Weeping Water

By Journal Field Representative

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jorgensen were in Omaha Tuesday of this week, Jack having a load of cattle to deliver to the stockyards, while Mrs. Jorgensen was visiting with friends and both were looking after some business matters.

Tony Sudduth was in Omaha last Tuesday with a load of produce and brought a load of feed back with him.

Guy Hopkins has added to his transportation equipment a new four-door Plymouth, which he and the family are liking very much.

Mesdames W. L. Seybold and Margaret Brendel of Murray were visiting for a time in Weeping Water last Monday when they drove to Avoca to get Mr. Seybold and take him back to Murray and had gone to Avoca to look after some business early in the morning.

Miss Wilma Blackford of Friend, has been visiting in Weeping Water with friends for a number of days during this week, and while here has been guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Van Every, Fred Allen and wife and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Marklans, she being a friend of all the families. Miss Wilma remained for almost the entire week.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Meinske were in Omaha on Tuesday of this week and were enjoying the races.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jones of Lincoln where Mr. Jones is with the passenger department of the Burlington, were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of the parents of Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jones of Weeping Water, they all enjoying a very fine visit.

Spencer J. Marshall who was very poorly for several weeks has been showing much improvement and is now manifesting much of the pep which was his before the illness came. Congratulations, Spencer, with your other friends are pleased with the improvement of your health.

Heman Brunkow was a business visitor at Greenwood and the northern portion of Cass county where he was looking after some business matters.

Have Excellent Room Now

The AAA offices which have been located in the Farm Bureau, has secured the room which was constructed for the Michelsen Variety store, but since the building of the new and larger building for the store has been left for other uses. This is a very nice room for the office, having skylights for better light and excellent ventilation, and a very desirable room for both summer and winter.

Married at the Parsonage

One day last week came Mr. Leonard Frizzle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frizzle of Weeping Water and Miss Gladys Tyler of Sterling, with the necessary permit, and were united in marriage by the Rev. W. D. Lenker. The young folks departed for a short wedding trip, and when they return will reside in Weeping Water where they groom is employed.

Attended Wedding at Murdock

Mrs. A. H. Jones was over to Murdock Monday of this week where she was attending the wedding of a niece, Miss Dorothy Gorthey, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Gorthey. Mrs. Jones remained for another day. A fuller account of the wedding appears elsewhere in this paper.

To Celebrate the Fourth

But few communities nowadays set aside the Fourth of July for a special program as in other days. The older people remember when boys and girls they began saving their nickels and pennies, that they might go to the picnic ground on the Fourth of July and buy the five-cent prize package or ride, on what we now call the merry-go-round, but then called the merry swing or "Flying Dutchman," as well as the other amusements of the other days which delighted the hearts of the youngsters.

Well there is to be a picnic at the park in Weeping Water Friday, July 4th when all the features of the old time celebration except the Spread Eagle speech will be had at the park all day, with fireworks.

Hand Nearly Well

Dr. W. H. Tuck, who several weeks ago was severely injured when he received a severe cut on one of his hands while operating on an animal he was treating, has been showing rapid improvement. For some time the doctor has been unable to do any work, but recently with the rapid improvement has been looking after the business. He expected to be entirely well in a short time.

Will Remain Until Fall

The children of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Moore who drove to California a short time ago and have been stopping near Glendale, write they expect to remain during the summer and until fall. They will return in time, however, to take up their school work, and they are to teach in Cass county again the coming school year. They are employed there which enables them to defray expenses while enjoying their vacation.

Found Good Prospects for Wheat

While Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wiseman were in the western portion of the state and were visiting and looking after business at Broken Bow and vicinity their attention was attracted to the universal good appearance of the wheat fields in that vicinity. They have been advised since returning home that the wheat is ripening nicely and will make an excellent harvest. Wheat harvest is slightly later there than here.

Move to Weeping Water

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Oelone who have made their home at Sidney, Iowa, where Mr. Oelone has been with the Gamble store of that place, have moved to Weeping Water and Mr. Oelone has accepted a position with the local Gamble store. The new family has moved here and are nicely located and are liking Weeping Water as a place to live.

Tyler-Friesel Wedding

Leonard Walter Friesel of Weeping Water and Gladys Tyler of Sterling, Nebraska, were married at the Methodist parsonage on Wednesday evening, June 25. Rev. W. D. Lenker read the marriage lines. Following a short trip, the young people will make their home at Weeping Water, where Mr. Friesel is employed by the Western Limestone Products company.

The Journal joins their many friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

FIND OLD PAPER

When the interior of the Charles Manners home on Marble street, which is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strough and family, was remodeled recently, the carpenter ran across a Plattsmouth Daily Journal dated October 7, 1885—fifty-six years ago. The home was generally known as the Joe Kelly home. The Journal, however, is celebrating its sixtieth year in existence this year.

Some of the items taken from the 1885 paper, dated October 7 are:

"The T. A. M. club held a meeting last evening and arranged for the winter's amusement. A number of members were added to the club. The club will give a social dance Friday evening at Fitzgerald's hall. The Bohemian band will furnish the music."

"James Woodson was on nettles this morning. Someone had spirited away his pedigreed bird dog, and bright and early he was looking for Sheriff Eikenberry, offering $50 for the recovery of his dogship. The missing canine was discovered and James is consequently happy."

"Rev. W. R. Alexander, of the M. E. church, last evening united in matrimony at the residence of the bride's mother, Presley Martin and Mrs. Jane Warfield, all of this county. The Journal joins their many friends in wishing them smooth sailing on the voyage of life."

FAIRVIEW CLUB

As the start of a new club year Norma Wagner entertained the Fairview club Thursday afternoon at her home with Edna Buechler co-hostess.

Dora Hild is the new president; Norma Wagner, vice-president; Leone Mayfield, secretary-treasurer, Laura Tritsch and Esther Meisinger lead the songs.

Margaret Terryberry and Clara Becker conducted a quiz program on current topics.

There will be no July meeting but in August Clara Becker and Elinor Terryberry will entertain at the Becker home. And during August the club and families will have a picnic.

The entertaining committees are: October—Laura Tritsch, Esther Meisinger.

November—Helen Gansemer, Agnes Wetenkamp.

December—Elvera Hennings, Teckla Alexen.

January—Margaret Terryberry, Lena Peterett.

February—Party. March—Viola Speck, Lucy, Terryberry. April—Myrtle Tritsch. May—Dora Hild, Leone Mayfield.

Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Chinch Bugs

With chinch bugs proving to be a serious menace to corn and other crops on several Cass county farms, there is some demand for cresote to be used in controlling the pest. A carload of cresote is being distributed this week at Weeping Water to farmers needing it for barriers.

In the west end of the county a rather heavy infestation of chinch bugs is reported and many of the wheat fields are also infested. The infestation is less severe in the east end of the county.

Since there is a shortage of barrels this year all cresote is shipped in tank cars and farmers are asked to furnish their own containers. Cass county farmers last year were able to save many acres of corn as a result of proper measures in controlling the chinch bug. The insects are controlled by trapping them in post holes through the use of the cresote line as they move from the small grain fields into the corn and sorghums and other crop fields. The migration usually takes place about the time of harvest or when the small grain stubble dries up, making it necessary for them to move to other fields to obtain green food. In some cases the migration might be delayed this year until after harvest since several of the stubbles contain some fox tail which the young chinch bugs will feed on for a few days at least.

In a few weeks the young chinch bugs will develop wings and after that control measures will be of no value.

Summer Living Rooms

There is no time like the summer months to make over the living room, says Miss Ritzpah Douglass, extension home beautification specialist at the College of Agriculture. The dark fuzzy upholstered furniture fairly radiates heat and makes the family long to be somewhere beside home.

Miss Douglass suggests making the room look light and airy. If side curtains or draperies have been hanging at the windows all winter, take them down and leave just the light, sheer glass curtains. Light colored, crisp, smooth slip covers may be made for the upholstered furniture or small light pads made for the wood furniture. These covers will protect the furniture from dust and dirt as well as improving its looks.

Slip cover material now comes in a wide range of colors, textures and designs, says Miss Douglass. The ideal cover material has sufficient weight and is strong enough to withstand repeated washings and hard wear. It will be closely woven in order not to pull out at the seams. It is usually more economical to buy the best material that can be afforded.

If the covers are to be used principally during the summer, select light background colors unless washing is a factor. Many rooms are transformed by a figured slip cover—another room may look better with a stripe or plaid. Plain colors are always satisfactory. If more interest is needed, the plain material may be corded with a contrasting color.

Straw Sheds

With an increase of hogs, dairy cattle and poultry on many Cass county farms the need for low cost temporary housing facilities will be greater than for several years. Farmers who still thresh their small grain with a threshing machine will consider making one or more straw sheds about the farm. Several farmers in the county have already set several hedge posts and completed the frame on which the straw may be blown at threshing time. It is important that the posts be heavy enough to hold up considerable weight and deep enough in the ground so that they will not fall over.

Care of Refrigerator

Homemakers of a few generations back were fortunate if they could keep food cool in the cellar or in a spring house some distance from the kitchen. Homemakers today take for granted the refrigerator in the kitchen.

However, the homemaker must manage the refrigerator correctly to get her money's worth in food production. Arrangement of food on the shelves is an important part of managing the refrigerator.

Milk, cream, and butter take up more room than other foods, so keep them covered in the coldest part of the refrigerator, directly below or beside the ice or freezing unit. The same rule holds good for milk desserts and milk in left-over dishes such as cream soups, sauces, and creamed vegetables. These foods are a perfect place for bacteria to grow. So keep milk mixtures cold, and use them as soon as possible.

Meats, fish, and poultry must also be put in the coldest part of the refrigerator as soon as they come from the market. Unwrap the meat and place it in a clean dish with a loose covering of paraffin paper. Uncooked fish should be kept only a very short time, and it is best to keep it in the coldest possible place, wrapped in paraffin paper to protect other foods from odor.

Eggs, too, should go into the refrigerator without delay. Place them in a bowl or a wire basket. Vegetables do not need so much care in storage as dairy products, meats, and eggs. Many vegetables keep just as well, or better, outside the refrigerator. Exceptions are vegetables for salads. Wash your salad greens and remove any leaves that are not to be used, then keep them cold and crisp in a covered vegetable pan or oil-silk bag in the refrigerator.

Most fruits are protected against spoilage as long as their skins remain unbroken. Berries and cherries should be kept uncovered on a tray in the coldest possible place.

Shortage of Fish Meal

Cass county farmers were told this week that an acute shortage of fish meal for use in poultry feeds has resulted in a widespread demand from millers and poultrymen for protein-carrying substitutes which can be included in the ration for chicks and laying hens.

Aware of the situation, the poultry department of the College of Agriculture made up some new rations which substitutes meat scraps and soybean oil meal for the fish meal. Copies of the circulars listing the ingredients can be had free of charge from the Farm Bureau office in Weeping Water.

Threshing Machine Notices

With the small grain harvest now in full swing Cass county farmers are reminded of the state noxious weed law requiring the use of threshing machine and combine notices.

The law requires that every threshing machine and combine in operation in Nebraska must bear a notice containing provisions of the law and other regulations relative to cleaning the machines after operating on farms infested with bindweed, Russian knapweed, perennial peppergrass, leafy spurge, Canada thistle and puncture vine.

Copies of the notices are available at the extension office in Weeping Water.

Ralph L. Cox, director of the State Department of Agriculture and Inspection reports that additional inspectors have been employed to assist in the enforcement of the law.

Annual State Sheep Day

The fifth annual Nebraska Sheep Day will be held in Lincoln on Friday, August 1, it was announced this week.

Prof. M. A. Alexander of the College of Agriculture, in charge of the day's activities, says there will be a sheep shearing contest, a wool school and sheep show as general attractions.

SOCIAL CIRCLE MEETS

The June meeting of the Lewiston Social Circle club was held at the home of Mrs. O. A. Pearsley with Mrs. Ben Albin as assisting hostess. Garden flowers and flags were used in decorations in the home. During the meeting a patriotic program was carried out honoring flag day.

The president, Mrs. Mary Gobelman outlined the work on "Food for Defense."

The hostess served refreshments of angel food cake, ice cream, mints and iced tea. Favors were small flags. Guests present were Mrs. David Kendall and Suzanne and Miss Rachel Kendall.

Mrs. Lou Wolfe and Mrs. Geraldine Kaffenberger are the hostesses for the July meeting.

CLUB REPORTER.

PAYS SHORT VISIT HERE

James A. Warren, of San Francisco, was here for a short time Tuesday while en route to Chicago where he was called on some matters of business. He stopped for a short time to see his mother, Mrs. Frank Warren and sisters, Miss Edna Warren and Mrs. Richard Beverage. With Mr. Warren was his mother-in-law, Mrs. O. H. Forsythe, who is returning to her home in Minnesota after several months spent on the west coast. On his return Mr. Warren hopes to stop here for a longer visit.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN CONFERENCE SUNDAY

Mrs. Evelyn Franke, chairman of the Cass County Committee sends out the following bulletin to those who in the past have evidenced interest in the welfare of the crippled children:

"It is the desire of the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children to further acquaint you with the aims and ideals of the organization and therefore a meeting has been arranged in Weeping Water at the Community building on Sunday, July 6th, at 3 p. m. when E. Jay Howenstine of Elyria, Ohio, will be our guest. Mr. Howenstine is executive secretary of the National Society for Crippled Children with which the Cass County Committee is affiliated through being a part of the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children.

LIGHTNING STRIKES FARM HOME

From Tuesday's Daffy—During the severe electric storm last evening, the farm home of the Tomaszewski family southeast of this city was struck by lightning. The family was in the basement of the home when the bolt struck the chimney, doing considerable damage and plastering was also knocked off of several of the rooms of the home. Fortunately the bolt did not cause a fire.

The members of the family were all shocked by the force of the bolt and it was some time before they recovered from the effects of the blast.

VISITS IN OLD HOME

Dr. Paul Hayes, of Sheridan, Wyoming, is here for a visit with his brother, Robert B. Hayes and family for a few days. Mr. Hayes is a long time resident of Sheridan where he carried on his practice of dentistry. Dr. Hayes graduated here in the local schools in 1899 and after completing his college work located in Wyoming and where he has since made his home. While here he has had the pleasure of meeting a great many of the old friends altho many of the associates have left the city or passed away.

GOES TO HAWAII

Mrs. F. R. Gobelman has received word that her sister, Mrs. A. F. Fritch and children, Marjette and Dean, who formerly resided at Decorah, Iowa, were sailing for the Hawaiian Islands. They are joining Lieutenant Commander A. F. Fritch who is now stationed Honolulu and expects to complete a tour of foreign service at that place. Lieutenant Commander Fritch is the chief surgeon at the naval hospital at Pearl Harbor at Honolulu.

TO TOUR WEST COAST

From Monday's Daffy—Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Kline departed this morning for a trip to the west coast that will take them through the Pacific northwest to the Los Angeles area.

They go from here to Ellenberg, Washington, where they will spend some time with friends and relatives and then turn southward along the coast to San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles where they will visit with their sons, Floyd and Virgil and families for a short time.

RETURNING THURSDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Enearl and son, Dickey, who have been here since Monday, visiting at the home of Mr. Enearl's parents, are returning to their home Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shibley drove through with Mr. and Mrs. Enearl and are visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobs, their uncle and aunt.

The men are employed by the Bendix company at Philadelphia in a part of the national defense work.

THE BUSY LITTLE BEES

The Busy Little Bees held their third meeting at Mynard on Monday, June 30. Marilyn Beckman and Ruth Cain gave a demonstration on five-minute cabbage. We read the lesson for next time and had yells and songs. Refreshments were served by Mary Lou Fulton, Marilyn Beckman and Ruth Cain.

MARY MARGARET COLE, News Reporter.

NIMBLE FINGERS DELIGHT CLUB

The Nimble Fingers Delight club met at the home of Delores, Joyce, and Ruth Wood. We had our business meeting and our leader showed us how to make our pin cushions. We also judged our sewing boxes. Mary Carlene Meisinger was a visitor. Our next meeting will be at the home of Muriel Kettlehut July 10.

Nehawka

By Journal Field Representative

Henry Wessell, who has been very poorly is still confined to his bed.

Robert Nusum, son of Mrs. J. A. Lyon, who is employed at the NYA mattress factory at Plattsmouth was home from Friday until Sunday evening, returning to work Monday morning.

Miss Lou Davis, the Hall county home extension agent, accompanied by Stuartaylor Schlichtemeier who is with the International Harvester Co. in Grand Island, spent the weekend at their respective homes.

The cutting of oats and wheat has begun all over this section and in the vicinity of Nehawka and Murray many fields have already been cut, some in the shock while others went through the combine finishing the job with one operation.

Eat Their Dinner in the Shade

Workmen employed on the WPA paving project in Nehawka are making excellent progress with the work and so much of the "slab" as has been finished seems to be of excellent quality.

While in Nehawka Monday shortly after the noon hour we observed the workmen eating their dinner under the shade of the trees, some sitting on the grass, others on the running boards of their cars and a few around the steps at the auditorium. The outdoor work whets appetites and all were doing justice to the food in their lunch pails.

The boys on this job are not shovel-leaners in any sense of the word, as you will see for yourself, if you take time to inspect the work they are doing.

Change in Form of Diversioin

Four Nehawka couples have long been taking turns as hosts to the other three, playing pinochle generally as a means of diversion.

This past week the group, composed of Albert Anderson, wife and son Kenneth, Herbie Kuntz and family, Frank Lemon and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Berger, foresook their customary amusement and went on a picnic trip to South Bend, where they enjoyed a grand time at the lake and were able to witness the motor boat races, as well as take a ride in the boats. They also tried their luck at fishing, but were not very successful. During the afternoon a storm came up and the wind blew furiously, while some hail fell. They worried through the mud until they got to a dry surfaced road, and then were able to speed on home with very little difficulty.

Inducted into Service

Claude Akin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Akin, who was recently inducted into the service, is now at Fort Leavenworth, where he will remain until assigned to some camp for his year of training. His brother, Roy, is to go to camp on July 8th. Both are going with a determination to do their full portion for the country.

John Akin has been in South Carolina, and was expected to arrive in Nehawka Monday evening.

Made Trip to Manhattan

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sturm left Friday evening for a week end trip to Manhattan, Kansas, near where were guests of Mrs. Sturm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fricke. They arrived home Sunday afternoon, getting in with a rain which was coming this way and which had kept pelting them intermittently most of the way, letting up only when they got to within a mile of Fort George.

RENEWS SUBSCRIPTION

Miss Mary Troop, now living at Lincoln, has sent her renewal to the Journal for the ensuing year. Miss Troop has been a reader of the Journal for many years and finds it a great pleasure as a message from home. She was for a number of years located at Beatrice but in late years has been in Lincoln.
