Grand Officers Visit Local Bethel Of Job's Daughters

Banquet Enjoyed by the Members and their Fathers—Traveling Gavel Is Presented

The Job's Daughters honored their grand guardian, Mrs. Ethel Worden, Ogallala, and other grand officials at a special banquet Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple.

In evidence at the meeting was the famous traveling gavel brought by Mrs. Worden. This gavel has seen service in many Bethels throughout the state. During times of normal transportation the gavel remained at the Bethel where last used, until members of that Bethel visited another Bethel by the grand guardian.

Other state officials at the meeting were Mrs. Pauline Linn the vice Grand Guardian; Mrs. Edith Owens, grand secretary; Mrs. Virginia Kumold, grand chaplain, all of Omaha. A number of Omaha members were also there.

Following the banquet the initiation of a large class of new members took place. Maxine Nielson Bowman presided over the affair as honored queen. She set the program under way after receiving the traveling gavel from the grand guardian. With the gavel the grand guardian brought gifts for the line members sent from the last Bethel visited.

The initiation over, Mrs. Worden, acting as installation officer named the Bethel council. They are as follows: Miss Clara Weyrich, guardian; Mrs. Howard Wiles, associate guardian; Mrs. W. F. Evers, secretary; Miss Helen Warner, treasurer; Mrs. Flora

Belle Wehrbein, director of music. thahfbb.Turneim

Investigate--Vote...

This is the most trying time in the history of our country and every person elected should be one of known business judgment. My past record in business and in handling the offices in Sarpy county to which I have been elected in the past is one of which I am proud.

Due to tire rationing and gasoline saving efforts I have been unable to meet many of you to whom I would have liked to talk in person. I invite you to investigate the candidates for State Senator from Cass and Sarpy Counties. My record has been one of achievement and if elected I will use the same care in my work as your representative in the State Senate.
