Funeral Of Samuel Gray

The funeral of the late Samuel Gray was held from the Methodist church in Greenwood on last Sunday and was attended by a large number of people who had known Mr. Gray during his life. Mr. Gray had resided near Greenwood for many years and was loved and honored by all. The Rev. Harold Newford minister of the church officiating. Interment was at the Greenwood cemetery.

Funeral Held Omaha Saturday

J. E. Hardy, who has been engaged in the shoe repairing business in Greenwood for sometime, and being well along in years and in poor health passed away last Thursday. The funeral and burial was held at Omaha on Saturday of last week.

Chris Jorgensen and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Draper were visiting with friends at Crete the latter portion of last week.

George Bobbitt and wife of Lincoln formerly of Murdock, Alvo and Greenwood but making their home in Lincoln for some time past, were visitors in Greenwood and guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ethrege. They being relatives of Mrs. Ethrege, remembering Mrs. Ethrege's birthday came on last Tuesday, they timed their visit although on Sunday to be here at that date. They stopped at the home of M. J. Bickles near Alvo to bring Mr. and Mrs. Bickles, but that they had gone to visit elsewhere.

Extend Congratulations

Mrs. Fred Ethrege whose birthday anniversary fell on last Tuesday was called upon and congratulations extended, by her numerous lady friends of Greenwood and vicinity. The ladies made a very pleasant afternoon for their hostess and extended best wishes for many more such happy anniversaries.

Will Celebrate Coming Christmas

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Greenwood notwithstanding war and other unpleasant things are to appropriately celebrate their combined Thanksgiving day and Christmas on Dec. 7. They are to have their regular meeting of the IOOF and as well the meeting of the Daughters of Rebekah, after which there will be a program appropriate and also a delightful time with supper at the hall. Odd-Fellows are not so Odd at that for they too like a good supper and a good time among themselves and why not.

Mrs. Earl E. Howard of Long Beach, California arrived in Greenwood and has been visiting here at the homes of Watson Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Howard of Greenwood and with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Finley of near Louisville, she being sister in law of all the Howards. The visitor and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Howard, Watson Howard and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Finley were over to Weeping Water last Sunday where they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Howard son of Watson Howard of Greenwood. A most enjoyable time was had on their Weeping Water visit.

Ensign Ashron Keith Edwards who has just graduated from a flying school in Texas was here last week visiting at the home of his uncle Ben Howard and wife, Watson Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dyer.

Seek To Repair Road

Valdosta, Ga. Nov. 23 (UP)—Railway crews today worked to restore service on a section of the southern railway washed out late yesterday when the southbound Royal Palm passenger special crashed through a fire-weakened trestle, killing three persons and injuring twenty-nine. None of the injured was believed seriously hurt.

Thanksgiving Day Promises To Be A Quiet One

War Time and the Curtailing of the Markets Will Make Lighter Observance

It is anticipated that the first wartime Thanksgiving will be celebrated rather quietly in Plattsmouth. With numerous persons having moved to other communities to take over duties in the war effort, with the uncertainty of future conditions, with the boys away from home fighting the foe—with all these conditions existing citizens still aver they have much for which to be thankful.

The stores will remain open until noon to take care of last minute shoppers and those who, because they are too busy in these times of stress, must make their purchases when they can find time.

Markets report that they are receiving orders for turkeys, geese, ducks, and chicken, but in most every instance the sales do not equal those of last "Turkey day." That favored holiday fowl, the turkey, will not grace tables any more than other fowl. Although the chicken provides meat generally throughout the year, he will get no day off tomorrow, as many orders have been put in for them.

Those who have relatives living in the city are especially fortunate in their effort to get together for dinner considering the transportation problem. Still others who live in nearby towns will take advantage of the last few days before gasoline rationing and traverse the gasoline rationing and drive the miles to celebrate the day.

All in all—when the whole situation is summed up it amounts to the fact that the spirit of the occasion has not been forgotten, but in celebrating as inconspicuously as possible most persons show that at last they have come to realize we have a war on our hands.

No More Whipping Cream

The Plattsmouth Creamery this morning received notice that from now on the sale of whipping cream was to be a thing of the past, like many of the choicer articles in the household larder. The sale of coffee cream is to be permitted, the creamery was informed but unless you have the whipping cream on hand for the Thanksgiving pumpkin pie, you will have to take it straight or have to hit the "black markets."

So our loved ones may live unafraid!"

Find Fine Horses

This morning Mr. and Mrs. William Sitzman, residing on West Pearl street, were rather startled on arising to find some six fine Belgian and Percheron horses and a mule in their alfalfa patch near the house. The animals were large and very beautiful, and Mr. Sitzman started to call farmers near the city to learn if there were horses missing. Finally Sheriff Mrasek was called and identified the horses as from the stable of Elbert Wiles, south of the city. The owner was notified and hastened to the Sitzman place and secured the tame and placid horses, who willingly followed their owner on home. The animals had made their way from the farm out onto the Missouri Pacific right of way and then on north until they espied the Sitzman alfalfa patch. It is most fortunate that the horses were not hit by trains as they made their way along the tracks.

Those having used toys, please leave at recreation center between 3 & 4 on Main St. within next two weeks from 10 to 5, American Legion Aux.

Duties Of Price And Ration Board Are Fast Growing

Rationing Of Coffee Adding to the Heavy Burdens of the Members With More In Prospect

With the duties of the Cass county Price and Rationing board increasing every day now that the government has seen fit to ration coffee and plans to deal out allotments of meat soon, local officials have added a clerk typist to the staff. The new employee is Marguerite McClintock, who, previously was employed here as a telephone operator. She, with Shirley Leesley, another clerk typist, will aid Miss Buster Blauvelt, clerk of the board.

Miss Blauvelt again wishes to remind those making application to check up on their sales for September and October. These figures are essential in making out the application.

Thanksgiving Comers

From Chicago this morning came Miss Alice Marie Funk who, fearing that she would not be able to get home at Christmas time due to transportation difficulties, came to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Funk. However the visitors will have to leave before the weekend is up as she must be back Sunday to perform her duties as Deaconess in the Methodist Englewood church.

Host and hostess at Thanksgiving repast tomorrow will be Mr. and Mrs. George Farley. Their guests will be Caroline and Astelle Baird, Miss Olive Gass, and Miss Pearl Staats. "Turkey Day" will find Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Knorr having visitors for dinner from Ashland. The guests are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Panzer and daughter, Ruth. Mr. Panzer is Mrs. Knorr's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Seiver conveniently moved their Thanksgiving dinner to an evening hour when they learned that a guest would be working during part of the day. The host and hostess will entertain Mrs. Seiver's mother, Mrs. Andrew Seybert, her sister Beatrice Seybert, Pearl Dugay, Omaha, a friend, and daughters Shirley and Donna Bea.

Senior Class Party

Last evening, the senior class, with their sponsor, Miss Whalen, held their first semester class party. The first part of the evening was spent in playing games, after which Miss Lois Wolever sang two solos. Delicious refreshments were then served followed by dancing. During the evening the Misses Donna Bea Seiver, Mary Jean Hatt, Rachel McMaken, Geraldine

White and Shirley Speck harmonized on "My Last Goodbye" Guests of the evening were Mr. Evans, Coach Stewart, and Bob Ashton.
