A truck belonging to John B. Elliott, driven by a young man, caught fire some three or four miles west of town and caused considerable excitement. A telephone call was sent in which had to be made via Eagle and consumed a good deal of time. The

Has Pet Crow

Hunters who have observed the difficulty of approaching a crow will be interested to know that Herman Martin, 320 South 5th street has a pet crow which keeps as much company with him as does his dog. While Mr. Martin works about his yard the crow struts around his master, occasionally burying his beak in the ground and coming up with a worm.

"Jim is quite a fellow," agrees pretty well with "Curley", the dog at the Martin home. "Curley is pretty jealous of 'Jim,'" said Martin, "but they frolic about quite a bit. When 'Jim' gets smart 'Curley' butts him over harmlessly with his head."

The bird is left to do as he pleases. He flies off and is gone for hours at a time, but always at night he returns to sleep in a tree by the Martin home. Martin has had the black strutter since May, at which time it was brought to him by a friend.

Alvo fire department hastened to the scene of the accident and soon had the blaze out although not until considerable damage had been done.

LIBRARY NOTES

In July, 1495 books were loaned by the Plattsmouth Public Library. Twelve new borrowers were registered.

79 children registered for the Summer Reading club, and 52 have finished the reading list.

Mrs. Bertha Shopp gave many books of popular fiction to the library, when she moved. Mrs. Shopp was a member of the Library Board for many years, and is much interested in our welfare.

Because of ill health, Mr. Peter Claus has resigned his position as janitor and fireman. Mr. Claus has given the library many years of faithful service and will be greatly missed there.

For those who would like a little "escape" reading may we suggest two articles from the July Atlantic Monthly Magazine? They are "I Like Skunks" by Louise Dickinson Rich, and "Two in a Canoe" by Paul Brooks.

Sell War Bonds on Streets

Since the selling of War Stamps on the streets has proved successful in many cities, Plattsmouth women tried their luck Wednesday night.

The effort was sponsored by the Gamble store and Soennichsen's Dry Goods store. Buster Blauvelt and Alice Jane Grosshans sold $3.20 worth of stamps in front of the Gamble store, while Mrs. Lucille Gaines and Mrs. Ruth Otto sold $10.45 in front of Soennichsen's.

Stamps are sold regularly at the bank and the post office, and this movement was instituted for the benefit of those wishing to purchase stamps during the closing hours of regular sellers. At any rate the saleswomen will give the method a month's trial. Stamps will be sold in front of the two stores every Wednesday and Saturday from 8 to 10 p. m. It is hoped that many farmers who do not have an opportunity to purchase stamps during regular selling hours, will avail themselves of this opportunity.

Here from Havelock

From Saturday's Daily—

Last evening Mrs. W. D. Glock and sons, Robert and John, were here from Havelock, visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. David Fowler and family. John Glock is an ensign in the United States naval air corps center at Corpus Christi, Tex., and is now home for a short visit. The other son, Robert, is a medical student of the University of Nebraska. The party was accompanied by W. P. Cook, father of Mrs. Glock, who is visiting at Havelock.
