SPAGHETTI DID NOT ORIGINATE IN ITALY—Macaroni is believed to have been introduced into Italy by early Greek colonists. The Chinese were acquainted with the dish in pre-Italian times. This is the last explanation in the current series of ads that have been running the past year. We hope you have enjoyed them and found them informative.

DEAR FOLKS

By VAN

Cass en Masse—

Well, we are starting to look forward to the Cass county picnic. If our dope is correct, Kalifornian Kass Koumtians will stage a blitz on Bixby park in Long Beach, the second Sunday in June. Your reporter will try to grab news items between nunches of sandwiches.

Kards with Kelley—

Lawanna Kelley was hostess to the Nu Fu Jitters at the last April meeting of the club. Louise Graves won first prize, with second prize being won by Virginia Bullin.

It Happened in Hollywood—

In Hollywood, a street sponsors a radio program. The street is Hollywood boulevard, which sponsors a program over KMPF, called Hollywood Boulevard Quiz.

It's a man-on-the-street type of broadcast, but as can be expected of anything emanating from Hollywood, the Hollywood "man-on-the-street" isn't apt to be much like the average citizen.

For instance, we've heard interviews with a Filipino movie star, a Cherokee Indian princess, a gag writer for Bob Hope, an employee of Stan Laurel, a champion lady wrestler, a long distance bicycle champion, a movie director and writer. Such are the man-and-woman-on-the-street of Hollywood, although we must admit we did hear a Mrs. Sorenson from Omaha, once.

Hal Hodge, the announcer, says tradition has it that if one stands on the corner of Hollywood and Vine, long enough, everyone one ever knew, will pass. Sooon—we expect to hear somebody from Plattsmouth on Hollywood Boulevard Quiz, any day.

Here and There—

It has been moving day for the Guy Heils, Chris Bulins and Clyde Graves, all of whom are now living at new addresses in Burbank. At their new home, the Heils and Graves hosted the Bulls in an outdoor picnic, with fried chicken as the piece de resistance. Eus and Muriel McCrary have bought a lot in the valley and plan to build soon. Lawanna Kelley, Margaret Ann Vallery, Earl Taylor, with Harold and Martha Carrithers, paid a Sunday visit to Peggy Wiles. Ben McCarty, Bill Armstrong and Granville Sigler spent a recent Sunday in Burbank, visiting your reporter and other friends located here. Max Chandler and Donald Burcham were other Burbank visitors, the same day. We hear the Wally Reeds plan a Plattsmouth visit in June. And the Herb Minors are probably en route as we go to press. Glad Herb made a quick recovery from his recent appendectomy.

Fantastic Farms—

To a Cornhusker, accustomed to fields of corn, oats, wheat and alfalfa, some of the California "farms" seem a bit wierd. Take for instance, the lion farm at El Monte. Or, the alligator farm, the butterfly farm, the chinchilla farm, or even the ostrich farm. If a Nebraskan told people he was a lion farmer, they would say: "Yep, you are a lyn' farmer, all right." For in Nebraska, farms are really farms.

Surprise—

To honor his birthday, which occurred on May 11, Muriel McCrary arranged a surprise party at their home for Bus McCrary. The party, held on the evening of May 10, was attended by Douglas and Christine Bacon, Glendale, Woodrow and Ruth McWilliams, Purbank; Chris and Virginia Kellin, Bob and Margaret Rummel.

The Mailbag—

Our thanks are due to Floyd Shanzholtz for an interesting letter from the nation's capital. We note Marion Olson and Jack Barton (there are probably others since this was written) as recent recruits to the fast-growing Plattsmouth colony in Washington, D. C.

We think Floyd shames this column's roving reporter department, after reading that he has visited Jim and Lois Mead) Comstock of Barbenton, Ohio, and Midshipman John B. Livingston, Jr., of Annapolis.

As befitting the city from whence all defense orders stem, Washington is highly keyed up. Floyd writes: "These are certainly hectic, fast-moving days in Washington. The population is swelling about as fast as a bruise on the head. The city is crowded with government workers and the extra thousands of tourists make it worse. They 'staggered' the working hours of the different departments in an attempt to lessen the traffic." Ed. note—Just the same, Floyd, we'll trade you the Lockheed afternoon traffic blitz, sight unseen, for the jam in Washington.

Floyd's letter sort of sent the writer of this column into deep thought. We got to thinking of the Plattsmouth contingent in Philadelphia, working on defense orders; of the countless Plattsmouth boys working for Lockheed, Douglas and other aircraft companies building a strong air defense for our nation; of the many Plattsmouth people in the nation's capital, helping to coordinate our defense efforts.

Yes, we thought of all that, and then multiplied their efforts by all the other small towns in the U. S. that have furnished similar man and woman power to meet the national emergency. We came to the obvious but heart-warming conclusion that when Mr. Lincoln said this was a government of the people, by the people and for the people—he darn well knew what he was talking about.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Pipal, Jr.; Mrs. Earle Leonard of Plattsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. John Belek and Rita; Miss Alice Ratay; Mr. and Mrs. George Glup and Mollie; S. B. Ruffner and Elizabeth Anne Ruffner, of Omaha; William, Dorothy, Paul and Andrew Ruffner and the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ruffner.

Attorney D. O. Dwyer has returned home from Leon, Iowa, where he spent several days looking after some legal business. Mr. Dwyer reports the conditions in that section of Iowa seem much better and a great deal of activity.

YOUNG VOTERS' RECOGNITION

Patriotism and the obligations of a young voter will be stressed at the Citizenship program, which is to be held at Weeping Water this coming Sunday, May 18, in honor of young people of the community who have reached voting age the past year.

The program has just been announced by Mrs. Ray Norris, chairman of a committee which has full charge of the arrangements. It will be held at the new agricultural auditorium.

An effort will be made to get all new voters of the community to the auditorium that day, and to seat them on the platform. They are to be given recognition during the program, and will be presented certificates of citizenship.

The address is to be given by W. C. Rathke of Omaha, formerly of Glenwood, past state commander of the Iowa American Legion.

Boy Scouts in uniform will act as ushers and present the colors at the start of the ceremony. The High School orchestra directed by Jean G. Jones, will provide musical numbers and accompaniments for patriotic songs, and George Olive will be the bugler.

R. L. Dudley, company commander at the Cass CCC camp, is to administer the oath to the young citizens in the recognition ceremony.

Mayor Troy L. Davis of Weeping Water will present the certificates and the Girl Reserves are to lead in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The invocation is to be given by the Rev. W. D. Lenker and the benediction by the Rev. F. H. Snow.

It is hoped that a goodly number, particularly new citizens from this part of the county, will be able to attend the ceremonies, which are to be held at 2:30 o'clock.
