C. N. A. Last week she was sworn into the W. A. A. C., and is now awaiting her call to duty. We take great pride in announcing her appointment, as she is Weeping Water's first member of the W. A. A. C.

William G. Clark, has moved from Union to Weeping Water, and is now employed at the Oldham Feed and Filling Station. It takes us back into Memory Lane to have a member of the Clark family again waiting on customers at a Weeping Water place of business, as his father, K. D. Clark, was our pioneer merchant for several years, then returned and operated a general merchandise store in the center of the block on the south side of the street.

Mrs. E. Franz, of Union, has moved to Weeping Water, and she and her father, William G. Clark, and the sister-in-law, Mrs. Omer Clark, are making their home together. Mrs. Franz expects to go to Ft. Worth, Texas, to visit her brother, Smith Clark, soon, and then will return to Weeping Water to make her home.

Miss Elizabeth Glosser, commercial teacher in the Weeping Water high school has resigned and accepted a position as a defense worker, at Grand Island. Mrs. Florence Paap, of Otoe, has been hired to take her place.

H. C. Elliott, secretary-treasurer, announced that tentative plans are being made to hold the Nehawka-Otoe county farm loan association annual meeting at Nehawka, Tuesday afternoon, February 2, and the Alvo and Greenwood associations annual meeting to be held at Alvo High school building, Saturday afternoon, Feb. 6. Each meeting will be purely business, on account of need to conserve rubber and gaso-

TELEPHONES ARE NOT FROZEN!

Despite a contrary belief held by a large section of the public, there has been no general "freezing" of main business or main residence telephone installations! There has been no general "freezing" of business extension installations! Residence extensions HAVE been "frozen" insofar as the general public is concerned, but essential communication service can be maintained in any community without the installation of additional residence extensions.

True, certain logical and reasonable limitations have been placed, by the War Production Board, upon types of service and equipment. We are in full accord with the spirit and letter of these limitations. For example, we are asking new subscribers to sign interim agreements providing for the release of their telephone facilities for war use if, and when, the need arises. And we constantly ask our subscribers to make no unnecessary social calls and to keep their conversations short—in order that our facilities may be properly shared by all.

On the other hand, however, our Government has very definitely indicated that existing telephone equipment should be used to its full capacity—to aid our war effort and to stimulate civilian business, production and morale. Thus, if all our subscribers use their service with consideration for the other fellow, we believe it will be possible to attain capacity usage of our lines without denying service to anyone.
