to the sinner; now he becomes a saint, a child of God, and heir in the kingdom; he becomes a recruit, a volunteer, a witness for Christ; courageously, boldly he testifies to what God has done for him and in him. He is grafted into the vine and is a branch that bears fruit to the honor and glory of God. That is building the kingdom by adding living stones into the structure.

Sad to say that the church has lost her power as a witness—the testimony meeting was a great source of spiritual inspiration in former days. Why is it discarded? Have her members nothing to say for their Lord? Do the converts have an experience like the members of the primitive church? Have they only "second hand religion"? Have they only the word and assurance of the evangelist or preacher that they are converted; do they not know that they have passed from death unto life?

College Students May Find Places in the Army

Those Who Wish to Volunteer for a Year May Find Vacancies Available in Summer

Students of colleges and universities who wish to volunteer this summer for one year's training under the Selective Training and Service act in order that they may be ready to resume their collegiate careers in the autumn of 1942 may be assured that there will be ample vacancies for them in the army during the summer months.

That is the gist of the statement made by Brigadier General Guy N. Henninger, state director of Selective Service.

General Henninger's statement was based on information from national headquarters of the Selective Service System which quoted the following letter received by national headquarters from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

"In reply to the inquiry concerning the acceptance by the war department of students who may wish to volunteer for training next summer, the department is certain that there will be ample vacancies in the army during the months of June, July, August and September to accommodate all students who desire to begin their service during that period."

General Henninger pointed out that the one-year volunteer inductions are made through the local Selective Service boards and that anyone wishing to volunteer for a year should present himself to his local board. Three-year enlistments, on the other hand, are under jurisdiction of regular army recruiting officers.

Farmers Much Interested in Pegged Prices

Announcement of Supported Prices on the Market by the Government Draws Close Study.

Cass county farmers now are studying over the recent announcement from the U. S. department of agriculture that certain farm commodity prices are to be supported on the market. Under the provisions of the lend-lease bill, about $1,350,000,000 has been designated for the purchase of concentrated food products and also industrial products, according to information just received at the Farm Bureau office.

The main food products involved will be pork, lard, evaporated milk, butter, cheese, dried eggs, dried beans and dried fruits. Nebraska farmers will want to cooperate in producing the products desired but they will want to carry on their production on a sound basis so they can realize a fair return on their investments and efforts.

Livestockmen at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture say the outlook for 1941 indicated favorable markets for spring and early fall. The present corn-hog ratio is favorable. As a result, they anticipate increased interest among Nebraska farmers in purchasing of breeding stock and bred gilts for fall litters. According to County Extension Agent W. H. Waldo farmers have already bought most of the sows that are available to produce spring litters. Many farmers are inquiring at the office for information as to location of breeding stock. The market, it is indicated, will be supported at $9, Chicago.

Nebraska hog numbers are still down and the livestockmen say by the time farmers here build up on a level with neighboring states, the picture might change. The soundest philosophy seems to be "grow in" rather than "buy in." In other words buying a few head of good breeding stock and increasing the herd from the production will probably be less expensive. Farmers should use caution also as far as disease is concerned.

The preliminary announcement indicated the price of butter is to be supported at 31 cents per pound.

The present butter-fed price ratio in Nebraska is favorable to Nebraska dairymen. Numbers of milk cows on Nebraska farms on January 1 of this year was 2 per cent greater than the same time in 1940 but 5 per cent less than the preceding 10-year average. These, plus other factors, make it appear favorable for expansion of dairy production in Nebraska, dairymen at the College of Agriculture say. The soundest basis would be one of eliminating unprofitable producers from the milking herd, better feeding and management practices to step up production.

Dairymen also say that if the purchase of additional cows is contemplated, it would be well to determine the visible feed supply so as to assure proper feeding of the herd. The danger of disease should be carefully checked also, especially Bang's disease and mastitis.

Poultrymen at the College of Agriculture say the effect of the government stabilization of the prices for poultry and eggs will be an incentive for increased production. A "floor" of 15 cents for chickens and 22 cents per dozen for eggs on a Chicago basis will provide a reasonable assurance of a fair profit if good management is exercised.

Folks who have suitable equipment not now in use, and an adequate labor supply so that more chickens can be kept without hiring extra labor, may consider a slight expansion of their poultry enterprise. Since, however, there is no assurance of a long-time higher price level, one would hesitate to advise expansion if it called for new buildings and new equipment.
