MANLEY

By Journal Field Representative

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bergman and son spent Christmas day with the latter's relatives residing at Louisville. Teddy Harms, Jr., who is attending school in Lincoln, was home over Christmas and the remainder of the week.

C. E. Mockenhaupt and daughter, Miss Sue, were visited by Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Mockenhaupt, of near Alvo, on Christmas Day.

Herman J. Rauth has been excavating for a basement under his farm home when the weather is such that he can't do much else. Herman Dall had all the folks home for Christmas, with the exception of one son, Frank.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rauth entertained Miss Anna Rauth, their daughter from Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mockenhaupt, their son Billie, and their daughter Miss Anna Marie, who was home from her school at Sinsinawa, at dinner on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stander were in Omaha on Monday. Mr. Stander underwent hospitalization recently and on this trip reported back to his physician for a check-up. He is getting along very nicely.

The building and premises formerly occupied by the firm of Cranes Curry and Murty was recently purchased by Fred Stohlman, who has been repairing and painting in preparation for occupancy in the immediate future as a lumber yard, hardware store and machinery and farm implement business.

George Rau of Utica returned to Manley and will make his home here. He was employed in a store in Utica.

A peculiar situation exists, that in many lines it is not possible to get goods sufficient to continue business. The writer met a man from Valley who attends sales for the specific purpose of buying farm machinery and equipment for resale to farmers. He finds a ready sale as new machinery is difficult to obtain.

The Manley schools closed for a short vacation last week and will reopen again in January. The teachers and scholars gave an interesting program, complete with a Christmas tree and treats.

The fore part of last week John C. Rauth butchered, with the aid of Walter Mockenhaupt. On Wednesday they rendered lard and made sausage, as well as the other work which always follows winter butchering on the farm.

Wm. Scheehan was a recent visitor in Plattsmouth, looking after business matters and consulting with the rationing board.

Alvo News

Special Journal Correspondence

While home on furlough, Sgt. Gilbert Glaubitz, son of Mrs. Soren Petersen, was united in marriage to Miss Rose Scrupp. The ceremony took place on Wednesday. Sgt. Glaubitz departed Monday for his camp. His bride will remain in Lincoln, where she is employed. The Journal joins with their many friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

J. B. Elliott is in Lincoln looking after his interests in the "All American Cafe." Mrs. Phillip Coatman is in charge of the cafe.

Phillip Coatman, who is in India, and near New Delhi, writes home that he is very busy. He told of much activity with the allies and the Japs. Phillip Coatman is in charge of the servicing of airplanes and other defense machinery.

Arthur Dinger, the garage man, was in Weeping Water on Tuesday to attend a meeting which would better acquaint him with his duties as tire inspector and rationing board member. He was also in Lincoln Wednesday, looking after business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Banning were Sunday dinner hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Banning and their daughter, Mrs. Carl Peters of Nebraska City, and W. B. Banning and wife of Union.

Bill Roelofs, who was down to Camp Crowder to visit his brother returned home last Wednesday. He was accompanied by Mrs. John Roelofs, who remained with her husband at Camp Crowder until after the Christmas season.

Bill Roelofs, has received notice for examination and is to report for induction in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Coatman entertained at Christmas dinner and had as their guests Sterling Coatman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frolich, Martin Nickles and family.
