

Woman's Club Meets

Miss Dorothea Meyer, local teacher who traveled extensively in Europe before the war, told of her travels at the Woman's Club meeting at the library last night.

Twice a visitor to the countries of Europe, once in 1933 and again in 1937, the speaker drew a sharp contrast between conditions she observed on the first trip and those existing on the second. She pointed out there was no hint of impending war in '33. Then in '37 a condition of unrest and alarm told of the horror that was soon to break out.

The problem of what to do about the girl scouts came to the attention of the members. Miss Dorothy Lightburn was leader for the girls organization until the time of her departure to teach in the schools of a neighboring city.

Mrs. Blanche Highfield, teacher, volunteered her services as leader for the girls providing she can have the help of an assistant.

John Cloidt sang "Beautiful Dreamer," and "When the Lights Go on Again." Mrs. Cloidt played the piano accompaniment for him.

Hostesses were: Mrs. George Lushinsky, Mrs. William Goller, Mrs. R. A. Bates and Mrs. J. G. McMacken.

Aid in the War Effort

The Uncle Sam's Daughters, local group of ladies who have been engaged in selling war stamps and bonds here for the nine months, have made a really great record in the total of their efforts.

In the time since they first opened their campaign in July 1942, they have sold $18,675.84 in this city through their solicitation, in this amount being $4,504.55 that was sold at the Cass theatre.

Mrs. Glenn Vallery will call the Uncle Sam's Daughters this week to sell in the stores and assign the different salesladies.

Inkier's Club Meets

Last evening the members of the Inkier's Club were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Cloidt on high school hill. The evening was spent in bridge and in playing the honors were divided between Mrs. Henry Stark-john and Mrs. Robert Cappell. Miss Laura Meisinger was a guest. The hostess served much enjoyed refreshments at a suitable hour.

Hears from Former Resident

Friends here have received word from Bill Hula who lived in Plattsmouth before moving to Sedalia, Missouri with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hula. Young Hula, a marine, writes from Pearl Harbor where he has recently been stationed following his training on the west coast. He reports that he likes the service and tells of the beautiful scenery on the islands. Carl Hula, his brother, is serving somewhere in the south Pacific area with the army.

Entertains Bridge Club

Miss Minnie Guthman entertained members of the Afternoon Bridge club at her home late last week. Prize winners were Mrs. Henry Goss and Mrs. J. A. Donelan. Following the games the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Hears from Husband

Mrs. James Persinger reports that her husband, serving with the Seabees, supposedly in Alaska, has recently changed jobs. He is now doing office work. His exact location with the 12th Construction Battalion was not disclosed.

Allotments To Soldier Dependents

Seventh Service Command Explains Methods of Securing Benefits of Dependant's Allowance

Omaha, March 3.—All men who expect to be inducted into the army through any station in the Seventh Service Command, or who already are in service there without benefit of army allotments to their dependents, are urged by the commanding general to make immediate and thorough study of the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance act of 1942 that they may profit by its provisions.

Every induction station in the nine states comprising this command is being specifically instructed by headquarters here to give all possible assistance to the soldier applicants that the necessary data may be obtained by the applicants during their seven-day furlough for arranging personal affairs at home, and that aid to his dependents, if needed, shall be forthcoming immediately after the soldier's first pay check. Seldom is it necessary for the soldier to seek legal counsel and there should be little expense or inconvenience to him if he carefully follows the instructions given at his induction station.

Under the provisions of this act monthly pay allotments by the soldier for care of his dependents are supplemented by slightly larger payments by the government and the total of both paid monthly to the person whom the soldier has designated to administer the fund.

Dependents have been divided into two classes, A and B. Class A includes wives, both legal and common-law, or divorced, if the latter is receiving under court order, alimony payments from the soldier; children under 18 years of age, legitimate, illegitimate, legally adopted, or step-children. Class B includes parents, brothers and sisters and grandchildren. The parents may be either those of the soldier or of his wife and the relationship "blood," or adoption, or that acquired by marriage, as step-father or step-mother. Likewise brothers and sisters may be such by "whole-blood," "half-blood," or by adoption.

All children, grandchildren, brothers and sisters who are to receive this aid must be less than 18 years old unless their physical or mental condition is such that although older than 18 years they nevertheless are incapable of self-support.

Seek Wildcat Wells

Washington, March 2. —(UP)—Petroleum Administrator for War, Harold L. Ickes, today called for the drilling of a minimum of 4500 wildcat oil wells in 1943—fifty percent more than were ever drilled in a single year.

The volume of new crude oil reserves discovered in any one year since 1938 he said, has not equaled the volume of crude oil consumed.

"In recent years the scarcity of new discoveries of a very large size coupled with the increasing essential demands for petroleum, is resulting in a continued graft on the nations accumulated crude oil reserves at a time when the outlook is for even greater essential petroleum requirements," he said.

Terminates Visit

Miss Delia Tartsch left for her home in Omaha yesterday after spending a few days here at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Tartsch.

Canadian Paratroopers Train in United States

Maybe the jump master is telling them the old one about sending their chutes back if they don't work or maybe he's got a new one. Anyway, he seems to be peppering the boys up as they tensely await order to jump. Picture was made by Photographer Harry Rowed while in flight high above the Fort Benning School.

Another excellent example of the high degree of co-operation which now exists between the United States and Canada in the fighting of this greatest of all wars is the training of Canadian paratroopers at the big U. S. Army school at Fort Benning, Ga. It was originally planned that after the first batch of paratroopers were trained for Canada at Fort Benning that a Canadian school would be set up at Camp Shilo, Manitoba. Unexpected delays in the obtaining of certain equipment made it impossible to carry on the parachute training at Camp Shilo this winter so an arrangement was made with United States authorities to train additional Canadian paratroopers at Fort Benning. The U. S. Army was anxious to test equipment under special winter conditions, so facilities were provided for the doughboys at Camp Shilo. Thus a simple swap was made that was characteristic of the manner in which the United States and Canada have been working almost as one unit in a joint war effort.

The Canadians are tickled with the opportunity of visiting the southern United States and their letters home have been full of praise for the hospitality and good fellowship shown them by the people of the South.

The formation of a parachute unit in the Canadian Army is in line with the policy that has made it one of the most highly-mechanized and hard hitting forces for its size in the world. Although the country's small population has made it impossible to ever place a large army in the field, Canada has determined that lack of volume in manpower will be made up by quality.

Next spring the United States troops at Camp Shilo will return to their country and the Canadian troops at Fort Benning will return to Camp Shilo. Like American paratroopers, the Canadians receive extra pay for their hazardous duties. Very stiff standards have been set up for the Canadian paratroopers. Already there have been far more volunteers for the special unit than there are vacancies. A significant indication of their future duties is the fact that thirty per cent of the paratroop unit will be made up of French Canadians who are bilingual. The paratroop soldiers are required to be not more than 185 pounds in weight with no recent fractures and almost perfect eyesight. They must also have specially good feet and ankles,

More Liberal Benefits

Lincoln, Nebr., March 2. (UP)—The Labor and Public Works committee has taken no action to "unfreeze" R. T. Malone from his job as Director of the division of Workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance, but it did report out a bill to increase maximum benefit to workmen.

Both bills were by George Craven of Lincoln. The first bill, LB-341, "thaws Malone out so that he must be appointed every two years," Craven said.

Sitting on Front

With American Forces in Southern Tunisia, March 3 —(UP)—The allied general roared up to Kasserine pass in his jeep one morning, pulling up to within 10 feet of a mine field. "Where is the front?" he asked a sentry.
"You're sitting on it," the sentry replied.
