

Weeping Water

The R. H. Gray family are moving into their newly acquired home, west of the City Park, and adjoining the city limits, Saturday. Water pipes have been laid, and city water piped into the home, and other improvements have been made, making the home more modern. Their present home has been sold to O. C. Hinds, and will be occupied by Mr. Hinds son-in-law, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Long.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eastrum, of Omaha, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Mogens Johnson returned home Saturday after spending six weeks on the western coast, visiting their daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Johnson Ehlers, at San Francisco, a sister of Mrs. Johnson's at Oakland, Mrs. Christina Peterson, at Santa Cruz, and the Torrence Flemings', at Long Beach. They also visited Mrs. Peterson's two sons, Donald and Sogard. Enroute home they stopped at Siebert Colorado, and visited Mr. Johnson's brother, Martin Johnson, and wife. They report that their daughter, Mrs. Ehlers, has a fine position with the Lakeside Laboratories, while her husband is with the armed forces somewhere on the Pacific. They made the return trip by Bus, and had no trouble, at all, and had good service all of the way.

Children's Day exercises at the Congregational Church, were held at ten-thirty, Sunday morning, with Mrs. Victor Wallick, junior superintendent in charge, assisted by the teachers of the Junior department. The theme of the program was "We would see Jesus," and depicted the birth of Jesus, the boyhood of Jesus, and the Ministry of Jesus. Special music was furnished by the senior choir, and Rev. Louis Heib gave a talk about the "Children of the Bible." Jane and Dorothy Moulden gave a report of the Doane College Youth Conference, which they had attended.

Reed O'Hanlon Jr.'s article about "The Knocker" in last Sunday's World-Herald magazine section, brought back memories of Will Campbell, when he lived in Weeping Water, with his parents, in the nineties. The family lived in the south part of town, and the children attended our schools for several years. Embittered by circumstances which changed his whole outlook in life, when a boy, he became very sarcastic, and enjoyed venting his hatred for all people, and all things, in the small magazine called "The Knocker". This lasted only a short time, however. He fell in love and was married before going to Omaha, to take the position of secretary to the Chamber of Commerce. His marriage seemed to change his ways of thinking and living. He and his brother Glen, became the owners and publishers of a daily paper at Helena, Montana, and were very successful as newspaper men.

The "Busy Bees" sewing club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of their leader, Mrs. Murray Mutter, with Opal Reehle, and LaVon Lahring, as hostesses. Eleven members were present and worked hard learning how to bind buttonholes, and to finish the seams of the dresses which they are making. Joan

Mrs. Maynard Tritsch, and daughters, and Mrs. Philip Tritsch were Sunday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooper. Meryl Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunt, is stationed at Camp Davis. Saturday evening he attended a U. S. O. entertainment, at Sacramento, and was one of the boys in service, who won the privilege of talking to his mother over the telephone. It was a great treat to Mrs. Hunt to hear her son's voice over the telephone.

Russel VanEvery has finished his basic training, at Gardner Field, and has been transferred to Stockton Field, California.

William J. VanEvery (Billy), son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. VanEvery, and Raymond Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Freeman, arrived home Saturday evening for a short visit, from Pasco, Washington, where they have been in camp with the Naval Reserves. They remained at home until Wednesday morning, when they returned to Pasco. They expect to be transferred to Corpus Christi, Texas.

Elwin West has a position as water carrier at the Ft. Crook bomber plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ruby, of Nebraska City, spent last week with Bernard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ruby.

Preceding the meeting of livestock feeders Tuesday evening, officers, and out-of-town guests enjoyed a dinner together, at Mac's Cafe annex.

Walter Little was taken very ill Tuesday, and was taken to Bryan Memorial hospital in the evening, for what seemed to be an emergency appendectomy, but which proved to be more serious than had been expected. Accompanying him to the hospital were his wife, and two daughters, and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dickman, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klemme. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oldham, life long friends, also accompanied them, returning late that evening. Their many friends will anxiously await word of his condition.

August 25, 26, and 27 are the dates for the Cass County Fair, this fall, and it will be conducted the same as last year, and will sponsor the 4-H club exhibits. The business men of Weeping Water, as usual, will furnish free street entertainment, with the same entertainers as have been seen at the State Fair for the past several years.

Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Bradshaw, of Denver, are expected here tomorrow, Friday, for a short visit with Mrs. Bradshaw's mother, Mrs. Amanda McDonald, enroute to Pennsylvania, where Dr. Bradshaw will be stationed with the armed forces, for training.

Livestock Feeder's Day Meeting in Weeping Water

Believing that an organization of stock feeders, in every state with tentacles reaching out into every part of every county, might be the means of securing representation on the national board, in Washington, D. C., stock feeders of Cass county, are lining up with feeders of other counties. Tuesday evening, at the Agricultural Auditorium, in Weeping Water, was completed the organization, which was started two weeks ago, at a meeting held at Murray, when Parr Young was elected as president, Melvin Todd, as vice president, and Charles Boedeker, as secretary-treasurer. Out of the county guests at Tuesday's meeting were John Furlong, of the Chicago Tribune, Carlyle Hodgkin, farm editor of the World Herald; Wm. A. Loeffel, of the animal husbandry department of the state University; Marvin Baker, of the state University; Byron Demorest, E. A. Kelloway, secretary of the Omaha Live Stock Exchange, and C. E. Metzger, president of the Omaha Live Stock Exchange. Loeffel, the first speaker of the evening, spoke of the shortage of roughage, for feeding, especially in parts of the state affected by spring floods. Melvin Todd brought reports from meetings attended in other counties, and asked for greater co-operation in Cass county. Parr Young told of the messages which were sent to Washington, D. C., as protests against the roll back of prices, and the subsidy bill. Byron Demorest gave a brief resume of the situation as relating to the stock feeders situation, at Washington, at the present time, saying that a stock feeder, with vision is needed on the Washington board, and that every stock feeder should be in this organization, and that "If we don't hang together, we will hang apart." E. A. Kelloway, secretary of the Omaha Live Stock Exchange, declared that there is a tremendous battle ahead for stock feeders. Their problems are just beginning, he said, and they need a representative in Washington. Not a bright picture to contemplate, he said. The condition has not arisen suddenly, but feeders have not been able to learn the true situation, instead of being kept in the dark about matters, they hear only bewildering reports.

Marvin Baker, of the State University, said that the pressure of war is bound to affect the livestock business. We are engaged in a struggle in which our total assets must be used. That goes in agriculture, as well as in every other part of our national life. He stated that the livestock situation is in a mess, and the food problem is bad. The uncertainty of our market is a basis for organization. The speakers all agreed that feeders are one group which has no organization to speak for them, and they have more occasion today, to work together than ever before.

A constitution and by-laws were adopted and three directors elected for the coming year. They were: 1st district, Sterling Ingwersen; 2nd district, George Domingo; 3rd district, Ray Eveland. Marilyn and Joan Blacker, of Nebraska City, returned home Friday, after spending a week at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Martin.

Mrs. Vernon Gish was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital, Saturday night, when she underwent an appendectomy. Latest reports are that she is recovering, as rapidly, as possible.

Wilson Gilmore, and his niece, Mrs. Philip Tritsch, visited at the home of Mrs. Tritsch's daughter, Mrs. Oliver Miller, in Lincoln, from Thursday until Sunday, last week.

Another real estate deal which we heard about, recently, was the sale of the Earl Terryberry eighty acres, to Ted Harms, of Manly.

Barbara Jean Anderson, of Seward, spent the week end at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Taylor and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stall and family of Lincoln called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frolich and family last Sunday evening.

The Happy-Go-Lucky Sewers

Our club met in June at the home of Neola Read's grandmother. There were five members present. Each member answered roll call by giving the requirement of good grooming and the color combination of the kitchen outfit. We were sorry to lose Bernita Earl as a member. Bonnie Muenchau offered her home for the extra meeting. Virginia Herman plans on having the achievement day meeting. The president appointed Neola Read as news reporter.

The summer wardrobe group looked over their slips they made. They brought the dress patterns and materials and chose those suitable for each girl. Those learning to sew learned to use the sewing machine and darn. Bonnie Hinebaugh gave a demonstration on the care of nails and hands. Delores Scattergood gave a demonstration on how to sew on snaps.

Mrs. Jake Frolich, Pat Piersol and Betty Read were welcome visitors. A delicious lunch of butterscotch pie and strawberry cool aid was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be at the home of Bonnie Hinebaugh.
