VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN

The American libraries are once again campaigning for books for the men in the service. Altho the government has provided libraries for the army camps, their supply of books is not sufficient for the tremendous growth in the armed forces. The public is being given a chance to donate good used books during this campaign which opened January 12.

Good books are needed—fiction with emphasis on adventure, mystery and humor, and historical and technical books will be welcomed. Because of the difficulties in handling them, magazines are not desired.

The following places have been designated in Bellevue where you may leave your contribution of books: Roberts Drug Store, Tobler's Service Station, Red and White grocery store and the library.

Since there are no funds for re-binding, books should be in good condition.
