Thanks to the department secretary, who brought encouragement of renewed interest, and to the state recording secretary's presence who, as our own county president, gave special objectives toward which we are to work.
 Especial thanks to Mrs. Sylvester, long loved field worker, to Mr. Rogers, superintendent of schools at Dawson, who gave much helpful advice, to Rev. Lenker of Weeping Water for a most inspirational address, to Mrs. Davis of Lincoln, for her talk on personal work well done, and for the devotional periods of music and meditation.

The County W. C. T. U. voted to go on record as pledged to use its best effort to have as many initiative pledges properly signed and endorsed as can be done up to the limit, June 14; to urge the president of our government and head of our army and navy to prohibit the serving of intoxicating liquors in our defense camps as he only can do if we are to "go all out" to win this war, and to oppose any plan the Red Cross may devise to give cigarettes and intoxicating beverages to any of the men in service anywhere. "Remember Pearl Harbor," and study why.
 With thanks to Mrs. Rogers, chairman of institute for Cass county and members in attendance, these resolutions are respectfully submitted.

MRS. HAYES, Plattsmouth, MRS. JACKS, Eagle, MRS. KELLY, Elmwood.

Stationed at St. Louis

Mr. and Mrs. John Cloldt have received word from their son, John Jr., who last Monday departed for service, advising them that he is at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, just out of St. Louis. This is a depot for the air service trainees and Mr. Cloldt is well pleased that he has been assigned to this branch of the service. He has lost trace of the other boys from this city who were in the same contingent sent to Fort Leavenworth.

RETURNS TO NEBRASKA

Sheldon Smith, who has been engaged in work at Parsons, Kansas, for the past several months, is now located back in Nebraska. He is now located at Mead near where the new ordnance plant is being built.

Federal Credit Regulations

As recently announced by the Federal Reserve Bank regulating charge accounts.
 These rules affect the customer who purchases on credit and the merchant who sells. This regulation does not alter the prevailing terms of sale, which provide for full payment of each month's purchases on or before the 10th of the following month.
 If full payment has not been made by the 10th of the second month following, the merchant is not permitted to extend further credit until this condition has been corrected. This ruling went into effect May 1, 1942 and accounts not paid by July 10th are delinquent.
 Our mutual cooperation in adhering to the regulations will minimize any inconvenience and also assist our Government in this emergency.
