RECLAIMED WORN FURNITURE

Since new furniture with springs is out of the picture for the duration, 20 Cass County women reclaimed furniture on hand so their families may continue to have a comfortable place to relax. Eleven chairs, (overstuffed and occasional chairs) 14 davenport cushions, 1 love seat and 1 sofa left the reupholstering clinic, held at Murdoch this past week, as good as new. Springs retied, woodwork refinished, new or reclaimed tapestry, together with two days hard work have increased the usefulness of the above pieces another ten years.

PROTEIN FOR HOGS

Animal proteins, such as tankage, are hard to get and Cass County farmers are substituting protein supplements of vegetable origin with good results. Soybean meal is being used satisfactorily but should be supplemented with a mineral made of two parts limestone, two parts steamed bone meal and one part salt according to Ed Janike, well known livestock specialist, from the Agricultural College at Lincoln. At Purdue where hogs are fed in dry lot 100 pounds of soybean meal plus four pounds of mineral replaced or was equal in feeding value to 58 pounds of tankage plus 64 pounds of corn.

Soybean meal is palatable to hogs and they eat more than they need if it is fed alone. This can be avoided by feeding a mixture of 500 pounds of soybean oil meal plus 45 lbs. of ground limestone, 45 lbs. of steamed bone meal and five pounds of salt.

Another mixture especially desirable when pasture is not available is 75 lbs. soybean oil meal plus 25 lbs. alfalfa meal. The 2-2-1 mineral mixture previously given should be fed free choice.

Variety of protein supplements is preferred under average conditions and if tankage is available the following mixture is a good one: 50 lb. of soybean oil meal, 25 lbs. tankage, 25 lbs. alfalfa meal. Cottonseed meal and linseed meal are good hog feeds and either or both can be used to replace some of the soybean meal. Like wise meat scraps are about equal to tankage and can be used to replace all or part of the tankage.

4-H Club Folks Leave for Chicago Saturday, November 28th, four Cass County girls and boys will leave Omaha, with the Nebraska 4-H delegation for the National 4-H Club Congress, which convenes in Chicago, November 29th to December 3rd. These Cass county 4-H'ers include: Imogene Pollard, Nehawka, Kathleen Balfour, Union, Paul Ruffner, Plattsmouth and Lyman Rehmeier, Weeping Water.

KEEP 'EM ROLLING

Suggestions for keeping farm tractors rolling along on their job of food production until the war is won. According to Extension Agricultural Engineer Carlton Zink of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, there are nine steps that are especially important. Included are:

1. Keep tires properly inflated.
2. Use plenty of wheel weight
3. Use highest gear practical
4. Avoid needless deterioration
5. Make inspection a habit
6. Safeguard inactive tires
7. Make all repairs promptly
8. Watch your valves carefully
9. Take care of your battery

Detailed instructions on each of these steps are available in the instruction booklet that all tractor dealers furnish with their particular make of machine.

Compete in National Contests

The President's Trophy and Moses Leaders hip Trophy events are two of the contests at the National 4-H Club Congress in which Nebraska will have representatives. The Congress opens next Monday, November 30, at Chicago, and continues through December 2.

Eda Tyson of Cass County and Dwayne Lewis of Buffalo County are Nebraska's representatives in the President's event. Waco Albert of Gage County and Virginia Lee Young of Adams County will represent the state in the Moses Leadership Trophy contest. In the past Nebraska has had two winners of the Moses Leadership Trophy, according to L. I. Frisbee They were Otto Dillon of Nuckolls County and Cora Mae Briggs of Seward County.

SHARE THE MEAT

The "Share the Meat" program that is to be launched soon is an opportunity to conserve one of the "right" foods that is so important in daily diet, according to Miss Mabel Doremus, Extension Foods Specialist at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

"To provide for fair sharing of the meat supply the foods requirement committee has asked each of us to hold our consumption at two and a half pounds per person per week. This amount is adequate for good nutrition," Miss Doremus states.

"The amount of meat allocated for civilian use will be shared among 128 million Americans. Of course, babies under 6 months of age and so-called vegetarians eat no meat. Children up to 12, invalids and older people eat less than adults or adolescents. On the basis of this in figuring your meat share there will be no meat for children under 6 months of age; three fourths of a pound on the average for children from 6 months to 6 years; one and one half pounds on the average for children from 6 to 12 years, and a full allowance or two and one half pounds for everyone over 12 years of age. Possibly other changes may be made in the plan from time to time.

"How you manage the week's supply of meat is for you to decide. Perhaps your family would prefer meatless days or possibly a general reduction throughout the week by means of meatless meals by using smaller portions. The important thing is to stay within the suggested limits. By some such plans as these we will share with others.

"This sharing of meat does not include glandular meats, liver, sweetbreads, kidneys, hearts, or the meats made from the head parts such as tongue, etc., nor does it include fish or poultry.

"In addition we have supplies of foods which are sources of good protein, such as eggs, cheese, milk, beans, a many cereal foods, vegetables which can be combined with the weekly allowance to make a completely satisfactory diet for health and strength."

Willard H. Waldo, County Agricultural Agent, Jessie H. Baldwin, Home Demonstration Agent.

Hears From Brother

Rt. Rev. Monsignor George Agius on Saturday received a cablegram from his brother, Father Merceles Agius, who is on the Island of Malta, their birthplace and has been there since just before the war with Germany was started. The message stated that all of the family were well, but owing to war restrictions there was no comments. The Island of Malta has defied the air might of Italy and Germany through long months of war and has raids almost every day but still serves a great British base and near the Italian coast.

Stores Closed Thanksgiving

Plattsmouth stores will be closed Thursday at noon in honor of Thanksgiving day it was announced today by officials of the Ad club.

Fifteen Point Program Of The Grange Given

Wenatchee, Wash., Nov. 24—(UP)—The American farmer needs manpower, tools with which to produce an income with which to obtain them, the National Grange executive committee said in a post-convention summary.

Meeting with Grange Master Albert S. Goss to discuss and plan policy, the committee presented a 15-point summary of the Grange platform. It called for:

1. Unlimited effort toward winning the war.
2. Recognizing agriculture's responsibility for maximum food and fibre production.
3. Universal service if necessary to win the war.
4. Deferment of essential agriculture workers.
5. Farm prices to allow farm wages to compete with industrial wages and prevent inflation.
6. Flexible price ceilings.
7. Basing parity on current price levels and including labor costs.
8. Elimination of subsidies as a substitute for "fair prices."
9. Maintenance of floors under farm prices to prevent post-war inflation.
10. Appointment of a man experienced if a food administrator is named.
11. Efficient transportation.
12. Basing taxation on ability to pay and benefits derived.
13. Avoidance of unnecessary centralization of government.
14. Unity and cooperation among farm organizations.
15. Planning for a lasting peace to assure all peoples an opportunity to exercise initiative and enterprise.

Gen. Eisenhower Placed In Command Of Africa Forces

London, Nov. 24 (UP)—All French Forces in Africa have been put under the command of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by agreement with Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, active commander of French fighting forces there, the German-controlled Paris radio said today.

Though the report was not confirmed here, it was regarded as the logical sequel to the swing of all French West Africa, including Dakar to the allied orbit, as announced over French African radios Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, the French leader in Africa.

News of the loss of Dakar enraged the Germans, evidently, and stimulated the new German-backed campaign to form an African Legion among continental Frenchmen, the so-called phalange Africaine, to fight the allies in Africa.

A German transoceanic dispatch from Vichy said leaders of the hastily organized Legion issued an appeal last night to all Frenchmen between the ages of 18 and 40 years to join it.

"Join us in order to conquer the French Colonial Empire and revenge our comrades killed at Mers El Kebir, Daka, Syria, Madagascar, Oran, Algiers and Casablanca," the proclamation read.

The Nazi Paris radio said that Axis troops in Tunisia were expecting the arrival of "new" contingents of troops from France to aid them.

It was assumed that the Nazi puppet dictator Pierre Laval, now in Paris, had given his support to the Legion idea.

Marshal Henry Phillip Petain in a brief and apparently delated radio speech last night appealed to French forces in West Africa to support him and, by implication, the Germans.

Recognizing the definite defection of the French forces in other zones, he said that the troops in West Africa and in French Somaliland on the east African coast alone "remain free from foreign forces."

"I confided in you the defense of French West Africa," Petain said. "You have fulfilled your mission. It is due to your heroism and firmness if in this turmoil there still exists one bit of African earth where the French flag still flies alone. If you are attacked you must defend yourselves to assert French sovereignty. You will loyally obey the orders which I give you."

However, it appeared that Dakar and the rest of West Africa had fallen into allied hands, with its men, guns, planes and ships, without a fight.

Dispatches indicated that the allied forces were making steady progress in their deliberate investment of the German-held areas of Tunisia.

Civilian Defense Ordinance Is Passed By Council

Provides For Enforcement Of Regulations During Time For Defense Pass Milk Ordinance

The city council last evening passed two regulatory ordinances, one a war time measure of civilian defense that provides for penalties for the violation or disregard of the rules set forth as necessary in the common defense and in cases of sabotage or air raids when a blackout out of the city may be necessary. The other ordinance passed is the one providing for the regulation of the handling of milk for sale by the public, providing for grading, transportation and the inspection of dairies where the milk is prepared for the market. The ordinances will be in effect following their publication in the Journal.

Mayor R. B. Hayes presented a letter to the city council from himself giving the correspondence that he had with the Henningsen Engineering company, relative to the contract with the city as to their services as engineers in the condemnation proceedings against the Plattsmouth Water corporation. This was ordered made a part of the city records.

Police Judge C. L. Graves reported for the week of November 15th, there had been one arrest and fines and costs of $15.70 collected.

Chairman Schutz of the street, alleys and bridges committee, reported that the city workers had started to enlarge the doors at the north side of the fire station in the city hall and found that it would be necessary to remove two iron post and widen the entrance for the new fire truck. This job was turned over to the parks and improvement committee of which Councilman Nelson is the chairman.

Chairman Schutz also reported the need of repairs at the end of the Granite street viaduct, also the desire of Ray Story to have a new walk placed on the west side of the Home Dairy. This permission was granted with the work under the supervision of the street committee.

Mr. Schutz stated that he had been promised relief in the matter of tire replacement for the city truck.

At the suggestion of the street, alleys and bridges committee, the resurfacing of Oak street, highway to the Oakhill cemetery, was ordered and the rock be placed where needed. It was estimated that fifty six tons would be required to make the road in the best of shape for the winter season.

The matter of the payment of compensation to Richard Gochenour, city employee, injured some weeks ago while handling scrap in the drive, was discussed. The city carries a policy on their employees and it was urged that steps be taken to see that there was some action by the insurance company in the matter and also in that of Chief of Police Parker who has a compensation claim. It was decided that if the company made no reply to the communication of the city clerk, that the matter be placed in the hands of the city attorney.

Councilman Vroman called attention of the council to the fact that the city has property located on the Missouri river bottoms that has been under lease to T. H. Pollock for the past few years. The rental has not been paid for the current year and the city clerk was ordered to notify Mr. Pollock.

The request of Henry Starkjohn and William Bayly for the right to construct a sidewalk near their home on 12th street was granted at the request of Councilman Rebal.

Councilman Vroman called attention to the fact that the next council meeting will be on Monday, December 14th, the date set for the blackout of the seventh corps area, also that almost all of the council have some part in the defense setup and therefore the council voted to hold the regular meeting on Tuesday December 15th.

Mayor Hayes presented the name of George Lushinsky as a member of the cemetery board to succeed E. O. Vroman and this was unanimously confirmed by the council.

The following claims were ordered paid by the council:

White Hybrids

Reports of satisfactory yields from fields of White Hybrid Corn grown this year are coming in from all the Corn Belt States.

This excellent performance of White Hybrids plus the unusually high premiums that have prevailed for White Corn should be an incentive for a big increase in White Corn acreage next year.

Now is the time to order your White Seed while the supply is available. Then you can be sure you're all set for next season's planting.
