Cass County Farm Bureau Notes Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Waldo.

Sewing Machine Clinics Sewing machines as well as farm equipment need yearly checking over, cleaning and occasionally a few new parts. January is an ideal month for repair to insure sewing machines in good workable condition for the spring sewing. More spring sewing will probably be done in the county this year as increased cost in readyto-wear becomes a real item and prohibitive some articles which could be provided for these who can do their own sewing.

Clinics are being scheduled for Eagle and Murdock, January 20 and 21. Women enrolling will bring their machines and do their own work under the supervision of Miss Ruby Loper, state engineering specialist. There is room for a few more enrollees. Those interested should notify Miss Baldwin, home demonstration agent, for further details.

Farm Machinery Meeting

Dealers, service men, welders, blacksmith, and machinist are all being invited to attend a district conference on farm machinery, Jan. 12. ties. Agricultural agents and Smith-Hughes instructors will take part in the meeting also. Caralton L. Zink of the agricultural college will discuss repair and adjustment of tractors, mowers and plows. Plans and material for local meetings to which farmers will be invited will also be diseussed
