Body Found Here May be that of Omaha Suicide

Relatives Here and Seem Sure the Body That of Harold George Groves of Omaha.

From Wednesday's Daily—

With the notification of the Omaha police by Deputy Sheriff Dooey last evening of the finding of the body of a man on one of the river dykes, a search was started in Omaha to check on missing persons that might reveal the identification of the man.

This morning Mrs. E. P. Mahon, 702 North 40th street, was here and called at the Sattler funeral home where the body had been taken and was ready for burial. The lady, a sister of Harold George Groves, 40, disappeared since last August, was positive that the body was that of her brother.

The man had disappeared on August 3rd from his home, 1810 Worthington Place, Omaha, leaving a note that stated he intended to end his life by drowning. Later the tracks leading to the waters of the Missouri were found along with the clothes and shoes of the unfortunate man. He had kept his sox on and these were the same as that found on the man taken from the river here.

The sister returned to Omaha where she will check with dentists in the hope of making the identification positive beyond a doubt.
