Junior Chamber Enjoys Outing at Platte Bottom

Fine Group of Younger Community Business Men and Friends Have Fine Time.

From Tuesday's Daily— Last evening the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and a few friends threw dull care away for a passing hour or two, hastening in the pleasant spring twilight to the banks of the Platte river north of the city. Here by this placid stream, slowly flowing into the mighty Missouri, thence to the sea, the members of the group enjoyed their annual picnic party.

The friendly shelter of "The Shack" of W. R. Holly, afforded a fitting place of gathering, where as the twilight faded into night, the members gathered to spend the passing time at cards, Pinochle, pitch and other of the popular card games served to pass the time while merry stories also added their part to the evening's entertainment.

Not the least of the features of the evening was the luncheon, one that embraced many of the dainties to tempt the appetite as well as suitable beverages.

The Junior Chamber has had a very successful year, one that well deserved the pleasant social time along the Platte.

URGE BOXING PROGRAM

As a rule, summer weather isn't conducive to thoughts of indoor sports, but this year, everything seems to go backward, or something. Generally, boxing is a fall and winter sport, yet, there is group of young fellows in Plattsmouth, who are, even now, preparing for the fall amateur boxing tourneys.

At present, it appears that local entries for simeon pure boxing, will have to go to Falls City, even for the preliminaries and as so few of them have any means of transportation, the Plattsmouth entries may be few, in spite of the fact that there are quite a number of local enthusiasts.

Some time ago, there was a movement on foot, to have a license issued to one of the Plattsmouth incorporated organizations and have preliminary tourneys right here at home. This plan has seemingly floundered and nothing appears to have been done about it lately.

Why can't some of the local club men or business men, jump in and help Waldemar Soennichsen get this plan going and get former world's champion, Kid Graves to prepare a contingent of Plattsmouth's young boxers for a fall tourney, here in our home town?

BLUE DEVILS TO PLAY FRIDAY

The Plattsmouth Blue Devils who drew a bye in the opening round of the state high school baseball tournament, will meet the winner of the South-Lincoln fray.

South is favored to turn back the Lincoln team, encouraging the Blue Devils who defeated South in the first game of the year. If the locals win the South game they will be pitted against the winner of the Tech-Creighton Prep game.

The Blue Devils won four and dropped three games in the season, winning twice from Papillion, once from South and Louisville, losing to Omaha Central and twice to Tech.

Cass County Lamb and Wool Show

The first Cass County Lamb and Sheep Show will be held Friday, May 23rd starting at 1 p. m. The event will take place at the sale barn at Plattsmouth. Sheep growers may enter one pen of five market lambs produced by one farmer or enter three fleeces of wool from one flock, or both.

Best entries will represent Cass county at the Omaha Lamb and Wool Congress May 28th and 29th. Five sheep growers will be selected to go to Omaha as delegates.

Come to the show and learn more about what makes a good market lamb and when lambs should be sold for top prices.

Farmers are urged to pick out five of their best lambs and bring them to Plattsmouth, May 23rd. Lambs ready for market and not selected for the Omaha show may be sent to market from Plattsmouth. Walter Tolman will be on hand to help answer your question on marketing lambs and other sheep problems.

More Conservation Minded
Farmers throughout Nebraska are becoming more conservation minded.

For the state as a whole, approximately 5 1/2 times as much acreage of old crop land was seeded so permanent grasses in 1940, as in 1939, according to records of those participating in the AAA program each year.

Likewise, seed used last year in reseeding old pastures amounted to nearly four times as much as the seed used the previous year, and the acreage of pastures rested in 1940 was 140 per cent of the 1939 figure.

Commenting on this development, D. L. Gross, extension agronomist at the Nebraska College of Agriculture, said, "No higher type of soil conservation can be carried out than that of putting land back to permanent grass or preserving and improving grass land that is already established. Nebraska farmers are to be commended for the rapid forward strides they are taking in this respect."

3-Point Food for Defense Program

Local farmers and homemakers cooperating in the nationwide "Food for defense" program will have a three-point goal to work toward.

Essentials of a sound program which will benefit both the nation and the individual farm family include: (1) Convert feed into food; (2) Grow into livestock; (3) Feed the family for health.

Cooperation in the food-for-defense program will not mean any radical change for most Nebraska farm people. It simply means we'll all need to do a little better job than ever before in farming, home-making, or 4-H club work. Boys and girls can help by enrolling now in 4-H clubs to learn sound methods of food production and preservation, good citizenship and healthful living.

Homemakers can plan their part by raising more gardens, canning more food, helping cut down on waste, and planning healthful meals for their families. Farmers of course can step up production of such things as pork, dairy and poultry products by good feeding and good management.

These are practices which have been emphasized in the Farm-and-Home Living, and Pasture-Forage-Livestock, and 4-H club program.

Treat That Sorghum
It won't be long until some Cass county farmers will be planting grain or forage sorghums and now is the time to consider treating the seed for the control of kernel smut.

Sorghum seed may appear to be perfectly clean but it may have the seeds of spores of smut clinging to it. Directions for treating and a diagram for treaters are contained in Extension Circular 148, "Seed Treatment for Cereals," which farmers may obtain from the office.

The seed treatment costs about 2 cents a bushel. It is an inexpensive crop insurance.

4-H Club Enrollments
Four-H club enrollment for 1940 throughout the United States shows an increase over that of the previous year. Nearly 1 1/2 million boys and girls were listed as 4-H members. The increased enrollment thruout the country reflects more interest in 4-H work. Here in Cass county, a total of 428 boys and girls were in clubs last year. The 1941 enrollment drive is now on and the goal set is 500 members.

The 4 "H's" typify the training of head, hand, heart, and health. Over 8 million boys and girls have been members of 4-H clubs since the work became nationwide with the passage of the Smith-Lever Act of 1914.

4-H club training has had an important part in helping young people to assume their responsibilities as citizens and leaders of rural America. This year, their attention is focused on the program of national defense.

Recently organized 4-H clubs here include: Classy Homemakers, Mrs. Sterling Wiles of Weeping Water, leader; Learning to be a Home-maker, Mrs. L. W. Rase, Murdock, leader; The Tie-a-Knot Rope club, R. J. Grunwald, Union, leader, and Learning to Cook, Mrs. Leonard Doty, Weeping Water, leader.
