

'Girl in Every Port' is Feature Saturday Night

Local Girls Portray Different Nationalities and Accept Sailor Escorts for Evening.

"Our Two Ocean Navy—A Girl in Every Port" was the title of the half hour's platform program on the closing night of the King Korn Carnival Saturday. Coming here especially to participate in this program were a number of officers and enlisted personnel who are assigned to duty in Nebraska on carrying on the Navy and Naval Reserve recruiting program now being greatly stimulated as a result of the newspaper advertising campaign in daily and weekly newspapers throughout the state.

Heading the delegation here from Omaha was Lieut. Commander H. E. Peifer, officer in charge of the recruiting service; C. R. Underwood, Lieutenant Medical Corps and Ensign P. J. Towmley.

Here from Beatrice were Yeoman First Class and Mrs. S. M. Lemmons, Mr. Lemmons is in charge of the recruiting sub office there, similar to the sub office at Nebraska City which serves this territory. He is the only signalman working with the Nebraska recruiting service and gave the large street audience a demonstration of the speed with which messages may be signaled from ship to ship, even at such great distance that powerful field glasses are necessary to see the signals.

Mr. Lemmons is a former newspaper man, but has found life in the Navy most interesting and filled with possibilities.

There were seven enlisted personnel, including Bruno Reichstadt, Plattsmouth young man now in the Coast Guard service on the platform to take part in the "A Girl in Every Port" portion of the program. The young ladies, all beautifully gowned to represent their respective countries, who participated, were: Rose Mary Steppat, Mary Helen Dill, Alleen Reed, Renee Brown, Shirley Walling, Wilma Swatek and Vivian Warner.

Some thirty or more of the parents and immediate relatives of Cass county Navy enrollees were also on the platform and joined in the march up Main street to Hotel Plattsmouth, where all were guests of the Navy Club, made up of world war navy men in the American Legion, with refreshments and a bit of speaking. Lieut. Commander Peifer spoke of the splendid part the parents and relatives are playing in holding up morale among the Navy men and the sacrifices they are making.

County Judge A. H. Duxbury, a world war Navy man, received the sailor group and their escorts and the parents and relatives and served as master of ceremonies for the program that followed the refreshments.

Also present at the hotel program was Miss Rachel Robertson, who has just returned from Pearl Harbor, and of all those escorted (being the companion of Ensign Townley) was able to talk most fluently of life in the Navy. A number of the group have seen service at Pearl Harbor, where Miss Robertson had been for a visit with her brother, Ensign James M. Robertson.

AN APPRECIATION

At the close of another very successful King Korn Carnival, as general chairman of the Carnival, I wish to thank each and every one that had a part in the results attained. Every chairman and committee member, volunteer workers outside of committees, the state, county and city officials, the residents of the nearby territory all made the Carnival. To these good boosters for the fall festival there is the feeling of thorough appreciation or their efforts. It is this fine spirit that has made the Carnival a success.

GEORGE CONIS.

FINE BOAT MODEL

During the King Korn Carnival days and at the present time there is now exhibited in the front window of the E. A. Wurl grocery store a boat, made by George Ebersole of Plattsmouth.

The boat is a model of the U. S. S. Texas. However, it was not built to be an accurate highly detailed exhibition model, but rather as a working model. This boat is driven by an electric motor. The only purchased equipment is the two propellers, all other materials are stock items, some used for other things than they were originally intended. This model is not completely finished as it stands. Fourteen electric lights placed throughout the various deck houses are not so placed due to the fact small light bulbs could not be obtained. Lifeboats, mooring bits and bollards, anchors and several other small details have yet to be applied. However, it shows what can be done in the line of "working models" when pursued as a hobby. Built to scale of 1-8 of an inch to the foot.

The U.S.S. Texas is the sixth oldest battleship in the U. S. Navy. Number 34 on Naval register, only one ship, U. S. S. New York, was built to this class design. Both the U. S. S. Texas and U. S. S. New York were launched in 1914.

VALLEY COMING FRIDAY

The Blue Devils this week face another of the strong teams of the eastern part of Nebraska, Valley, whose school has the faculty of producing some real athletic teams and players.

The Blue Devils have the experience behind them now of the game with the fast and elusive Glenwood Rams and from their hard gained knowledge should be in better shape for the combat with the Valleyites.

The Valley team had a great carryover from last year when they battled the Blue Devils to a tie, losing very few players and being in a strong position to oppose any team. Their 25 to 0 victory over Wahoo last week-end showed their possibilities.

Great Interest Shown in Student and Vocations

Many Students Now Have Chance to Learn Trades or Vocations, Also Attend School.

Speaking before a meeting of the local business people and high school trades students last night, Mr. Milo Price stated that "Culture alone is not enough for a school to offer its students. In order to make a living one must have something else. People must be willing to give more than they are paid for."

Superintendent Devoe gave the introductory talk. He said "This is the first of a series of meetings we hope to have throughout the school year."

After his talk Mr. Price conducted a forum discussion in which many thought-provoking questions were discussed with enthusiasm. Mr. Armstrong called the meeting to a halt shortly after nine, by inviting the group to the home economics rooms where Miss Porter served coffee or cocoa and sandwiches.

Those present left feeling that they had spent a worthwhile hour and expressed the desire for more such gatherings.
