

Federal Housing Administration Nine Years Old

Birthday Finds $32,787,106 Residential Mortgage Loans in Force Is Shown

The Federal Housing Administration is nine years old today, June 27, and has in Nebraska insured residential mortgage loans in the amount of $32,787,106, it was announced Saturday by Holger Holm, State Director.

The National Housing Act, under which FHA operates, became a law June 27, 1934. The Nebraska office was set up shortly thereafter. "The first year," said Mr. Holm, was largely taken up in educational work to acquaint the public and the lenders with the functions of FHA. If banks, insurance companies, trust companies, and other lenders were to make high-rate mortgage loans at a low rate of interest and for from twenty to twenty-five years, with the Government insuring the loan through FHA, then these lenders wanted to take some time to study the provisions of the law. They wanted to satisfy themselves that the law was sound. Here was apparently a quick and safe outlet for millions of their loanable funds, but they wanted to be sure their money would really be safe under this law, which was new in 1934.

"After they satisfied themselves that the law was sound, that their loans would really be insured against loss, and that debentures issued in case of loss were guaranteed by the U. S. Treasury and not merely by some contingent fund, they came into the market quickly and began making FHA loans.

"In 1935 the Nebraska office insured residential mortgage loans in the amount of $697,120. From that time on, the annual volume has grown steadily every year except one, being the "recession" year 1937, and it appears at this time that 1943 will be the all time record year."

Following are the figures as to mortgage loans insured in Nebraska by FHA up to the present time, as released by Director Holm:

1935	$ 607,120
1936	1,442,750
1937	1,375,600
1938	2,517,999
1939	3,870,200
1940	4,376,800
1941	5,958,500
1942	5,278,037
1943	4,260,100 (up to June 27)
Total	$32,787,106

In 1853 there were 28 occupied Indian pueblos in New Mexico. This number has decreased until now there are only 18. Of this number all date back to pre-Spanish times except the Pueblo of Laguna, which was established after the Spaniards came.

Want Definite Rule On Drafting Of The Fathers

House Committee Seeks to Clarify Position of Selective Service Toward Fathers

Washington, June 24—(UP)—The house military affairs committee today plans to ask the manpower commission and selective service to clarify at once recent conflicting statements on the drafting of fathers for military service.

Demands for "putting the cards on the table" for fathers came from both the house and senate after recurring reports that the army has modified its 10,500,000 estimate of the number of servicemen needed to win the war and that it may never get around to calling large numbers of fathers.

Chairman Andrew J. May, D. Ky., of the house military affairs committee said he was preparing letters to manpower chief Paul V. McNutt and selective director Lewis B. Hershey, asking for an explanation.

"One day we hear they expect to call all the fathers and very shortly," May said. "The next day we hear just the opposite. It's getting so nobody, least of all the men affected, know where they stand on this matter."

"We're going to see if we can't get some kind of a specific declaration from these men upon which they both agree."

McNutt told the governor's conference at Columbus, O., yesterday that fathers would be called for military service only when "every last alternative" has been exhausted. Asserting that although the month for general drafting of fathers recently had been set back, he said "we cannot yet say how far." The date will be determined, he said, by the fortunes of war, the lowering of physical standards, and the drafting of older men.

The senate demands for clarification came from Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., who said yesterday that he had information that plans already were underway to drastically reduce the rate of inductions during the remaining months of 1943.

"For instance," he said, "The August quota of about 238,000 has been cut to about 150,000 and they are going to reduce proportionately each of the remaining months of the year."

Much of the confusion stems from recent testimony before congressional committees on appropriations bills.

In the Kansas City, Mo., and Kan., zone, 49 retail florists formed a joint plan for handling orders which is expected to save 150,000 truck-miles a year.

Corn Plant Closes

Pekin, Ill., June 23. (UP)—Because of a lack of corn, the corn products refining company today tapered off production of starch and starch derivatives at its Pekin plant.

The last of its available corn was ground yesterday but the processing of this grain was expected to keep the plant busy through today after which production will be halted.

The 1,100 employees of the plant will be assigned temporary jobs repairing the damage wrought by recent floods.

"We can't depend on getting what the government says it will release," Leroy Godfrey, manager of the firm's grain department said. "We'd have a new supply of corn if old obligations were fulfilled, and yet in the face of this, the government has the nerve to ask us to produce more starch."
