MOVES TO NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rosborough, has been in poor health for some who recently purchased the St. Paul's church parsonage on west Walnut street, are now located in the new home. The residence has been newly stuccoed and is one of the most attractive homes in that section of the city. The families formerly resided in the Robertson property on east Vine street.

REPORTED IMPROVING

Dayton, Ohio, with her mother, The public invited.

writes that the mother, Mrs. Corbin, who has been quite critically ill, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hanson and is now some better. Mrs. Corbin time and Mrs. Davis has been there for the past several weeks to assist in the care omf the mother.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

To be served at Baptist church, Union, Nebr., Thursday, Nov. 25th, at noon. Price 65 cents.

PROGRAM-PLATE SUPPER

Rock Creek school, Dist. No. Mrs. Searl S. Davis, who is at Friday, November 12th, 8:30 p. m. 8-2tw

ALL OUT FOR VICTORY

The government is asking you to store your winter supply of Coal NOW to save transportation for war material later on. So see us now for your next Winter's Coal.

E. J. RICHEY

Lumber - Coal Phone 128

CHAPTER V

Big-hearted Sarah Daffodil acts in every capacity for the four-family house in Garset after her husband's death. The frugal, elderly Mr. and Mrs. Peppercorn and the newly-wed Andrew and Candace Thane occupy the two top-floor apartments and below them middle-aged Bert Fitts and his wife-who is too engrossed war activities to care for her homeand King Waters, veteran of World War I and his wife, Emma, a devotee of fine crocheting. The Peppercorns wish to help a destitute family found by Hen, the junkman, sheltered under his scrap metal. Mrs. Peppercorn calls on Mrs. Fitts to ask her aid but Mrs. Fitts is not interested.

It was Sarah who overheard King Waters as she waited in the cash grocery late one afternoon. It was funny, King was saying to a group of sympathetic neighborhood women, how sentimental a man could be. Sometimes he was half ashamed of his soft heart, but sometimes he was rather glad that he wasn't as cold as stone. "Now you take the papers re-cently." He patted the evening paper rolled in his pocket. "I can't pick up a paper these days that I don't see the name of some town that I remember as a lad in olive drab. Lord, Lord, the things we saw and the things we did!"

Sarah selected her loaf of bread from the rack, saw no immediate chance of having it wrapped and turned her attention to King, who was now relating that the American doughboys were the most generous in the world.

"No one will ever know the number of French orphans our outfit adopted. We just made ourselves responsible for every youngster as soon as we moved into a town. Those kids, plenty of them, didn't know white bread and chocolate bars had been invented. I tell you I'll never forget the look in their eyes as they held out their hands to us. There's something about a child in distress that breaks you all up. I always used to go to pieces."

The women murmured, but Sarah detoured around a crate of pineapples and spoke with firmness. "Good afternoon, Mr. Waters. You're just the person I want to see. Mr. and Mrs. Peppercorn are in great need of a little assistancethey're trying to rehabilitate a destitute family. Father, mother and serio in a junk yard," Briefly Sarah outlined what had been accomplished for the Beimers to date. A | terested in Civilian Defense." bit of cash would help incalculably. she said. "Just imagine an entire family almost naked and on the verge of starving. I don't believe you saw anything much worse than that in France.'

"It's entirely different here." King Waters looked unhappy. "No one starves in this country. We have established agencies to handle every emergency.

Red tape operated against the Beimers, Sarah countered.

"Oh, well, they can't expect to have their case attended to by pushing a button. It's taken time for them to reach their present level, naturally it will take a little time to lift them up." He made it a practice not to contribute on impulse. Waters stated, edging toward the counter and trying to attract the busy clerk's eye. "It discourages the trained welfare workers who have made a study of assistance and who can be trusted to take hold in a practical manner." Sarah gripped her bread grimly.

"That's what you think." Even the Government, Waters reminded her, discouraged individual and indiscriminate gifts. "The only charitable deductions they allow you on your income tax returns are for contributions to organized chari-

It did not improve Sarah's temper to be overtaken on her way home by Toni Fitts who was not one, so she said, to discuss her neighbors. "But I can't help thinking that it's a little funny that Mrs. Thane has been sewing every night this week for those proteges of the Peppercorns. Yet she told me point-blank that she couldn't give even one night a week to war relief, because she must spend her evenings at home with her husband. I do like people to be consistent. I trust I am

Mrs. Thane's husband had worked with her, Sarah declared, resisting the temptation to brandish her loaf of bread. "Besides, you may be interested to know that Mrs. Beimer is an Englishwoman. She has two brothers with the British Army, I've been wondering whether any of the societies you work with would do anything for her."

"Everyone was swamped, had been asked to give to so many causes," Toni murmured. "I doubt whether the women would feel obligated to help a woman like that under the circumstances.'

Early in June Emma Waters heard the first faint rumors that production of refrigerators might be curtailed. "Of course I don't believe it, really, not for a moment. Still, they say the country is going to need more and more

"It's entirely different here," said Walters, "No one starves in this country."

they'll reach out and take next." It was Tuesday, the Waters' garden day. She had asked Toni Fitts to spend the afternoon with her, but that restless person complained that she could not go away from her telephones. They solved the problem by placing one of the extensions on the window sill of the living room which overlooked the garden. Toni was expecting to hear from the newly organized office of the Civilian Defense. No one knew yet what the duties of the volunteers would be, but Toni was firm in her determination that there must be becoming uniforms. "About refrigerators," Mrs. Waters explained. "It seems to me that if there is likely to be a shortage, it might be a good thing to ask for new refrigerators now.' "You mean here?"

She had spoken to Sarah Daffodil, Mrs. Waters revealed. "I pointed out that while the iceboxes we have now are in fair condition. if the prospect is that they can't be replaced within three or four years, they'll be pretty well worn-

Toni Fitts stared absently at the toe of her heavy tan brogue. She said slowly "I'd like a larger box. six children, living under piles of I may have to do considerable entertaining this summer. In a way it's up to me to get the women in-

"Well, you know how Sarah is." Mrs. Waters slapped at a fly. "I had quite a time getting her to see the logic of the thing and then she agreed to replace the old boxes only if all the tenants were willing to pay five dollars more a month, beginning in October when the leases are signed."

"You mean she would raise the rents?" Toni glanced toward the Toni glanced toward the house, lowered her voice. "What in time-why, that isn't fair. It will improve her property, won't it? Why should we pay more?"

"I've wondered lately about Mrs. Thane-" Toni studied the initials on her smart cigarette case, "It may be all my imagination." "You don't think-"

Offhand she'd say that even a couple of idiots had more sense than to bring a child into the world in its present distracted state. Toni murmured. She really hoped she was doing the Thanes an injustice. "With him likely to be called for training any day, you might say, they ought to know better."

"King says it's perfectly dreadful, the number of young couples who are having babies for no other reason than to have the man deferred. Not, of course, that the Thanes are like that-still this is certainly no time for them to be planning to have a family."

As Emma Waters had foreseen, neither the Thanes nor the Peppercorns would agree to an increase of five dollars a month in their The present refrigerators were quite satisfactory, they insisted, it was positively wasteful to think of replacing them. "Of course the rent should be increased, if we ask for new, expensive equipment, but we don't ask," old Mr.

Peppercorn argued. Andrew Thane was equally firm. "We can't possibly consider any increase in rent. Things are too un-

By the middle of June the garden was lush with white lilac and wine and white peonies and the close-clipped emerald lawn, Sarah Daffodil's pride, had triumphed over the city's dust and soot. The Thanes, who had taken their vacation at the time of their marriage and would have no time off for another year, turned to the fragrant, open space in fervent gratitude. An unreasonable blanket of heat had shut down early in the month and the beaches began to report record week-end crowds. One hot, sunny morning Candace Thane came to Sarah and announced that they had engaged a cleaning woman for a half-day each week. "I wanted you to know, for metal and you never know what | I'll have to leave the key with you.

One of the girls at the office recommended her to me-her name is Zither and she's perfectly trustworthy.' "Her name is what?" Sarah fanned herself with a palm leaf fan neatly bound with green tape. The girl's name was Zither, Candace repeated soberly. Against the grateful coolness of the gray linen slip cover that shrouded the couch, her small face looked too white.

"Has she a surname?" "It's Hops," Candace admitted, soft laughter running under her Sarah promised to let Zither into the apartment and the next week a young, light colored woman arrived comptly at Friday noon to clean the Thanes' apartment. "We could get along without anyone to clean." Candace, the budget envelopes spread out on the table in the breakfast nook, fingered two one-dollar bills covetously. Andy frowned. "Not in your con-They both laughed, because one of Candace's friends referred constantly to her "condition." Candace tucked two dollars into the envelope marked "Household Help."

Andy's curiously old hands counted out five one-dollar bills, slipped them in the envelope lettered "Baby Fund." His dark, thin face was earnest. "Say, we want to make sure he gets his birth certificate mailed to him when he's born. My father hasn't a birth certificate and he can't get a job in the defense plant where Fred means to apply for a job when he's finished his welding course." Fred was Andy's younger stepbrother.

"Why can't your father get a birth certificate?" Candace noted that Andy was preparing to count the contents of the baby fund envelope, so she went around the table to sit beside him on the bench. A great many older men were having a terrible time about their birth certificates, Andy explained, pulling his tiny wife comfortably nto his lap, against his shoulder His lips brushed her cheek, "Births were recorded haphazardly fiftyfive years ago. Hundreds were never sent in by doctors who did as they pleased about it. You see, darling, apparently the early Town Fathers didn't like statistics any better than you do, though let us hope they pronounced the word more successfully than you. Say statistics,' Dace.

Candace stuttered. "Sta-stat-statics." She laughed under his chin. 'But you needn't be so critical. Say 'gnarled,' Andy.''

He rolled the word like marbles under his tongue and admitted they were even. Quite suddenly his young, smiling face stilled to seriousness. He said, "The papers tonight seem to think that bill exempting men twenty-eight or over, will pass. I came home on the bus with Waters. He's all upset about

Candace stirred. "That would let Halsey Kenneth out, wouldn't

"Yes. Only the bill isn't passed yet. He'll be twenty-eight in September, but lots can happen before

"Andy, darling?"
"Uh-huh."

"How do you feel about war? If you should-have to-go?' Andy considered, his chin resting on her gold-streaked hair. "I guess I think of war as a dirty, difficult job that, when thrust upon us, has to be done," he said slowly. There's no honor or glory in it and mostly the fruits are bitterness and hate. Yet a man can't refuse to fight, as I see it, unless he is willing to give up all that other men will fight for in his stead." "Do you wish you were twenty-eight? I just wondered." "So that I'd be released automatically by the exemption clause? I don't know, Dace, I have a funny feeling . . . Even if the bill is passed—well, nothing seems permanent to me, any more."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Weeping Water

Eli Beck had what might have been an extremely serious accident, Wednesday when he got caught in getting along as well as may be ex-

Another casualty of corn harvesting was that of Gorden Heneger, who the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. too is getting along all right, al- tensen of Louisville. though he has to have it dressed each day.

second of three courses.

Wednesday, Mrs. Amick and Charles were guests of Mrs. Amick's sister, Mrs. George Schomaker.

he home of the S. L. Brandts.

Monday evening guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brandt were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Geltmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, of Otoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tuck.

Mrs. Sterling Amick and Mrs. Ed Steinkamp attended the American Legion convention at Plattsmouth, last week.

Mrs. J. M. Ranney spent Tuesday in Lincoln and while there she met Mrs. Goering, who, with her husband, were on a business trip to Nebraska, from their home in California. The Goerings will be remembered as the director and the matron at the Civilian Public Service camp, which closed here last spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jewell and wo children of McCook, arrived Thursday for a visit with Mr. Jewell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jewell, before Clifford leaves for the army the 21st of this month.

The Dorcas Society of the Christian church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Friesel, with Mrs. Jake Renner as assistant hostess, when the afternoon was spent with needle work, and officers were elected for the coming year, as follows:-President. Mrs. Jake Renner; Vice President, Mrs. Leroy Zessin; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. Henry Knaup. Their next meeting will be held at the parsonage and will be a Christmas and a birthday party combined.

Thursday evening was held the annual business meeting of the Congregational church. This was preceded by a covered dish dinner. Rev. John C. Pryor presided at the meeting, and during the evening gave a talk outlining his plans for future work in the church and the community. Election of officers resulted as follows: Trustees for three years, Victor Wallick and Richmond Hobson; for one year, Paul Fauquet; deacons, William Peters and Stephen J. Ambler; Junior Deacon, Eugene Day; Treas., Ray C. Wiles; clerk, Miss Esther Tefft; Assistant clerk, Mrs. Richmend Hobson; ushers, Victor Wallick and Kenneth Tefft; assistant ushers, George Sell, and David Olive. Reports from the Lincoln association meeting were given by Mrs. Ole Olsen and Mrs. C. E. Tefft.

Mrs. James Edgeman received word last week that her husband was to have a furlough, and she left immediately for his parents home in Arkansas to meet him.

Helping Hand society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Hunt, with eighteen present. Two of these, Mrs. Chris Rasmussen ond Mrs. Edna Spencer, were invited guests. Plans were made for their Christmas meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Norris.

Mrs. Edna Spencer of Moscow, Idaho, a niece of the late W. O. Ogden, is visiting friends here and at Avoca.

Charles Philpot, who has been employed on the Alcon Highway, and his wife, who has been employed at | Onawa, Iowa, visited at the home of Charles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Philpot, last week.

There will also be a football game in the afternoon, between Weeping Water and Nehawka, and a dance in the evening at the auditorium, when Ray Backman's orchestra will furnish the music. The dance is scheduled for 9 o'clock.

The new 16-foot signboard built at the Methodist corner which is to be used for the new honor roll for all service men from Weeping Watr and vicinity, is to be dedicated on Armistice Day, with services beginning at 11 o'clock A. M. at the Methodist Church corner. Mrs. J. I. Corley was called to the tumbling rod on his corn eleva- Taylor, Saturday of last week, by the tor. His clothes were torn from him, news that her brother, Frank Huband he was badly bruised, but no bard, had a slight stroke, with the bones broken. He is reported to be complication of pneumonia. Word came that he was improved when she arrived.

Sunday evening dinner guests at had three fingers badly mashed in Michelsen, were their son-in-law and his corn sheller a few days ago. He, daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christers.

Clover Leaf club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Cadet Charles Amick, son of Mr. home of Mrs. Thomas Colbert, with and Mrs. Sterling Amick, arrived at the subject of "Health" used for home last Monday for a few days instruction. This club served a dinvisit with his parents. Cadet Amick ner to the members of the family has completed the first course in of the late Mrs Lula Montes Mcmechanical engineering at Brigham Namee, on the day of her funeral, Young University, at Provo, Utah, at the home of Mrs. Colbert. Mrs. and will return there to take the Henry Rugha, a daughter of Mrs. To Visit Husband McNamee, is a member of the Clover Leaf club.

No Name club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rudolph Bergmn in Manley, Mr. and Mr. Dewey Boedeker of when there were two invited guests, Nehawka, were Sunday visitors at Mrs. John Henesh and Mrs. Ralph Welte of Louisville.

Greenwood Special Journal Correspondence

Mrs Beulah Lunsford spent Wednesday night in Ashland with Mrs. M. L. Golliher, while teaching Dora Leesley.

nie and Roger Lee, were Sunday vention. While here she visited her evening supper guests of Mr. and brother, W. W. Coatman and fam-Mrs. Joe Kyles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rouse were Sun- | Was Quit Sick day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson and family.

in Lincoln Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Coleman and

Lawrence were in Lincoln Monday Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Ross

Casey and family. Mrs. Ray Wiedman of Cambridge spent several days with Mr. and was a business visitor in Elmwood

Mrs. Lyman Marvin. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slater, Mrs. Lula Clymer of Lincoln, were call- Club Resumes Action ing on friends in town Wednesday in Lincoln Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Fulmer and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Fulmer were BACK THE ATTACK WITH BONDS has fallen this fall. Sunday dinner and luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. DeAlton Fulmer. Miss Dorothy Maher spent Wednesday afternoon and evening in Mrs. G. Vant and Dorothy were in Lincoln Monday.

Mrs. Merril Stewart, Mrs. Virgil Elrod and Sharon and Anna Linsley were Tuesday afternoon callers of Mrs. D. E. Buckingham, Mrs. Rose Franks, Mrs. Bert Johnson, Mrs. Louis Jeffrey and Curtis Gustafson were in Lincoln Saturday.

Mrs. Vivian Cope entertained the Deal-a-Deck club at her home Thursday afternoon.

Miss Shirley Buckingham of Ashland spent Sunday evening and Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Buckingham.

Mrs. Glen Johnson, who is ill at her home, is no better.

In Memoriam

AS simple and dignified as you wish . . . careful attention to all details and a sincere appreciation of considerate thoughtfulness in the hour of bereavement. These qualities make our services preferred.

> Floral Orders Cared For

CALDWELL MORTUARY PLATTSMOUTH

Emmunicani

mwood

By Journal Field Representative

J. E. Smith of Lincoln was home for a few days last week, bringing his wife back from Lincoln where she has been visiting.

Miss Dorothy Smith, who has been working at Lincoln for some time, was at Syracuse visiting and looking after some business before returning to work.

Mr. and Mrs. David Enterline and son were in Lincoln last Tuesday to look after some business mat-

Still in Army "Shorty" West, who was sent home from North Africa because of his health is still in the armed forces. He was sent first to Fort brother, Axel Zaar, Thursday even-Leavenworth and later to Camp Wolling. ters, Texas, where he is still awaiting action on his case.

Mrs. Orville Johnson, who has been at Elmwood during the time her husband has been in naval training at Farragut, Idaho, has departed for the training center to be nearer her husband, he being unable to get a leave home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Green were under a doctors care. at Lincoln to look after some matters of business and while absent the store was in charge of Mr. and home. Mrs. Harry Green.

Miss Gladys Coatman, who has been making her home at Grand Island, at the home of her sister, Mrs. school was here the past week. She Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kinney, Ron- has been attending the teachers con-

W. W. Coatman, salesman at the Mr. Charley Martin, ran a nail Elmwood-hardware store, was taken in his foot Monday noon and was very seriously ill and kept him taken to Bryan Memorial hospital home several days. He resumed his work last Monday.

Emmett Cook has been having his rental property improved by the re-Mrs. Glen Grant of Lincoln spent pair of the heating plant, he having > Charles H. Gonzales of near Eagle, the past few days.

With the coming of the fall season | nicely in this vicinity, having had the M.I.B.C., bridge club of Elmwood Mrs. Merril Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. has revived and had their first meet-Fred Dickmann and Richard were ing the past week at the Harry Lin-offered at prices advertised for "A" Grade.

Don't forget Lugsch Cleaner's Wednesday Special. Men's suits and top coats and spring coats-Plain dresses and mannish suits, cleaned and pressed for $1.00. Hats cleaned and blocked 50c. Cash and carry.

South Bend Special Journal Correspondence

Mrs. F. J. Knecht entertained the card club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Prize winners were Laura Vargas and Mrs. Chas. Fosberg. A delicious lunch was served by the

Mrs. Bernard Dill entertained a group of children at a Halloween party on Sunday. Halloween games were enjoyed by the youngsters.

Mrs, Emma Calder called on her

Pvt. Wayne Thiessen is spending his furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thiessen.

Harry Long drove to Lincoln on Monday. He called on the Walter Towle family and found Mr. Towle feeling quite well, and able to be up part of the time.

W. J. 'OBrien has returned from a business trip to Kansas. Mrs. Ed Rau has been ill and

Mrs. Geo. Vogel and Loran spent Saturday evening at the Wm. Blum

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Livers and daughter and Mrs. Jennie Livers were Thursday evening callers at the V. D. Livers home.

James Carson and Paul Reinke were Sunday afternoon visitors at the Wm. Blum home.

Sunday dinner guests at the Ed Rau home were Miss Jessie Erickson and Miss Gilmore of Omaha.

Paul Reinke, Jr., entertained a group of young folks at a party Sunday evening.

Hugh Vargas is employed as a truck driver near Gretna. The War Fund drive is nearly completed. Only $9.50 needed to reach the goal of $250.00 for the contacted, leave your money with Mrs. Lottie Knecht, the precinct chairman. Mrs. V. D. Livers and Mrs. Wm. Blum drove to Plattsmouth Friday

South Bend precinct. Anyone wishing to contribute who has not been

Corn shucking is progressing

ideal weather for shucking. Another rain fell Saturay making the third Saturday it has rained. Wheat sown early has needed the moisture as very little moisture

BUY QUALITY MEATS

AT HINKY-DINKY

STEAKS SPARE RIBS Meaty Lb. 21°

SMOKED PORK KNUCKLES 18 19° BACON SQUARES STYLE Pound 18° HAMBURGER FOR LOAF OR PATTIES Pound 23'

In the event any of our markets cannot supply "A" grade beef, "AA" grade will be

APPLES NOME BEAUTIES OR JONATHANS, FULL BUSHEL $3.98, _____ Pound 10 CRANBERRIES MASSACHUSETTS FANCY, LARGE RED _____ Pound 29 POTATOES IDAHO RUSSETS 10 Pounds 43 RUTABAGAS FANCY CROP Pound CARROTS CALIFORNIA LARGE 9° GERBER'S STRAINED OR 41/2-02. 7 BEANS OR WAX, 8 Points No.2 14°
FELS NAPTHA SOAP CHIPS PKG. 22°

PROTEX TOILET 4 REG. 19

Prices in this ad effective November & thru November 10 subject only to market changes in fresh fruits and vegetables. We reserve the right to limit quantities. No sales to dealers.