Watch Social Security Cards

With the beginning of the school year high school students were today urged by Willard D. Ekberg, manager of the Lincoln field office of the Social Security Board, to make certain they put away their social security account number cards in a safe place where they can quickly find them when they again go to work.

Mr. Ekberg stated that the safeguarding of account number cards by all workers would save many sorely needed man-hours and a lot of expense. "A study made by the Social Security Board," he said, "shows that the cost of issuing duplicate cards in a year's time would have bought 25,000,000 rounds of ammunition."

Unique Footwear

The window of the Woster Shoe store has a very interesting showing, a pair of shoes or sandals from the far distant shore of North Africa. These are the work of natives of the countries now in control of the allies and are most interesting as showing what the best dressed people are using for footwear. The sandals were secured by Cpl. Donald Wurga, now in service in that area and sent here to his family. They have attracted a great deal of attention.

The latest bag raised to 319 the total of enemy ships hit by American submarines since Pearl Harbor—223 sunk, 29 probably sunk and 67 damaged.

(Tokyo radio acknowledged U. S. submarines' activity in Japanese home waters with the assertion today that thirteen American submarines were sunk during July and August near Japan and in "other seas.")

Nazis Claim To Have Captured Rome, Italy

London, Sept. 10. (UP)—German officials reported the capitulation of Rome today after a fierce battle between Italian and Nazi forces and claimed the seizure of Naples all of northern Italy, Albania and other strategic Balkan areas as far east as the Dodecanese Islands, after many clashes with the Italian troops.

An Italian Stefani broadcast from Rome said German and Italian authorities had reported an agreement by which Nazi troops will stay in the outskirts of Rome but would occupy the city's radio station and central telephone exchange.

Strong German forces under Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring launched an attack on Rome and presented an ultimatum to the city which capitulated after attempting to fight off the Nazis with powerful forces, a German communique broadcast by the official news agency said.

Towerman Came Close To Averting Fatal Rail Wreck

Had Seen Burning Journal Box on Train and Tried to Get the Train Halted But Too Late

Philadelphia, Sept. 10. (UP)—Testimony of an official investigation into the wreck of the Pennsylvania railroad's Congressional Limited last Monday night revealed today that a towerman came within seconds of averting the derailment which killed 79 persons and injured 116 others.

Harold McClintock, a switch engineer, told the investigators that he saw flames shooting from the journal box of one of the cars on the express as it flashed by him three-quarters of a mile from the scene of the accident. McClintock said that he shouted to A. J. Carlin, a yard clerk, who ran to a telephone and called John P. Boyer, towerman at the signal tower immediately adjoining Frankford Junction, scene of the crash.

Boyer told the investigators that even as he received the message the express jumped the tracks and cars began piling up.

Earlier in the hearing the train's crew testified that routine inspections were carried out during the run, scheduled from Washington to New York, and that "all was normal" five miles from Frankford Junction. Railroad officials said their evidence left no doubt but that the accident was caused by the journal which developed a hot box and dropped an axle.

More Milk and Eggs

Greenfield, S. C., Sept. 10. (UP)—Associate war food administrator, J. B. Hutson, today outlined a 1944 farm program calling for a 20 per cent reduction in hog numbers but larger milk and egg production.

Dairy cows must be given preference over hogs in the apportionment of smaller total food supplies the next twelve months, Hutson told a meeting of the North Carolina farm-bureau Federation, the 1944 hog goal according to Hutson, will be 100,000,000 head compared with 125,000,000 this year and 105,000,000 in 1942. The large reduction, he said, must be made in areas dependent upon outside sources for feed.

"Our principal concern is over the production of milk, the dairy products, Hutson said. "If a choice must be made between hogs and cows by farmers who have insufficient feed for all his livestock, we hope that the cows will be maintained."

"The poultry flock also is likely to feel the pinch of feed supplies this winter, but we hope that the laying hen will not be made to suffer on this account. It may be necessary to make a further reduction in the production of commercial broilers."

Sketch Of Life Of Pioneer Of Cass County

Another Cass county pioneer is gone. Joseph Tighe, long-time resident of the Manley and Wabash communities, died August 28th at the home of his son, James C. Tighe in Hynes, California, near Los Angeles. He was in his 89th year, and up to the time of a fall last February which broke his hip, he was active physically and mentally. He was an ardent life-long democrat, and keenly followed national and world developments to the last. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Anna Fitzgerald of Mynard and the late Frank Schlater.

Joseph Tighe was born May 9, 1855 at Petersburg, Ontario, Canada, the son of John and Mary Tighe. As a youth he came to the College Hill community south of Louisville with his family in the early 1870's. There in 1884 he married Carrie Schlater, daughter of the late Conrad and Mary Donelan Schlater, who arrived in Plattsmouth in the late 1850's.

He was in the grain business for many years, first at Bradshaw, and later at Wabash. He was at one time the defeated candidate for clerk of the district court against the late James Robertson. He moved to Los Angeles in 1926, where Mrs. Tighe died in 1935.

His funeral took place from Our Lady of the Rosary Catholic church, Hynes, with burial beside his wife in Calvary cemetery, Los Angeles. He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Mary Carper of Lincoln, his brother, Josias Tighe, of Omaha, his sons, Eugene F., of Los Angeles, Fred C., and James C., of Hynes, and Francis N., of the U. S. Navy, nine grandchildren, and a host of friends.

Former Plattsmouth relatives and friends attending the funeral services were Mrs. Opal Fitzgerald Will, Mrs. Katie Walling, daughter Margaret and son Leonard, and Mr. and Mrs. John Schulhof, William Schlater, Joseph Schlater, son of the late Frank Schlater; Also present were Mrs. Alice Todd and Mrs. Fern Hotaling, daughters of the late John D. and Mrs. Ferguson of Louisville, and Mary Hotaling.

Railroad Saves Crop

Oostburg, Wis., Sept. 10. (UP)—A railroad locomotive sent to the rescue prevented the loss of 40,000 pounds of freshly picked peas, when the main boiler burst at the Oostburg cannery. John Van Driest, plant manager, said the boiler burst shortly before midnight. For several hours employees worked frantically packing the peas on ice. Then Driest sent a call for help to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. Early the next morning a big freight locomotive pulled up to a siding near the plant. Connecting tubes were set up and steam from the locomotive flooded the cannery's cookers.

"Had it not been for that locomotive," said Van Driest, "we would have lost all 40,000 pounds of the peas."
