"The Holy Spirit Our Helper"
Gen. 1:2; Ps. 51:11; Isa. 63:10-14; Joel 2:28, 29; Luke 11:13; John 3:5-8; 14:26; 16:7-14; Acts 1:8; 2:1-4, 32, 33; 10:44-48; 19:1-7; Rom. 8:9; 12:17, 26-28; I Cor. 12:1-13; II Cor. 13:14; Gal. 5:22-26; Rev. 1:10, 22:17.

Here are four quotations from the Old Testament and sixteen from the New Testament, all relating to the Holy Spirit as our helper. We must establish the personality of the Holy Spirit; it is not enough to say it is an influence, an energy; it is that, but vastly more. It is a person, which has Character, Will, Wisdom and Power. These qualities are what distinguishes the Holy Spirit from any other person. In the first quotation, these qualities are manifest; in the brooding over the 'chaos,' he forms it into a solid substance. There is wisdom shown and a will to do, and power to execute; and the result—the earth to become the home of man. The gradual process may have taken millions of years—God takes often much time to accomplish his purpose. In the brooding over the waters the Holy Spirit imparts to it life, movement, light, energy, power, just as the Holy Spirit brings light into man's darkness; life, movement towards God; without him man would never find his way home—to God. Then in Psalm 51:11, the Holy Spirit is asked to abide with David. Without the Holy Spirit man is like a ship on the high sea without a rudder, chart or compass. Just 'drifting.' A perilous condition! 'Rebelious man will not always follow the Holy Spirit's leading; it is then that God lets man have his own way. See the present chaotic condition, that is man's work. Stop and think. Does man need a helper? Yes, let man pray like David and God will show his face in benediction. What a marvelous promise God holds out to the world in Joel 2:28-29.

This was partly fulfilled at Pentecost. What a marvelous transformation was wrought by the Holy Spirit! That is what God will do in his good time with all men. This promise was fulfilled like all others, because God has said it. Time will not allow us to go through all the quotations. But all along we see that the Holy Spirit is an essential factor in our lives and that without him there is no life, no joy, no peace. It is the Holy Spirit that transmits to us the merits of Christ's sacrificial life. He shows us by his light our sinful condition—teaches us how to pray, leads us to the fountain of blood, to the cross. All this is a mystery. Nicodemus could not understand it—but by faith in the crucified we receive our 'sight' and peace and pardon from our sins. . . . becoming new creatures who walk in the new way, full of joy and life; now Christ lives in us—it is not man but God directs his going. "Holy Spirit faithful guide, ever near the Christian's side." This leads man who has surrendered all to the Holy Spirit, to a fruitful life. See Gal. 5:22-25. They are not barren, need not be constantly urged to a higher and better life, the love of God constrained them, they follow the spirits leading, ever onward and upward, nearer the Christian's mercy seat, nearer my God to thee, to higher ground. Here the Holy Spirit is our helper. In the sore trials of life—our comforter; without his help the martyrs would not have "overcome." Who is able to bear his cross and walk the straight and narrow way, without the aid of the Holy Spirit? Who can go through the maze of all the conflicting theories on religion and not lose his way, without the guiding power and the strength that the Holy Spirit imparts? Jesus said: "I go away, but I will send the Holy Spirit, who will abide with you, lead you into all truth, teach you what to say, etc." In the conflicts of life, he is an ever true friend on whom we can rely.

"Ever present truest friend,
Ever near thine aid to lend;
Leave us not to doubt and fear,
Groping on in darkness drear;
When the storms are raging sore,
Hearts grow faint and hopes give o'er.
Whisper softly: 'Wanderer, Come,
Follow me, I'll guide thee home.'"

"When our days of toil shall cease,
Waiting still for sweet release,
Nothing left but heaven and prayer,
Wondering if our names were
there,
Wading deep the dismal flood,
Pleading nought but Jesus' blood,
Whispering softly: 'Wanderer,
Come,
Follow me, I'll guide thee home.'"

Protein Supplements
With the corn-hog ratio as favorable as it is (about 18-1), Nebraska farmers are interested in making their gains as economically as possible. Protein supplements are increasing in price. The average cost of tankage in Cass county is about $80 per ton. The big question in the mind of many a farmer is "Can I afford to feed tankage?" or "Can I afford to feed anything besides corn?" This winter 1 pound of tankage will

Chlorate for Bindweed

Soil moisture conditions in Cass county make this the best fall in many years for treating bindweed with chlorate. D. L. Gross, extension agronomist at the Nebraska College of Agriculture, says that where the soil is moist to a depth of four feet or more, nearly 100 per cent kill can be expected.

The only material available in quantity this year is Altiacide, which is as effective as straight sodium chlorate if used at the rate of 4 to 5 pounds per square rod. The usual recommendation for sodium chlorate is 3 to 4 pounds per square rod.

Even distribution of the chemical is necessary. The dry treatment, rather than the spray, is recommended for fall treatment.

Altiacide can be obtained from numerous dealers in the county.

Enamelware Kitchen Utensils

Production of aluminum ware is restricted now, so housewives who are buying kitchen utensils center their attention on other metals. The home equipment research laboratory at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture says that metal kitchenware should meet five tests, according to Jessie Baldwin, home demonstration agent for Cass county.

These tests are durability, sanitation, ease of handling, performance, and price. In the laboratory, new enamelware has readily withstood the temperatures required for caramelizing sugar and for deepfat frying. The lighter-weight ware (1 1/2 pounds for a 2 quart pan has retained its form. Lids have not chipped when holes have been bored through them, which indicates durability.

Light-weight enamel utensils also get a high rating in ease of handling. Enamelware absorbs heat well, but does not distribute it as well as aluminum. Some foods must be stirred constantly in enamelware to prevent scorching. Abrasive cleaners will destroy the luster, but with careful use enamelware can be economical and efficient. The sanitation requirement is met when construction is such that there are no cracks or grooves for accumulation of dirt.

Good quality enamel kitchen utensils made by reliable manufacturers can be a good purchase at this time.

Protein Supplements

With the corn-hog ratio as favorable as it is (about 18-1), Nebraska farmers are interested in making their gains as economically as possible. Protein supplements are increasing in price. The average cost of tankage in Cass county is about $80 per ton. The big question in the mind of many a farmer is "Can I afford to feed tankage?" or "Can I afford to feed anything besides corn?" This winter 1 pound of tankage will replace 6 to 7 pounds of corn. If corn costs 64 cents per bushel and tankage $80 per ton, it is still economical to feed the tankage or some other suitable supplement.

The cost can be cut still more by using a mixture composed of tankage 6 per cent, alfalfa meal 25 per cent, and 25 per cent cottonseed meal or soybean oil meal. Alfalfa is one of the most economical sources of protein at the present time and can be used to good advantage for other classes of livestock.

lege of Agriculture in Lincoln, will be glad to hear that the one-day affair is being revived this year Friday, October 17, will be the date.

Favorable hog prices and increased production caused numerous requests that "Rooters Day" be held this year. Prof. Wm. J. Loeffel, chairman of the animal husbandry department, said recently, "We have felt that in view of the emphasis which is being placed on pork production in the defense program, that it is well to return to the fundamentals and to stress them." So, the fundamentals of hog-raising will come in for considerable discussion, the program shows.

Professor Loeffel will preside at both sessions, which will be held in the Student Activities building on the Agricultural College campus. The morning program starts at 9:15 and the afternoon program at 1:10. It is hoped that the group can adjourn by 3:30 in the afternoon, thus giving plenty of time for those from a distance to make the homeward drive.

The day's program follows—All speakers will be from the Nebraska College of Agriculture, unless otherwise noted: Morning session: When Should Corn Substitutes be Used, Professor Loeffel; Meeting the Protein Requirements of Hogs, Ed Janike, assistant extension animal husbandman; Minerals and Vitamins Play Important Roles in Swine Nutrition, L. E. Hanson, instructor in animal husbandry; Feeding the Breeding Herd, Marvel Baker, professor in animal husbandry; New Pastures for Old, D. L. Gross, extension agronomist; Cross Breeding—When and Why, M. A. Alexander, associate professor of animal husbandry; Selecting or Efficient Production, J. C. Rosse, agricultural extension agent, Cedar county; This Problem of Hog Type, W. C. Fouts, agricultural extension agent, Seward county.
