

City Council Has Busy Time Last Evening

"Cemetery Road," Waterworks Situation, Road Work in South Part of City—New Paving.

From Tuesday's Daily—

The city council had a busy session last evening with discussion and moves in a number of problems that have hung fire in the city legislation for many months. Among the matters taken up was that of the new road to the Oak Hill cemetery, speeding up the matter of negotiations over the water plant, drainage problems in the south part of the city in the fifth ward, the paving of the widened street at the intersection of Webster boulevard and Elm street and the sewer extension at Oakmont.

All of the councilmen were on hand when the gong sounded the opening round and from then on business flew fast and furious. Communication was received from the state railway commission relative to the application of the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co. for rate increase. This was placed on file for future reference.

D. F. Felton of the state WPA office sent a communication to the council as to the sewer extension project in Oakmont. This had been held up. Mr. Felton stated, for further information and had been referred to J. H. Davis, the titleholder of Oakmont addition. If the information was satisfactory the work would be started soon.

Fire Chief Dr. O. Sandin reported four fires for the month, one at the Bates building at Fifth and Main streets, on November 13th; on November 15th, overheated furnace at the Phillip Fornoff home; chimney fire at the James Zoubek home; grass fire on North 11th street.

Chairman Noble of the streets, alleys and bridges committee told of the need for several pieces of road improvement and especially of the drainage problem in the south part of the city near Smith avenue, that had threatened the discontinuance of the mail route through that section, with had places to drain near the Altschaff, place, and also east from the sub-station. This was referred to the committee to see that the condition was improved.

No Reply on Water Question

Chairman Painter of the fire and water committee, reported that no new reports had been received from the offices of the Plattsmouth Water Corporation, the chairman stating that he thought the city should take some action in the matter. Mayor Lillie suggested that the city clerk notify the headquarters of the corporation that some reply was to be made or the city start negotiations regarding the installation of a new plant. A call was placed through by the committee at once and representatives will be here in a few days to further discuss the matter of a new plant.

Chairman Schutz of the lighting committee, reported that the flash signal on Pearl and Sixth street was undergoing repairs. The committee recommended that a street light be installed at Lincoln avenue and Rock Bluff avenue where the situation is bad as the sidewalk makes necessary the pedestrians crossing the street at this point. On motion the action of the committee was approved.

Chairman Selver of the police committee, sounded a note of protest in the manner in which the police are selected, the committee not being advised of who was on or off and unable to answer the inquiries of the public. It had been agreed, the chairman pointed out, that the chief of police was to consult the committee, they in turn to contact the mayor and have the place filled. Mayor Lillie agreed that the police committee should be consulted by the chief of police in the future.

"The Cemetery Road"

Chairman Schutz of the WPA committee, revived what he aptly called "the forgotten man," that of the construction of the new road to Oak Hill cemetery, a subject that for the past three years has been in the process of being carried out but had never gone beyond the engineering stage. Mr. Schutz stated he had tried to get action on the part of the engineer only to have the "busy" sign on. Mr. Schutz thought that after the three years there should be something doing or the whole matter dropped and forgotten.

Mayor Lillie was of the opinion that if action could not be secured under the present setup that other engineers be called into the picture and the project not be allowed to lie dormant for another year.

Councilmen Selver and Noble both expressed the need of a new engineer if the work could not be secured under the present status.

On motion of Councilman Webb it was ordered that if the engineer could not get a letter in Lincoln in ten days where approval had been made of the work, that he come in and see the committee and discuss the matter so that if necessary other engineering facilities might be secured.

To Pave Intersection

The council had a very extended discussion of the matter of paving or rocking at this time, the widened intersection at Webster boulevard and Elm street, near the old Heisel mill where the city has secured grounds to make a wider and better turn to and from the boulevard. It was decided as a matter of speed to secure the paving this winter, to have the intersection paved, the committee in charge to direct the work and the same be conducted by the city.

Honor Memory of "Casey" Jones

VAUGHAN, MISS.—Convention-bound toward New Orleans, members of the American Railway Magazine Editors' Association make an early morning pause at the north switch at Vaughan to pay tribute to the memory of that brave engineer of song and story "who mounted to the cabin with his orders in his hand and took his farewell trip to that Promised Land." It was at Vaughan on the misty morning of April 30, 1900, that John Luther ("Casey") Jones crashed his mile-a-minute passenger train into the caboose of a freight train that had just failed to make the siding. His was the lone fatality. Coupled with Jones in the tribute paid by H. B. Robertson, editors' president, was Wallace Saunders, cinderpit worker and admirer of "Casey," who first hummed the ballad as a folksong. Inset: "Casey" Jones, map locating Vaughan and diagram of the scene of the wreck.

chorus and the 8th grade girls' quartet at their meeting Monday evening. The entries from the county fair were on exhibition and it was easy to see why we got so many excellent awards. There are some real artists in the grades.

The P. T. A. voted to give $1.00 a month to the room having the most parents present at the meeting each time—fathers to count double.

Business activity in the state during October rose two points following the decline in September, according to the University of Nebraska's index of general business activity. Although the index is still five points below the summer peak recorded for August, it is almost equal to the average for the summer months.

Decrease in business activity during September is attributed to a sharp reduction in volume of retail trade in the state as compared with the unusual high level of August. Retail trade, as represented by department store sales, decreased over 20 per cent. Sales of new passenger cars also declined sharply in September and for the first time this year fell below figures for the corresponding month of last year. On the other hand, production in the state remained steady over the same period of time.

Three of the four components of the general index thus far available for October show an increase over September after an allowance is made for seasonal variation. Bank deposits and postal receipts show a moderate increase of 1.5 and 5.7 per cent, respectively, while building permits reveal an unusual spurt of activity. The dollar value of building permits for October is 32.4 per cent above the previous month. The explanation is found, undoubtedly, in the foreseen restrictions placed on construction materials for civilian uses.

More Ladies Doing Sewing for Red Cross

American Legion Auxiliary Started Monday; Group Continues at Sundstroms.

To the great American question "What can I do to help the war effort?" The commonest answer yet found is "Knit." It is somewhat unsatisfactory answer since the blunt fact is that sweaters and socks can be turned out in a fraction of the time by machine. Nevertheless, women of the United States have chosen to knit. At present a volunteer Citizens Committee for the Army and Navy is campaigning for 1,000,000 standard army sweaters by Christmas.

Governor Dwight Griswold, governor of Nebraska, made the following statement concerning the Red Cross roll call and sewing drive: "For sixty years the American Red Cross has been alert in every case of crisis and disaster facing any portion of our American population. More, it has rendered great service not alone to peoples abroad, but to our soldiers serving in the defense of our country. Today, the Red Cross, as always, is ready for all emergencies."

"To carry through its extensive program, the Red Cross needs your support. But your membership this year means much more than the necessary funds to fulfill its obligations; it means your pledge of belief in the American way of life, your insurance against suffering and chaos in crisis.

"As your governor, I appeal to every resident of Nebraska who can possibly afford to do so, to join the Red Cross during Roll Call. I call upon you to become part of this organization, so that it may fulfill its obligations to you, to your family and to those in the armed service and to our country."

The American Legion Auxiliary has been added to the fast-growing list of Red Cross sewers and knitters. Mrs. Elmer A. Webb kindly consented to the use of her home, and this was where the ladies joined together for a day of charitable work. There were present Mrs. Robert Cappell, Auxiliary president; Mrs. Leonard Fitch, Mrs. Faye McClintock, Mrs. Raymond Larson, Mrs. Harold Nicholas. The Auxiliary members have planned to complete seventeen convalescent robes. The material used will be the beacon cloth. Mrs. Adelaide Boynton is making her robe at her own home. Mrs. Webb served her guests a luncheon Monday.

Mesdames Edgar Newton, A. H. Duxbury, L. S. Devoe, Wallace Lundeen, J. Howard Davis, Robert B. Hayes, R. B. Keller, and Glen McClure were at the Elmer Sundstrom home Tuesday. They resumed their work of sewing girls' woolen dresses.

The ladies of the St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church are banding together and plan to commence sewing and knitting for the American Red Cross next week.

CORNHUSKERS AT ROBINSON

CAMP ROBINSON, Ark., Nov. 25 (UP)—Former University of Nebraska football stars in service with the 35th division here will play in a New Year's day "Rock Bowl" game at the Little Rock high school stadium against a team comprising Arkansas' outstanding college football players, Lieut. George M. Seemann, division athletic officer, announced today.

Seemann, Omaha, a former all-American end from Nebraska, was named to coach the Camp Robinson players. His assistants include Lieut. Don C. Ruebottom, fullback on the Nebraska Rose Bowl team, and Pvt. R. S. Brown, a former Muskingum, O., college player and high school coach.

HAVE PLEASANT SURPRISE

From Wednesday's Daily—
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eneari had a very pleasant surprise last evening they were enjoying a quiet evening at home when the telephone rang and on answering they found the message to be from their son, Franklin Eneari and family at Philadelphia. The message was most enjoyed and the sound of the voices of the loved ones conveying the Thanksgiving message.

From Monday's Daily—
This afternoon in honor of the memory of Andrew J. Snyder, a former register of deeds, all offices at the court house were closed from 1 to 2 o'clock. Many of the officials attended the services held at the Bigsby funeral home.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, November 30th By L. Neitzel, Mardock, Neb.

"Christian Love"

Lev. 19:17, 18, 33, 34; Deut. 6: 4, 5; Matt. 22:35-38; John 3:16; 13:34, 35; I Cor. 13.

The subject of Love is inexhaustible, almost incomprehensible as God himself. But we are to study Christian Love, not love of things, nature, animals, mountains, oceans, but true Christ like love.

The first mention of love in the Bible is found in Gen. 22:1, 2. Here is the counterpart of John 3:16. Abraham represents God, Isaac represents Jesus Christ. The word Love is found 462 times in the Scriptures. Is there a definition of the word Love? It is so complicated, so many-sided that it baffles us. It is intangible; it is an attitude and will manifest itself in acts of kindness, self-giving and self-sacrificing.

There is often an attitude among men that borders on the heroic—a man may even die for a friend or for his family to save them from harm—that is not Christian love; it goes much farther.

The Lord, in Lev. 19:17, 18 gives to his people definite instructions in the matter of conduct, one to the other. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." That is the limit. No man hates himself or harms himself. Self-love is not wrong, but we must extend it to our neighbor.

What a lovely world we would have if this command of God were practiced. This exhortation is given to God's chosen people—not to the world. It will require the grace and help of God, for it is not natural for men to do that. But God goes farther and tells his people to treat strangers among them like themselves, because they were strangers themselves in Egypt at one time.

But as we go a step farther, God expects first place in our life; this is expressed in Deut. 6:4, 5. That excludes everything outside of God; even family ties. God first, father and mother and wife next. Is that asking too much? My Maker, Benefactor, Redeemer first, for by his grace I enjoy all the benefits of life. Jesus emphasized this in his answer to a lawyer (Matt. 22:35-38). Please read.

God himself has shown us how far love will go for the object of his love. John 3:16 is the climax of the manifestation of His love: "Greater love hath no man."

God loved a world that had turned its back on him, had rejected him and was in every sense his enemy. But he loved the world because of the potentiality of the immortal soul in man. If he could woo and win it back, that would be a victory for love. And when they are won become loyal subjects and witness for him. The thousands of martyrs have testified to the power of love that bound them to their Redeemer, of which Paul writes (Rom. 8:38, 39): "For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor power, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord." Paul here speaks for thousands of living Christians. Yes, Love is strong as death. (Songs of Sol. 8:6).

Now we turn to Paul's great hymn of Love. (I Cor. 13). This is written of them in whose heart the love of God is shed abroad (Rom. 5:5): This love is the gift of the Holy Spirit, which the world cannot receive, until they are born again and have received the spirit of Jesus; if they have not His spirit, they are none of His (Rom. 8:9).

In His Hymn of Love, Paul tells us that men may have many and great accomplishments, they may thrill the world with their brilliant and high sounding language, they may entertain, they may be intellectuals—but if they lack the Love of God, it's only an empty show.

But let an individual be filled with the spirit of Christ, which is the spirit of love and the results are far different. Paul enumerates sixteen attributes to love, every one a jewel, and together they form a diadem that adorns the wearer's brow to the glory of Jesus Christ. The excellence of these attributes is especially brought in these two—first, "Love thinketh no evil," and second, "Love never faileth."

We would repeat that Christian love, if practiced and given a chance in the world, would soon change the face of the world. And it is the only way by which the great transformation can be accomplished. Not by power or might, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord—and He knows.
